Roy F. Denniston Named Chairman of Supervisors

Has Served Since '35 on Board; Fowler Named to Office, Marlborough

Roy F. Denniston of New Hurley, town of Gardiner, was unanimously elected chairman of Board of Supervisors at an organization meeting Wednesday afternoon. Denniston has served the town of Gardiner as supervisor since 1935 when he was appointed to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Luther Dusinberre who had served the board from 1922 until 1934. Chairman Denniston operates a large dairy farm. He succeeds Cluett Schantz in the chair.

Fred Fowler, former town clerk of the town of Marlborough, has been named supervisor of the town to succeed Schantz now sheriff, who resigned as supervisor to assume his new office January 1. Fowler operates a large grocery business in Marlborough village.

Election of Denniston as chairman came after the meeting had been called to order by Clerk Robert A. Snyder and Kenneth Wilson of Woodstock had been nominated and elected temporary chairman. Supervisors Cameron and Gaffney were named a committee to escort Temporary Chairman Wilson to the chair.

Denniston was nominated, as was Wilson, by Supervisor Elliott, of New Paltz. There were several who seconded the nomination, including Supervisor Ralph Williams of the sixth ward, minority leader, who said he felt the board had a wise choice but asked that in making up committees the minority party be represented. On accepting the office, Chairman Denniston promised to take the Williams suggestion into consideration. Supervisors R. Williams and Reginald Every were named a committee to escort Denniston to the chair.

Bevan Is Named For Anglo Drive

Former Health Minister to Be in Charge of Rearmament

London, Jan. 18 (AP) — Britain today named the leader of Parliament's powerful leftwing faction, former Welsh coal miner Aneurin Bevan, to spark much of her rearmament drive.

The 53-year-old former health minister was named to the key post of Labor minister in a reshuffle of the cabinet announced early today.

As one of the top ministers in charge of the projected $10,000,000,000 arms program, Bevan will control many phases of production, as well as the supply of manpower to expanding arms factories. He is due to receive new and far wider powers than the post now commands.

To supply the manpower, Bevan probably will have to call on the government's powers to direct labor. The invoking of these is certain to bring a howl from the labor unions. One of Bevan's jobs will be to keep the unions in line.

Member of Cabinet

Bevan has been a member of the Labor government cabinet since it took office in 1945. As health minister, he has been in charge of the nation's cradle-to-grave national health plan and the rehousing drive.

The veteran Laborite is a bitter political foe of Conservative leader Winston Churchill, whom he frequently taunts on the floor of the House of Commons. Like Churchill, he is recognized as one of the ablest speakers in British public life.

As Labor minister, Bevan succeeds 68-year-old George Isaacs, who steps down to pensions minister. The new health minister is Hilary Marquand, 49, who held the pensions post.

Prime Minister Attlee has decided to change the housing program from the health ministry to the ministry of town and country planning and to drop the health post from the cabinet.

Newspapers forecast the cabinet reshuffle is a forerunner of more extensive governmental changes later in the year. These, they said, may involve ailing Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, War Minister John Strachey and Field Marshal Sir William Slim, chief of the imperial general staff.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—The position of the Treasury Jan. 16: Net budget receipts $180,752,954.31; budget expenditures $172,660,081.09; cash balance $2,944,775,858.32; customs receipts for month $29,952,374.73; budget receipts for year (July 1) $20,074,161,043.49; budget expenditures for fiscal year $20,989,694,008.18; budget deficit $915,522,964.69; total debt $256,005,728,632.02; decrease under previous day $5,733,118.50; gold assets $22,495,204,778.06.

Best Guess Is Controls Week Away

President Proposes U. S. Follow Voluntary Manpower Policy for Time Being

Wilson Says 'No'

Mobilization Boss Says Law Must Be Used to Get Workers

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—The government's decision to go ahead speedily with nationwide price and wage controls brought applause from senators today and sent officials into a whirl of last minute mobilization.

In the absence of any official word on exact timing, the best guess seemed to be that a general price freeze, probably rolling back present high levels somewhat, would come perhaps within a week—almost certainly not much longer.

This was just one development in a marked speed-up in defense mobilization.

President Truman laid down late yesterday a national manpower policy calling for voluntary measures now. But he cautioned that sweeping controls will be sought if necessary. The idea is to see that defense industries and other essential undertakings get the men they need.

Then, too, the Defense Department sent Congress a drastic new military manpower program. It also outlined an $87,000,000,000 program to buy the arms needed now and expand production facilities.

Wilson Is Opposed

On the question of price-wage controls, Defense Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson laid it on the line in a Philadelphia speech last night:

"Voluntary methods will not work....The power of the law must be invoked....whatever the causes for delay up to now, we

Wilson Pledges Aid To Small Business

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson today pledged "every effort" to see that small business gets a fair share of defense contracts and survives the coming squeeze on civilian materials.

He gave that pledge in testimony prepared for the Senate's Small Business Committee. Some senators have voiced the fear that small manufacturers may be put out of business by production controls unless they obtain defense work.

Wilson, in his first appearance on Capitol Hill since becoming head of the Office of Defense Mobilization, conceded there will "unfortunately" be a time lag in some cases between the curtailment of civilian output and the conversion of plants to defense production.

Air Force to Call 150,000 Reserves

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP) — The air force announced today it is immediately calling up "a major portion" of the air reserve and the national guard and large numbers of volunteer air reservists.

The call involves about 150,000 men and is designed to increase air force manpower to 971,000 as soon as possible.

The air force said it will call at least 12 additional national guard wings, 21 air reserve training wings, most of the ground supporting units and a volunteer reserve personnel.

The air force has already ordered into service 10 national guard wings, a guard tactical control group, four reserve wings, and 50,000 individual officers and enlisted reservists.

H.S.T. Would Like Affirmation on Troops for Europe

However, President Says He Has No Doubt of Authority to Act

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—President Truman said today he welcomes a Democratic party move in the Senate to voice approval of the use of American troops in Europe.

The President reiterated at his news conference that he has no question about his authority to send troops anywhere with or without congressional consent.

But, he said under questioning, he would like an affirmative expression of support from Congress.

Works on Resolution

A reporter told Mr. Truman that the Democratic majority in the Senate is working on a resolution expressing approval of the use of American troops as part of General Dwight D. Eisenhower's command for the defense of western democracies.

The President indicated he did not know about the move but he said he would like an affirmative expression of approval.

Mr. Truman added he will do whatever is necessary in the developing world situation.

Followed Wherry Move

The Democratic move got underway after Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican leader, offered a resolution opposing the dispatch of troops to Europe without congressional sanction.

A number of Republicans, including Senator Taft of Ohio, have contended that the President cannot send such troops on his own authority.

Resolution Is Prepared

Delegates Ask Support to Brand China as Aggressor; Enthusiasm Lacking

Lake Success, Jan. 18 (AP)—The United States plans to seek an indictment of Red Chinese aggression at an emergency meeting of of United Nations political committee today, called to consider Peiping's rejection of its latest Korea peace bid.

On orders from Secretary of State Dean Acheson, the American delegation prepared to introduce a resolution which would condemn Communist China as an aggressor and ask the U.N. collective measures committee to decide what to do next. The U. S. has previously said it thinks that 14-nation group should recommend a complete economic and diplomatic break with the Peiping regime.

The U. S. began lining up support for its resolution yesterday, but response in many quarters appeared to be less than enthusiastic.

An American spokesman said this country hoped for wide cosponsorship of the resolution, including some Asian countries, but indicated the necessary preliminaries might delay introduction until tomorrow.

An independent survey of Asian opinion showed only the Philippines, Thailand (Siam) and Turkey in substantial agreement with the U. S. position.

India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru said in Paris yesterday that such action would "bolt and bar the door" to a peaceful solution of Far Eastern problems. His representative here is expected to argue that Peiping's reply did not completely close the door, as the U. S. maintains it did, and further efforts should be made.

The U.N. proposal offered the Chinese Reds a political conference to settle the future of Formosa and whether the Nationalists or Communists should have China's seat in the U.N. It demanded a cease fire in Korea first.

Peiping countered with a rejection of the cease fire plan, and called for a seven-power conference in China to solve Far Eastern problems coincident with withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea. It also insisted on U.N. membership before the conference.

Proposal Is Denounced

Acheson immediately denounced Peiping's proposals as completely unacceptable to the U. S. He said he thought the U.N. generally would agree with his position.

The Scandinavian countries—Norway, Sweden and Denmark—were understood to be urging a slow cautious approach to the problem. This also is the view of some other countries who are afraid the U. S. may commit the greater part of its armed forces to the Far East and strip Europe of defenses.

Dr. Roberto Urdaneta Arbalaez of Colombia, chairman of the 60-Nation Political Committee, told newsmen that he considered the Red Chinese as much aggressors as the North Koreans. The U.N. he said, cannot afford to treat them differently.

Collapse Feared

This is substantially the U. S. view. The Americans fear a collapse of the collective security principle if aggression is allowed to go unpunished, even in an area of the world where most U.N. members have few direct interests.

British Delegate Sir Gladwyn Jebb said last week that the U.N. plan was Red China's last chance.

Communists Mass In Rome Protest Against General

Demonstration Is Biggest Since Eisenhower Has Been in Europe on Defense Mission

Rome, Jan. 18 (AP)—Rome Communists massed today in the biggest anti-Eisenhower demonstration since General "Ike" returned to Europe. Eight thousand or more jammed one of Rome's ancient hilltops between the Colosseum and the Basilica of Santa Maria Maggiore, blocking street cars, chanting Red anthems and shouting "pace, pace." (Peace, peace).

The demonstration came near the end of a day during which the general met with Italian government chieftains for a fillin on this country's arms potential for the Atlantic defense pact army. Communist demonstrations protesting his arrival last night caused one death and injuries to nearly 100 throughout Italy.

Handbills were distributed by the Communists today saying Eisenhower has come "to make Italy a new Korea" and "go home, Eisenhower, and let Italy live in peace."

Streets were jammed for blocks by the demonstration, called by the Communist-bossed Italian Federation of Labor. On orders from Prime Minister Alcide de Gasperi's "Atlantic pact" government, the riot police had prevented any other gatherings in Rome since Eisenhower arrived.

Disperse Quietly

But the labor rally was permitted. In every street around it, however, standing at alert, were thousands of red-jeep riot police and carabinieri in helmets and full combat kit.

The rally lasted an hour and a half. Then without disorder, the crowd began to disperse. Speakers had told them "go home quietly."

While the demonstration was on, General Eisenhower was sitting quietly in his hotel room a mile away, working on preliminary notes and reports of his morning talks with Italy's leaders.

As the supreme commander of the projected Atlantic Pact Defense Army swept hurriedly from palace to palace for preliminary meetings, Rome looked like a city under martial law. Police and carabinieri cleared traffic from streets through which he passed. There were no disorders reported in the capital itself.

Closed Conferences

The general first met with Premier Alcide De Gasperi. From there, escorted by riot police in red jeeps, he dashed to conferences with Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza, Defense Minister Randolfo Pacciardi and Finance Minister Ezio Vanoni. All conferences were closed and no announcements were made after they were finished.

Truman Skips Tax on Sales As Fund Tap

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—President Truman side-stepped today the question of whether he will seek a national sales tax in his effort to put the country on a "pay-as-we-go" basis.

Questioned at a news conference as to whether such a tax is being considered as a new source of funds, the President said he could not answer—that he is having his tax experts work on revenue-raising proposals.

He said he hoped to submit their recommendations in advance of the start of the House Ways and Means Committee tax hearings. These are to begin early in February.

Excise Expansion

Earlier today a highly placed member of the House told newsmen he expects a broad expansion of excise taxes—and perhaps a boost in the liquor tax from $9 a gallon to $12.

Whiskey and tobacco now are the largest excise revenue sources. This member, who asked that he not be quoted by name, said the excise list, now including many so-

Korean Casualties Total 45,137

United States Losses Are Combat Figures; 6,509 Killed

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—Total announced U. S. combat casualties in Korea rose to 45,137 today.

The total, disclosed by the Department of Defense, was based on notifications to next of kin through Jan. 12. It was 2,424 more than the figure for the previous week.

The department listed 6,509 killed, 29,951 wounded and 8,677 missing in action.

The wounded total includes 772 who have since died of wounds. Total deaths reached 7,303, including deaths from wounds and 22 known dead among the missing in action.

The missing figure also includes 822 men who have since returned to American control and 108 known prisoners of war.

Total army casualties reached 36,956, including 5,208 killed, 23,544 wounded and 8,204 missing.

Cumulative navy casualties reached 496, and 58 killed, 372 wounded and 68 missing.

U.N. Patrol Eludes Sino Maneuvers

'All Hell Might Break' Is Way Commanders See Situation; Forces Are Prepared

Resistance Is Met

Raiders Enter and Leave Kumyangjan 25 Miles From Seoul

Tokyo, Jan. 18 (AP)—Tank-led allied troops battled two companies of Chinese Reds tonight in a brief but fierce local clash on the Korean western front.

The U.N. patrol, under air cover, then smashed out of a threatened enemy envelopment.

Allied commanders expected a general Communist offensive may come at any time.

"All hell might break loose soon," an officer said.

A U.N. raider patrol, one of several exploring the strength of enemy troops massed all along the battlefront, jabbed in and out of Kumyangjan, 25 miles southeast of Seoul.

The commander of the Allied motorized patrol said he met strong resistance in Kumyangjang and called for air support when it appeared his troops were being flanked.

Units Withdraw

But after 90 minutes of tough fighting he said both his patrol units had safely withdrawn from the battered town, Associated Press Correspondent Jim Becker reported.

The fight started at 4 p. m. Thursday (2 a. m. EST), Becker said, and when the U.N. units disengaged they had taken one prisoner.

Wonju Is Probed

A patrol probed into the no-man's land highway center of Wonju Wednesday and then withdrew safely Thursday afternoon after spending the night in the ruined town. Eighteen prisoners were brought back from villages in the Wonju area.

Capt. Forrest Walker, of Kansas City, Kans., a husky Negro patrol officer, said Korean civilians reported Communists approached the northern edge of Wonju Wednesday night but did not enter.

A.P. Correspondent William C. Barnard reported another U.N. patrol surprised 50 Reds Thursday in a village 15 miles southeast of Wonju.

One Prisoner Taken

Barnard's sharply censored dispatch (12 of the first 15 lines were deleted) reported one prisoner taken. The prisoner said he was from the 31st Division of the First North Korean Army Corps. This was the first identified appearance of that division on the central front.

In a house-to-house fire fight nine Communists were killed and 10 wounded in the village with no allied losses. Patrol members said about 150 Reds passed west of the village during the skirmish, but did not risk intervening.

Quiet Prevails, Ominously

An ominous quiet prevailed in most sectors but there was abundant evidence of heavy Red troop concentrations.

Communist forces massed in the west, below Seoul, were expected to strike down the Seoul-Taejon highway when the Reds have succeeded in assembling ammunition and supplies for a sustained push.

A pre-offensive buildup of enemy troops became evident Wednesday night when U. S. Fifth Air Force B-26 bombers sighted six Red troop trains and attacked five. Pilots claimed one was destroyed and four others damaged.

Convoys Spotted

Highway convoys totaling more than 400 Red vehicles likewise were spotted and attacked on roads leading to central and western fronts.

Red China yesterday rejected the latest U.N. cease-fire proposal.

Lewis, Soft Coal Owners Approach Pay Agreement

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—John L. Lewis and a major portion of the soft coal industry will sign a voluntary agreement today calling for a $1.60 daily increase for coal diggers, union and industry sources reported.

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—John L. Lewis and a sizeable part of the soft coal industry were reported near an agreement today on a $1.60-a-day pay boost for miners.

Some operators said a decision was possible "within hours" but they added that the apparent accord might blow up just as quickly.

It was generally felt that bargaining was being pushed by both sides in order to get pay raises and a possible 50-cent a ton price increase on coal in effect before the government applies wage and price controls.

The contract between the industry and Lewis' United Mine Workers may be opened after April 1, but both sides agreed they couldn't wait for that if they wanted to beat the prospective freeze on prices and wages.

Industry spokesmen said they hoped to avoid labor troubles this year, and getting together on something now would help to smooth relations between Lewis and the mine owners in the uncertain months ahead.

Lewis was to meet Harry M.

Hershey Requests Extension Of Draft Law Indefinitely

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey today asked Congress for an indefinite extension of the draft law with authority to induct men from 18 through 25 years.

"This is not an emergency shot in the arm," he told the Senate Armed Services Preparedness Subcommittee.

Hershey, who has operated the Selective Service system for 10 years, gave full support to the broad Universal Military Service and Training bill sent to Congress late yesterday by Secretary of Defense Marshall.

"It is the best act we can hope for at the present time," he told Chairman Lyndon Johnson (D.-Tex.) of the Senate group.

Hershey said military manpower plans must be "based on the assumption that the nation will be in a critical period for an indefinite length of time, and that all-out war will be a possibility for at least the immediate future."

In addition to supporting the plan for lowering the present minimum induction age from 19 to 18, Hershey also backed the request to lengthen service by draftees from 21 to 27 months. Even that may not be long enough, he said.

To meet expanding military manpower needs, Hershey said men from 18 through 25 who are unmarried, do not have World War 2 service and are not fathers should be called.

If this fails to fill needs, he said the following should be drafted in this order:

First, non-fathers, non-veterans, 18-25 inclusive.

Second, non-fathers, veterans

(Peace, peace).

The demonstration came near the end of a day during which the general met with Italian government chieftains for a fillin on this country's arms potential for the Atlantic defense pact army. Communist demonstrations protesting his arrival last night caused one death and injuries to nearly 100 throughout Italy.

Handbills were distributed by the Communists today saying Eisenhower has come "to make Italy a new Korea" and "go home, Eisenhower, and let Italy live in peace."

Streets were jammed for blocks by the demonstration, called by the Communist-bossed Italian Federation of Labor. On orders from Prime Minister Alcide de Gasperi's "Atlantic pact" government, the riot police had prevented any other gatherings in Rome since Eisenhower arrived.

Disperse Quietly

But the labor rally was permitted. In every street around it, however, standing at alert, were thousands of red-jeep riot police and carabinieri in helmets and full combat kit.

The rally lasted an hour and a half. Then without disorder, the crowd began to disperse. Speakers had told them "go home quietly."

While the demonstration was on, General Eisenhower was sitting quietly in his hotel room a mile away, working on preliminary notes and reports of his morning talks with Italy's leaders.

As the supreme commander of the projected Atlantic Pact Defense Army swept hurriedly from palace to palace for preliminary meetings, Rome looked like a city under martial law. Police and carabinieri cleared traffic from streets through which he passed. There were no disorders reported in the capital itself.

Closed Conferences

The general first met with Premier Alcide De Gasperi. From there, escorted by riot police in red jeeps, he dashed to conferences with Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza, Defense Minister Randolfo Pacciardi and Finance Minister Ezio Vanoni. All conferences were closed and no announcements were made after they were finished.

Delegates Ask Support to Brand China as Aggressor; Enthusiasm Lacking

Lake Success, Jan. 18 (AP)—The United States plans to seek an indictment of Red Chinese aggression at an emergency meeting of of United Nations political committee today, called to consider Peiping's rejection of its latest Korea peace bid.

On orders from Secretary of State Dean Acheson, the American delegation prepared to introduce a resolution which would condemn Communist China as an aggressor and ask the U.N. collective measures committee to decide what to do next. The U. S. has previously said it thinks that 14-nation group should recommend a complete economic and diplomatic break with the Peiping regime.

The U. S. began lining up support for its resolution yesterday, but response in many quarters appeared to be less than enthusiastic.

An American spokesman said this country hoped for wide cosponsorship of the resolution, including some Asian countries, but indicated the necessary preliminaries might delay introduction until tomorrow.

An independent survey of Asian opinion showed only the Philippines, Thailand (Siam) and Turkey in substantial agreement with the U. S. position.

India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru said in Paris yesterday that such action would "bolt and bar the door" to a peaceful solution of Far Eastern problems.

His representative here is expected to argue that Peiping's reply did not completely close the door, as the U. S. maintains it did, and further efforts should be made.

The U.N. proposal offered the Chinese Reds a political conference to settle the future of Formosa and whether the Nationalists or Communists should have China's seat in the U.N. It demanded a cease fire in Korea first.

Peiping countered with a rejection of the cease fire plan, and called for a seven-power conference in China to solve Far Eastern problems coincident with withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea. It also insisted on U.N. membership before the conference.

Proposal Is Denounced

Acheson immediately denounced Peiping's proposals as completely unacceptable to the U. S. He said he thought the U.N. generally would agree with his position.

The Scandinavian countries—Norway, Sweden and Denmark—were understood to be urging a slow cautious approach to the problem. This also is the view of some other countries who are afraid the U. S. may commit the greater part of its armed forces to the Far East and strip Europe of defenses.

Dr. Roberto Urdaneta Arbalaez of Colombia, chairman of the 60-Nation Political Committee, told newsmen that he considered the Red Chinese as much aggressors as the North Koreans. The U.N. he said, cannot afford to treat them differently.

Collapse Feared

This is substantially the U. S. view. The Americans fear a collapse of the collective security principle if aggression is allowed to go unpunished, even in an area of the world where most U.N. members have few direct interests.

British Delegate Sir Gladwyn Jebb said last week that the U.N. plan was Red China's last chance.

TrumanSkips Tax on Sales As Fund Tap

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—President Truman side-stepped today the question of whether he will seek a national sales tax in his effort to put the country on a "pay-as-we-go" basis.

Questioned at a news conference as to whether such a tax is being considered as a new source of funds, the President said he could not answer—that he is having his tax experts work on revenue-raising proposals.

He said he hoped to submit their recommendations in advance of the start of the House Ways and Means Committee tax hearings. These are to begin early in February.

Excise Expansion

Earlier today a highly placed member of the House told newsmen he expects a broad expansion of excise taxes—and perhaps a boost in the liquor tax from $9 a gallon to $12.

Whiskey and tobacco now are the largest excise revenue sources. This member, who asked that he not be quoted by name, said the excise list, now including many so-

Korean Casualties Total 45,137

United States Losses Are Combat Figures; 6,509 Killed

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—Total announced U. S. combat casualties in Korea rose to 45,137 today.

The total, disclosed by the Department of Defense, was based on notifications to next of kin through Jan. 12. It was 2,424 more than the figure for the previous week.

The department listed 6,509 killed, 29,951 wounded and 8,677 missing in action.

The wounded total includes 772 who have since died of wounds. Total deaths reached 7,303, including deaths from wounds and 22 known dead among the missing in action.

The missing figure also includes 822 men who have since returned to American control and 108 known prisoners of war.

Total army casualties reached 36,956, including 5,208 killed, 23,544 wounded and 8,204 missing.

Cumulative navy casualties reached 496, and 36 killed, 372 wounded and 68 missing.

U.N. Patrol Eludes Sino Maneuvers

'All Hell Might Break' Is Way Commanders See Situation; Forces Are Prepared

Raiders Enter and Leave Kumyangjan 25 Miles From Seoul

Tokyo, Jan. 18 (AP)—Tank-led allied troops battled two companies of Chinese Reds tonight in a brief but fierce local clash on the Korean western front.

The U.N. patrol, under air cover, then smashed out of a threatened enemy envelopment.

Allied commanders expected a general Communist offensive may come at any time.

"All hell might break loose soon," an officer said.

A U.N. raider patrol, one of several exploring the strength of enemy troops massed all along the battlefront, jabbed in and out of Kumyangjan, 25 miles southeast of Seoul.

The commander of the Allied motorized patrol said he met strong resistance in Kumyangjang and called for air support when it appeared his troops were being flanked.

Units Withdraw

But after 90 minutes of tough fighting he said both his patrol units had safely withdrawn from the battered town, Associated Press Correspondent Jim Becker reported.

The fight started at 4 p. m. Thursday (2 a. m. EST), Becker said, and when the U.N. units disengaged they had taken one prisoner.

Wonju Is Probed

A patrol probed into the no-man's land highway center of Wonju Wednesday and then withdrew safely Thursday afternoon after spending the night in the ruined town. Eighteen prisoners were brought back from villages in the Wonju area.

Capt. Forrest Walker, of Kansas City, Kans., a husky Negro patrol officer, said Korean civilians reported Communists approached the northern edge of Wonju Wednesday night but did not enter.

A.P. Correspondent William C. Barnard reported another U.N. patrol surprised 50 Reds Thursday in a village 15 miles southeast of Wonju.

One Prisoner Taken

Barnard's sharply censored dispatch (12 of the first 15 lines were deleted) reported one prisoner taken. The prisoner said he was from the 31st Division of the First North Korean Army Corps. This was the first identified appearance of that division on the central front.

In a house-to-house fire fight nine Communists were killed and 10 wounded in the village with no allied losses. Patrol members said about 150 Reds passed west of the village during the skirmish, but did not risk intervening.

Quiet Prevails, Ominously

An ominous quiet prevailed in most sectors but there was abundant evidence of heavy Red troop concentrations.

Communist forces massed in the west, below Seoul, were expected to strike down the Seoul-Taejon highway when the Reds have succeeded in assembling ammunition and supplies for a sustained push.

A pre-offensive buildup of enemy troops became evident Wednesday night when U. S. Fifth Air Force B-26 bombers sighted six Red troop trains and attacked five. Pilots claimed one was destroyed and four others damaged.

Convoys Spotted

Highway convoys totaling more than 400 Red vehicles likewise were spotted and attacked on roads leading to central and western fronts.

Red China yesterday rejected the latest U.N. cease-fire proposal.

School Bus Tragedy

Lewis, Soft Coal Owners Approach Pay Agreement

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—John L. Lewis and a major portion of the soft coal industry will sign a voluntary agreement today calling for a $1.60 daily increase for coal diggers, union and industry sources reported.

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—John L. Lewis and a sizeable part of the soft coal industry were reported near an agreement today on a $1.60-a-day pay boost for miners.

Some operators said a decision was possible "within hours" but they added that the apparent accord might blow up just as quickly.

It was generally felt that bargaining was being pushed by both sides in order to get pay raises and a possible 50-cent a ton price increase on coal in effect before the government applies wage and price controls.

The contract between the industry and Lewis' United Mine Workers may be opened after April 1, but both sides agreed they couldn't wait for that if they wanted to beat the prospective freeze on prices and wages.

Industry spokesmen said they hoped to avoid labor troubles this year, and getting together on something now would help to smooth relations between Lewis and the mine owners in the uncertain months ahead.

Lewis was to meet Harry M.

Hershey Requests Extension Of Draft Law Indefinitely

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey today asked Congress for an indefinite extension of the draft law with authority to induct men from 18 through 25 years.

"This is not an emergency shot in the arm," he told the Senate Armed Services Preparedness Subcommittee.

Hershey, who has operated the Selective Service system for 10 years, gave full support to the broad Universal Military Service and Training bill sent to Congress late yesterday by Secretary of Defense Marshall.

"It is the best act we can hope for at the present time," he told Chairman Lyndon Johnson (D.-Tex.) of the Senate group.

Hershey said military manpower plans must be "based on the assumption that the nation will be in a critical period for an indefinite length of time, and that all-out war will be a possibility for at least the immediate future."

In addition to supporting the plan for lowering the present minimum induction age from 19 to 18, Hershey also backed the request to lengthen service by draftees from 21 to 27 months. Even that may not be long enough, he said.

To meet expanding military manpower needs, Hershey said men from 18 through 25 who are unmarried, do not have World War 2 service and are not fathers should be called.

If this fails to fill needs, he said the following should be drafted in this order:

First, non-fathers, non-veterans, 18-25 inclusive.

Directors Named By Uptown Loan

At the annual meeting of the shareholders of The Savings and Loan Association of Kingston held last Friday evening at the association offices at 267 Wall street E. Frank Flanagan, Samuel D. Scudder, Jr., and Edward M. Huben were re-elected directors for a three-year term. The organization meeting of the directors for election of officers will be held February 8.

The past year has been the most successful in the history of the association and the reserves and undivided profits were increased to an all-time high of $616,216.05, an increase of $83,000. The mortgage portfolio of the association was increased by over $1,000,000. The assets of the association as of December 31, 1950 were $7,908,170.91 compared to a year ago when assets were $6,910,548.71.

Increase in Loans

During 1949 there were 439 loans made for a total of $1,658,161.70 and in 1950 there were 485 loans made for a total of $2,269,966.43, an increase of $611,804.73 over the previous year. In 1950 money was loaned on 337 new mortgages and 148 additional loans for repairs and improvements and other purposes were made. The average loan in 1950 was $4,680.34, an increase over the average for 1949 when the average was $3,777.13. In 1950 65 construction loans were made, 18 more than the previous year. In 1950 178 loans were paid off. A total of 1,112 new accounts were opened and 590 accounts closed, a considerably larger volume of business than the prior year when 844 new accounts were opened.

In his annual report to the shareholders E. Frank Flanagan, president of the association, gave a detailed report of the year's record business.

Since the association opened its new building on September 30, 1939 assets have been increased from $1,348,190.44 to the present all time high of $7,908,170.91.

Remodelling Front Office

During the past year the association began a construction program which will be concluded about April first when the new addition will be ready for use. A new addition to take care of the increasing business is now under construction and practically completed. The front offices are now being remodeled and business as usual is being conducted in a portion of the new addition with entrance at the side of the building. During reconstruction of the front offices temporary facilities have been provided, and although there is some inconvenience to employes and the public by reason of use of the rear entrance, Mr. Flanagan stated, when the construction is completed the association will be in better condition to handle the increased business.

During 1950 the total number of savings accounts has been increased to 4,621, about 500 more than in 1949. Dividends paid in 1950 totaled $168,899.79, an increase of over $16,000 over 1949.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Brown of Modena spent Sunday with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Markle.

Mrs. Fred Ohleger entertained several neighbors at her home Wednesday night.

R. R. Bennett, district superintendent of schools, visited the local school Friday morning.

The General Gets Around

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U.S. Eighth Army commander, alights from a plane at a South Korean airfield Jan. 14. An unidentified officer holds the general's pistol belt on which a grenade is hung, GI style. (AP Wirephoto).

Seeks Hyderabad Funds

New Delhi (AP)—The government of India is considering measures to recover $4,600,000 left in the Pakistan branch of the Hyderabad Bank at the time of the Indian police action in September, 1948. Acting States Minister N. G. Ayyangar told questioners in Parliament that the money was withdrawn by the then agent-general of Hyderabad in Karachi. The Pakistan government when approached by the government of India replied that it did not recognize India's status in Hyderabad.

Malaya Orders Shotguns

Kuala Lumpur (AP)—Malaya has placed orders in Britain for large numbers of shot guns to be used by its "conscripts" in the war against Communist terrorism. The government has announced a decision to call up civilian manpower to reinforce police and military squads in battling the bandits. But drafting of young men would be carried out as and when required.

Higher Prices—Higher Taxes

Economic laws are relentless in their pressures on people. They invade every home, every marketplace. Their subtle nature often conceals their true character with the result that they become wolves in sheeps' clothing.

Just now, for example, the impact of a war economy will vitally affect the living standards of millions of persons. Prices are going to rise; and taxes will be considerably higher. Directly or indirectly, prices and taxes hit everybody.

And so, especially with the great middle class, the present military crisis is sure to influence greatly the financial fortunes of many. Higher prices will tack on several hundred dollars yearly to the expense of thousands of families and stiffer taxes will take away hundreds and even thousands of dollars of income.

The result? Why the unit of currency in America—the dollar—will get another beating. That is what is behind the cashing of savings bonds. And that is the force that can engender a strong stock market.

The inflation that has been developing in the country for two decades somewhat reminds me of a bully. He blusters around in his swaggering way. He picks on people smaller than he is. No one has the courage to confront him. So, he has his own way.

But there comes a day when three or four smaller boys, fed up with his arrogance, gang up on him and give him a good pummeling. Such a beating changes the entire situation and the bully is no longer a social scourge.

Well, millions of good and loyal Americans have been taking an economic beating for years and years as prices have gone higher and higher and for a great variety of reasons, the purchasing power of the dollar has been going down, down.

In the immediate future I can visualize hundreds of thousands of people ganging up on cheap money. The stage is all set for such an event. What would happen? Why, they would take their dollars earning 2 and 2½% a year and buy securities, regardless of risk, paying income more in line with living costs.

Yes, in the economic background of America are lying latent forces which, if released could lift stock prices far, far higher than they were in 1929.

Here is the head of a middle class family, for example. In recent years it has been difficult for him to save as much as he should. What does he face in 1951? Considerably higher living costs; heavier taxes. He has some savings—bonds and deposits.

What is he about to do? Why, cash his bonds and withdraw his savings and speculate. Fore and aft, speaking in nautical terms, he is hemmed in by uncomfortable economic forces. And in what a position he is to lead an army of his confreres who are caught in the same price-income situation.

It seems to me that, with the world military situation daily worsening, with the dollar being dragged down in its purchasing power, with out people facing higher prices and heavier taxes, anyone who expects markedly lower prices for sound stocks, is whistling in the dark.

The flight ought to be, not into dollars, but out of them. Of course, this view assumes a warlike world. And, as I have written several times recently, it looks as if America is to have large military budgets for several years. High taxes and prices are natural concomitants. And in the entire picture, the dollar suffers lamentably. And, as the dollar goes, so go the financial fortunes of millions of people.

CAREFUL WOMEN

The much-advertised fact that women live longer than men does not necessarily indicate that they are tougher, or more sheltered; it may be because they take fewer chances with their lives than do men. Over the past half century there have been many changes in the death rates for the two sexes at various ages, and now the rate for women is lower at every age. Moreover at some ages the male death rate is as much as ninety per cent higher than the female rate, whereas in 1900 the greatest difference was twenty-one per cent.

These changes are related by statisticians to changes in the chief causes of death. Accidents have moved to the top of the scale of death causes, and death rates have declined for many diseases to which women and men are equally vulnerable. Diseases of the heart are far and away the most common cause of death, and this is a classification of natural deaths. Yet it is easily observed that men are more prone to drive themselves into heart trouble, and also are more likely to disregard signs which warn them of developing trouble.

It is in having accidents that men outdo themselves. When the leading cause of death was tuberculosis, girls had a higher death rate than boys between the ages of fifteen and nineteen. Now accidents cause the most deaths in that age group, and the accident mortality at those ages is four times as great for boys as for girls.

Some men are required by their occupations to take greater risks, but this is not by any means generally true. The home, where the housewife spends her time, has a high accident rate, yet men manage to get mixed up in about as many home accidents as women, although they are not at home nearly as much. Men may be simply short on the habit of caution, which might be a good habit to cultivate.

The most modern of educational toys for the youngsters, it is assumed, help them to adjust to present-day times. No matter how hard they try, the things never seem to come out right.

IF YOU WANT TO REDUCE

After Alcoholics Anonymous, Calories Anonymous. This new organization was advocated perhaps not quite seriously, by Dr. Edward H. Rynearson of Minnesota's Mayo Clinic, in addressing the Association of Life Insurance Medical Directors. He thinks overweight is a serious enough problem to warrant attacking it by any means available, including the help of the victim's friends. An anti-calory group might be useful in combating the emotional disturbances which underlie most cases of overeating.

Do not believe that there is a simple way of reducing by pills or drugs. Do not attempt to follow the lady in the Helen Hokinson cartoon, who said, "Thank you, I will take another piece of chocolate cake, and then I must be getting on with my diet." And do not believe that exercise will do the trick. To lose one pound, Dr. Rynearson calculates that it would be necessary to walk 36 miles, and the process would probably merely result in a new appetite.

No, the only way to reduce is to eat less and more carefully.

Sooner or later the father who worked his way through college does it all over again for the younger generation.

STRIKING IT RICH

The oil industry in the Middle East is reeling under the impact of an announcement that King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia has made a deal with the Arabian-American Oil Company giving his government about half of the company's profits on Arabian oil. The payments will be in royalties and income taxes. Other oil companies in the Middle East except they may have to make similar deals.

The oil field developments in the Middle are almost entirely by western firms, chiefly British and American. The western engineers and capitalists have the know-how for moving oil from the ground to the customer. But the Easterners are traders; they know how to move cash from customer to till.

The new record brought home from the music store manages to get old in a hurry.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE WHY OF IT

Purcell McKamey of Steelton, Pennsylvania, wrote me a long and interesting letter, the gist of which is:

". . . From the spelling of your name, it is to be assumed that your origin is of Polish or Russian: Is it that you are psychologically affected by this background to the extent that you use your column to try and prove how much you are against anything Russian or communistic? . . . Are you fair in your attacks upon people who have the will and right to their thoughts regardless of how they may disagree with yours or others."

The why of all this is quite simple.

In 1917, when Russia rebelled against the Czar and his court, against the power of Rasputin and the corruption of nobility, the many, like myself, felt that free, representative government, that liberty had pierced the last great autocratic country. Turkey had become a free country in 1908; China in 1911; now Russia had joined the march.

I was then a student at Columbia University and sought for means to go to Russia to fight and labor for liberty. I got a job as a correspondent, sailed on the old Oscar II and after a short stay in Sweden, arrived in Petrograd. There I became editor of the Russian Daily News, an English language newspaper.

As a working newspaperman, charged with the task of reporting daily on events and publishing them in the city which was then the capital of the country, I had many opportunities to come close to the situation as it developed.

I witnessed the struggles of Kerensky against both the Communists and the Czarists. I was present at the seizure of power by the Bolsheviks. I saw Lenin, Trotzky and Stalin (who was then not so important) as close quarters. I had to understand the movements which were influencing millions of human beings. I lived under the Communists from October 1917 to March 1918.

The heart-break of it was that there was no will for liberty among the Marxists. They only sought power. Their own phrase for it was that they "took power."

It was present at all the sessions of the constituent assembly which had been called before the Bolsheviks took over. They laughed at the idea of the elected representatives of the people determining the basic law of the country. They sent sailors to break it up.

I witnessed the suppression of every organ of the people—the church, the press, meetings, political parties. Quickly they restored the despotism of the Czars. It was a despotism without restraint.

Human freedom was a value which I had taken for granted. I was born in the United States where I had never felt the force of government on my back like a lash. I knew no class, no race, no religious struggle. My father went to his synagogue on the Sabbath and we children walked behind him, as our Irish and German neighbors went to their churches on Sunday. In America, even God could be taken for granted.

It was in Siberia that the question of God and country and human liberty became an issue that had to be worked out. I had seen the degradation of man. I had seen men and women who did not fear death, but who did fear life.

For 13 years after that, I lived and worked in China. Many of the names you now read about, I knew as young men and women, my own age. My associations with Sun Yat-sen were close. I knew Chiang Kai-shek before he became a figure. I knew many of the present Communist leaders as far back as 1919 when I was adviser to the Shanghai Students Union, whose scroll still hangs on my wall.

But the question of human liberty and country and God was not answered in China. Our troops today speak of the brutality of the Oriental, their habit of shooting the sick and wounded and prisoners of war.

And always it came to me: From what is derived mercy, compassion, pity, charity, love? Can men be free without God?

To understand my own necessity for God, I read and studied the enemy. I devoted myself to every biologic and physical evidence of the futility of the supernatural. But it did not do in the realm of man's relationship to man. For the most that Karl Marx could establish was that those men and those things survived which struggled hardest in a suitable environment to survive. Yet, I also witnessed the elevation of the spirit of love daily in the works of compassionate men who lived in freedom.

In my own country, the United States, I knew freedom. I also knew God. Of course, any human society has faults—but I could say in 1931, in the depth of the depression, that I could find no condition of life in America, material or spiritual, that was as unfavorable as that to which I had for 14 years become accustomed in Russia and Asia.

That Body of Yours

PERNICIOUS ANEMIA

When Drs. Minot and Murphy were able to prove to the medical profession that liver and liver extract could control pernicious anemia (then a fatal disease), there was widespread relief. All that physicians had been able to do up to this time was keep the patients alive for months, or perhaps a few years at most, with blood transfusions.

As calf's liver had been used in the experiments of Drs. Minot and Murphy, calf's liver only was used, so that the price went up from a few cents to well over a dollar a pound. Fortunately, it was found that beef, pork and lamb liver would give results almost as good as calf's liver.

The next step was to make liver inviting to the patient. The Presbyterian Hospital, New York city, published a leaflet giving 57 different methods of cooking and preparing liver.

Then followed the manufacture of liver extract to be taken by mouth or injection, which was a long step forward in the treatment of pernicious anemia.

Then it was discovered that folic acid would strengthen the blood, enriching it by increasing the number of red corpuscles and increasing the amount of hemoglobin in the corpuscles, making liver extract unnecessary. However, from various sources came reports that while folic acid enriched the blood as did liver and liver extract, it did not give relief from the nervous symptoms present in pernicious anemia. By putting the patient back on liver and liver extract, he obtained relief from these symptoms. Folic acid did not give complete results in controlling this formerly fatal disease.

In American Practice, Drs. Willis M. Fowler and B. Hendricks, Iowa City, Iowa, review the development of folic acid in the treatment of anemia and present three cases showing that folic acid actually produces or causes nervous symptoms. There was one case, a man 29 years, another man 47 years, and a woman 60 years, all of whom developed degeneration of spinal cord with paralysis of certain organs after use of folic acid. Fortunately, by use of liver and liver extract, these symptoms disappeared.

Two Birds With One Stone, He Hopes

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—It has been the policy of the brass hats that military mistakes, no matter how glaring, are not to be rehashed after they are made. That perhaps is why even the files on northern military blunders in the Civil War still are secret.

That is also why our intelligence error in the Battle of the Bulge, which cost the lives of thousands of young men, still remains uninvestigated; with the general then in charge of U. S. intelligence being promoted to be No. 2 man in the central intelligence agency.

And that is also why the naval commanders responsible for shooting down and killing 400 U. S. and British paratroopers in the invasion of Sicily never were investigated.

American newspapermen, including this columnist, have written about these tragic errors. But no official investigation ever was made public.

Likewise suppressed may be the tragic Korean errors which cost us the greatest proportionate casualties in history and the greatest land-army defeat in history. Certainly they will not be published if Senator McCarthy has his way.

It was to shed light on some of these errors that this columnist published paraphrased excerpts from General MacArthur's cabled estimates of actual Chinese strength. These showed that while MacArthur was announcing more than 1,000,000 Chinese in Korea or on the border, and that "a bottomless well of Chinese manpower continues to flow into Korea," actually only about 96,000 Chinese sent the 8th Army on its headlong 120-mile retreat. (There were additional Chinese facing the 10th Corps in northeast Korea.)

Errors of Command

There was a good reason why I used paraphrased official cables from MacArthur. If I had not, Senator McCarthy would have accused me of lying, of manufacturing the Chinese figures out of whole cloth.

Faced with the official texts, he could not very well accuse me of lying, so he accused me of permitting the deciphering of coded messages. This the secretary of the army denied.

McCarthy also implied that I had given secrets to the enemy. This was absurd on the face of it. The column in question dealt with Chinese military strength, and the Chinese obviously knew their own strength. Furthermore it was published on Dec. 30, one month after the 8th Army's tragic retreat, and facts published after battle don't give much help to the enemy.

However, after a battle, the people whose sons are lost and whose country is injured are entitled to know the reasons for defeat. The reasons in this case were errors in command. They were not the fault of the troops on the field of battle.

The reasons for this particular defeat began at Wake Island, and go back in part to two factors—a brilliant, strong-minded general who knew exactly what he wanted, and a President not versed in military strategy who, as a former National Guard artillery captain, was dazzled by braid and brass.

The Big Risk

At Wake Island, General MacArthur proposed exactly what he later executed—a lightning dash by American troops up to the Manchurian border, a pause on the border only long enough to symbolize victory, then a march home by Christmas.

In talking to Truman, MacArthur even used the words "home by Christmas." He admitted that the Chinese might be provoked into attack. But he predicted they would not cross the Yalu River in force and confidently added that, if they did, he could take care of them.

MacArthur also argued that the North Korean guerrillas would be destroyed by the severe Korean winter, and that the South Korean army would be strong enough to protect its homeland without a large U.N. army.

President Truman was hesitant. He questioned the necessity of marching all the way to the Chinese border, also the wisdom of pulling American troops out too quickly.

MacArthur replied that "occupants are failures," that the execution of war prisoners is "foolish," and it would be best to leave Korea in the hands of Koreans.

Although Truman remained hesitant, he never gave MacArthur direct orders not to march to the border. A stronger President, such as Franklin Roosevelt, probably would have argued MacArthur down. A stronger military adviser to the President might have done likewise. Time and again Churchill and Roosevelt, conferring with the generals, dominated military decisions in the last war. And although never published, it was astute Adm. Chester Nimitz, commander of the fleet in the Pacific, who managed to reverse MacArthur's plan to stage the first Philippine landing not at Mindanao—where the Japs were prepared — but in the Gulf of Leyte.

At Wake island, however, MacArthur was in the flush of victory following his Inchon landing—a landing which Gen. Omar Bradley did not think he could pull off. Therefore he was hard to argue down, and when the Wake island conference broke up the final decision was left to him. At no time, incidentallly, did MacArthur ever violate orders—partly because none were given him.

British Protest

The British, at about this time, registered several warnings against going close to the Manchurian border; while the French ambassador, Henri Bonnet, on direct instructions from his government, warned the State Department that U.N. troops were sure to get into trouble if they fanned out along 700 miles of the Chinese border.

However, the State Department, already harassed at being pro-Communist, made only indifferent attempts to hold back this daring military drive. Once it pulled General Bradley back from a hunting trip in Connecticut to have him urge MacArthur to issue a statement advising the Chinese that we would not bother their big dams and power plants on the Yalu river. But MacArthur cabled a blunt: "Do not concur."

On another occasion, the State Department tried to work out a British plan whereby we would halt U.N. troops about 40 miles from the Chinese border. Again, however, no direct orders were given to MacArthur on this—only suggestions.

Meanwhile the State Department, nervous as a cat, kept the wires hot to Prime Minister Nehru in India, and through him to his ambassador in Peiping, trying to placate the Chinese Communists and keep Mao's army out of Korea. Though it wasn't published at the time, Mao Tse-tung was blunt and categoric in warning that he would intervene if U.N. troops crossed the 38th Parallel.

Despite this, U.N. troops began their race toward the Manchurian border.

(Ed. Note—Another column diagnosing our Korean defeat will follow shortly).

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Jan. 17 — Arthur Bliss Lane, our ambassador to Poland who quit the diplomatic service to write a book called "I Saw Poland Betrayed," is now devoting himself to an expose of the Katyn massacre of Polish officers by the Soviet Union which was discovered in 1943. He is one of the organizers of a society called the American Committee for the Investigation of the Katyn Massacre.

Mr. Lane has prepared a statement which begins: "One of the least publicized actions during the last war, yet one which has had the most far-reaching consequences, was the murder of over 4,000 Polish officers in the forest of Katyn, near Smolensk, in the Soviet Union. The crime was so horrible that many persons hesitate to retell it. Yet the barbarity of the murder, which was discovered in April, 1943, when the Nazis were in occupation of Smolensk, in Russia, 15 miles west of the Katyn forest, was shown by the condition of the bodies. They had been found with their hands tied behind their backs. All the men had been shot in an identical manner, a bullet in the back of their necks."

No trace ever was found of about 11,000 other Polish officers in Russian hands. None of these were prisoners of war, for Poland was not at war with Russia. The Russians captured them and they vanished.

Mr. Lane points out that the American soldiers who were murdered by the Soviet North Korean army after they had been captured in the early days of the Korean "police action" were killed in the same way.

Mr. Lane also recalls that the American Office of War Information "adhered to the thesis that this crime (the slaughter of the 4,000 found in the mass graves at Katyn) had been committed by the Nazis.

"The British and American governments," the statement says, "were strangely silent, being allied to the U.S.S.R. at that time."

For reasons why the American people were put in doubt one must rely also on reports from Russia by American journalists. Accordingly, one refers to page 133 of "The Curtain Rises," by Quentin Reynolds, now a pundit of the radio and television and occasionally presented as a reputable, truthful and reliable authority on events of the Second World War in the "commentaries" which accompany "documentary" films.

Mr. Reynolds begins his discussion of the massacre by harking back to a broadcast of Dr. Goebbels, the German propaganda minister, in April, 1943. Goebbels charged that the bodies of 10,000 Polish officers, missing since the Russian occupation of eastern Poland in 1939, had now been found near Smolensk. Reynolds offers no suggestion that he made any serious professional effort to ascertain the facts, but he does say that "we," wherein he apparently presumes to speak for all the Americans in Moscow, were shocked to learn that the Polish government-in-exile in London had walked into the trap set by Goebbels made "us" wonder whether this horrible flippancy was appropriate to this ghastly occasion. And, he observed "whether the atrocity story were true," the Poles had been very undiplomatic in their conduct. This, it seems, was an occasion for protocol and serene manners, adorned, perhaps, by a typical series of orgies of the kind at which many American officers and civilian fools got beastly drunk and disgraced themselves.

Mr. Reynolds remarked by way of criticism of the horrified reaction of the Polish government-in-exile that their diplomacy was "as subtle as the path of a Mark VI tank through a flower garden." He got a handout from the Soviet Foreign Office announcing the suspension of diplomatic relations with the Polish government. He reports that a group of other foreign journalists called on the Polish ambassador, who put stress on the courtesy shown him by the Soviet government, and said he did not believe the Goebbels version. He then relates that the Soviet censors would not permit their dispatches to clear because Russia and Poland were now estranged. Reynolds observes that the Russians denied themselves the benefit of these doubts because they are bad propagandists. His final opinion of it was, however, that "the whole conflict boils down to power politics."

The American committee for the investigation of the Katyn massacre applied to the treasury for "exemption for federal income tax purposes." This was denied on the ground that while proof of the facts of this massacre "might be of historical significance," nevertheless, the project was not "educational."

Mr. Lane in reply suggested that this ruling might be "influenced by our government's recent appeasement of the Soviet Union."

Mr. Reynolds has revealed that he held an official government position while he was acting as a correspondent. His propaganda doubtless was influential in the formation of public opinion regarding Soviet Russia's position in several situations.

Mr. Lane told the treasury that "the American people, of which some 6,000,000 are of Polish descent, are entitled to know the facts."

Face Deportation

Singapore (AP)—More than 100,000 Chinese in Thailand, taken there by the Japanese, are facing deportation Aw Boon Haw, Singapore millionaire-philanthropist and owner of the Star chain of newspapers, said after returning from Bangkok. Aw met leading Thai officials with other Chinese leaders and pleaded for extension of time so that ways and means could be found to make deportation unnecessary. He persuaded the Thailand government that all the 100,000 Chinese were law-abiding and not interested in politics.

CAREFUL WOMEN

The much-advertised fact that women live longer than men does not necessarily indicate that they are tougher, or more sheltered; it may be because they take fewer chances with their lives than do men. Over the past half century there have been many changes in the death rates for the two sexes at various ages, and now the rate for women is lower at every age. Moreover at some ages the male death rate is as much as ninety per cent higher than the female rate, whereas in 1900 the greatest difference was twenty-one per cent.

These changes are related by statisticians to changes in the chief causes of death. Accidents have moved to the top of the scale of death causes, and death rates have declined for many diseases to which women and men are equally vulnerable. Diseases of the heart are far and away the most common cause of death, and this is a classification of natural deaths. Yet it is easily observed that men are more prone to drive themselves into heart trouble, and also are more likely to disregard signs which warn them of developing trouble.

It is in having accidents that men outdo themselves. When the leading cause of death was tuberculosis, girls had a higher death rate than boys between the ages of fifteen and nineteen. Now accidents cause the most deaths in that age group, and the accident mortality at those ages is four times as great for boys as for girls.

Some men are required by their occupations to take greater risks, but this is not by any means generally true. The home, where the housewife spends her time, has a high accident rate, yet men manage to get mixed up in about as many home accidents as women, although they are not at home nearly as much. Men may be simply short on the habit of caution, which might be a good habit to cultivate.

The most modern of educational toys for the youngsters, it is assumed, help them to adjust to present-day times. No matter how hard they try, the things never seem to come out right.

IF YOU WANT TO REDUCE

After Alcoholics Anonymous, Calories Anonymous. This new organization was advocated perhaps not quite seriously, by Dr. Edward H. Rynearson of Minnesota's Mayo Clinic, in addressing the Association of Life Insurance Medical Directors. He thinks overweight is a serious enough problem to warrant attacking it by any means available, including the help of the victim's friends. An anti-calory group might be useful in combating the emotional disturbances which underlie most cases of overeating.

Do not believe that there is a simple way of reducing by pills or drugs. Do not attempt to follow the lady in the Helen Hokinson cartoon, who said, "Thank you, I will take another piece of chocolate cake, and then I must be getting on with my diet." And do not believe that exercise will do the trick. To lose one pound, Dr. Rynearson calculates that it would be necessary to walk 36 miles, and the process would probably merely result in a new appetite.

No, the only way to reduce is to eat less and more carefully.

Sooner or later the father who worked his way through college does it all over again for the younger generation.

STRIKING IT RICH

The oil industry in the Middle East is reeling under the impact of an announcement that King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia has made a deal with the Arabian-American Oil Company giving his government about half of the company's profits on Arabian oil. The payments will be in royalties and income taxes. Other oil companies in the Middle East except they may have to make similar deals.

The oil field developments in the Middle East are almost entirely by western firms, chiefly British and American. The western engineers and capitalists have the know-how for moving oil from the ground to the customer. But the Easterners are traders; they know how to move cash from customer to till.

The new record brought home from the music store manages to get old in a hurry.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE WHY OF IT

Purcell McKamey of Steelton, Pennsylvania, wrote me a long and interesting letter, the gist of which is:

". . . From the spelling of your name, it is to be assumed that your origin is of Polish or Russian: Is it that you are psychologically affected by this background to the extent that you use your column to try and prove how much you are against anything Russian or communistic? . . . Are you fair in your attacks upon people who have the will and right to their thoughts regardless of how they may disagree with yours or others."

The why of all this is quite simple.

In 1917, when Russia rebelled against the Czar and his court, against the power of Rasputin and the corruption of nobility, the many, like myself, felt that free, representative government, that liberty had pierced the last great autocratic country. Turkey had become a free country in 1908; China in 1911; now Russia had joined the march.

I was then a student at Columbia University and sought for means to go to Russia to fight and labor for liberty. I got a job as a correspondent, sailed on the old Oscar II and after a short stay in Sweden, arrived in Petrograd. There I became editor of the Russian Daily News, an English language newspaper.

As a working newspaperman, charged with the task of reporting daily on events and publishing them in the city which was then the capital of the country, I had many opportunities to come close to the situation as it developed.

I witnessed the struggles of Kerensky against both the Communists and the Czarists. I was present at the seizure of power by the Bolsheviks. I saw Lenin, Trotzky and Stalin (who was then not so important) as close quarters. I had to understand the movements which were influencing millions of human beings. I lived under the Communists from October 1917 to March 1918.

The heart-break of it was that there was no will for liberty among the Marxists. They only sought power. Their own phrase for it was that they "took power."

It was present at all the sessions of the constituent assembly which had been called before the Bolsheviks took over. They laughed at the idea of the elected representatives of the people determining the basic law of the country. They sent sailors to break it up.

I witnessed the suppression of every organ of the people—the church, the press, meetings, political parties. Quickly they restored the despotism of the Czars. It was a despotism without restraint.

Human freedom was a value which I had taken for granted. I was born in the United States where I had never felt the force of government on my back like a lash. I knew no class, no race, no religious struggle. My father went to his synagogue on the Sabbath and we children walked behind him, as our Irish and German neighbors went to their churches on Sunday. In America, even God could be taken for granted.

It was in Siberia that the question of God and country and human liberty became an issue that had to be worked out. I had seen the degradation of man. I had seen men and women who did not fear death, but who did fear life.

For 13 years after that, I lived and worked in China. Many of the names you now read about, I knew as young men and women, my own age. My associations with Sun Yat-sen were close. I knew Chiang Kai-shek before he became a figure. I knew many of the present Communist leaders as far back as 1919 when I was adviser to the Shanghai Students Union, whose scroll still hangs on my wall.

But the question of human liberty and country and God was not answered in China. Our troops today speak of the brutality of the Oriental, their habit of shooting the sick and wounded and prisoners of war.

And always it came to me: From what is derived mercy, compassion, pity, charity, love? Can men be free without God?

To understand my own necessity for God, I read and studied the enemy. I devoted myself to every biologic and physical evidence of the futility of the supernatural. But it did not do in the realm of man's relationship to man. For the most that Karl Marx could establish was that those men and those things survived which struggled hardest in a suitable environment to survive. Yet, I also witnessed the elevation of the spirit of love daily in the works of compassionate men who lived in freedom.

In my own country, the United States, I knew freedom. I also knew God. Of course, any human society has faults—but I could say in 1931, in the depth of the depression, that I could find no condition of life in America, material or spiritual, that was as unfavorable as that to which I had for 14 years become accustomed in Russia and Asia.

That Body of Yours

PERNICIOUS ANEMIA

When Drs. Minot and Murphy were able to prove to the medical profession that liver and liver extract could control pernicious anemia (then a fatal disease), there was widespread relief. All that physicians had been able to do up to this time was keep the patients alive for months, or perhaps a few years at most, with blood transfusions.

As calf's liver had been used in the experiments of Drs. Minot and Murphy, calf's liver only was used, so that the price went up from a few cents to well over a dollar a pound. Fortunately, it was found that beef, pork and lamb liver would give results almost as good as calf's liver.

The next step was to make liver inviting to the patient. The Presbyterian Hospital, New York city, published a leaflet giving 57 different methods of cooking and preparing liver.

Then followed the manufacture of liver extract to be taken by mouth or injection, which was a long step forward in the treatment of pernicious anemia.

Then it was discovered that folic acid would strengthen the blood, enriching it by increasing the number of red corpuscles and increasing the amount of hemoglobin in the corpuscles, making liver extract unnecessary. However, from various sources came reports that while folic acid enriched the blood as did liver and liver extract, it did not give relief from the nervous symptoms present in pernicious anemia. By putting the patient back on liver and liver extract, he obtained relief from these symptoms. Folic acid did not give complete results in controlling this formerly fatal disease.

In American Practice, Drs. Willis M. Fowler and B. Hendricks, Iowa City, Iowa, review the development of folic acid in the treatment of anemia and present three cases showing that folic acid actually produces or causes nervous symptoms. There was one case, a man 29 years, another man 47 years, and a woman 60 years, all of whom developed degeneration of spinal cord with paralysis of certain organs after use of folic acid. Fortunately, by use of liver and liver extract, these symptoms disappeared.

Two Birds With One Stone, He Hopes

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—It has been the policy of the brass hats that military mistakes, no matter how glaring, are not to be rehashed after they are made. That perhaps is why even the files on northern military blunders in the Civil War still are secret.

That is also why our intelligence error in the Battle of the Bulge, which cost the lives of thousands of young men, still remains uninvestigated; with the general then in charge of U. S. intelligence being promoted to be No. 2 man in the central intelligence agency.

And that is also why the naval commanders responsible for shooting down and killing 400 U. S. and British paratroopers in the invasion of Sicily never were investigated.

American newspapermen, including this columnist, have written about these tragic errors. But no official investigation ever was made public.

Likewise suppressed may be the tragic Korean errors which cost us the greatest proportionate casualties in history and the greatest land-army defeat in history. Certainly they will not be published if Senator McCarthy has his way.

It was to shed light on some of these errors that this columnist published paraphrased excerpts from General MacArthur's cabled estimates of actual Chinese strength. These showed that while MacArthur was announcing more than 1,000,000 Chinese in Korea or on the border, and that "a bottomless well of Chinese manpower continues to flow into Korea," actually only about 96,000 Chinese sent the 8th Army on its headlong 120-mile retreat. (There were additional Chinese facing the 10th Corps in northeast Korea.)

Errors of Command

There was a good reason why I used paraphrased official cables from MacArthur. If I had not, Senator McCarthy would have accused me of lying, of manufacturing the Chinese figures out of whole cloth.

Faced with the official texts, he could not very well accuse me of lying, so he accused me of permitting the deciphering of coded messages. This the secretary of the army denied.

McCarthy also implied that I had given secrets to the enemy. This was absurd on the face of it. The column in question dealt with Chinese military strength, and the Chinese obviously knew their own strength. Furthermore it was published on Dec. 30, one month after the 8th Army's tragic retreat, and facts published after battle don't give much help to the enemy.

However, after a battle, the people whose sons are lost and whose country is injured are entitled to know the reasons for defeat. The reasons in this case were errors in command. They were not the fault of the troops on the field of battle.

The reasons for this particular defeat began at Wake Island, and go back in part to two factors—a brilliant, strong-minded general who knew exactly what he wanted, and a President not versed in military strategy who, as a former National Guard artillery captain, was dazzled by braid and brass.

The Big Risk

At Wake Island, General MacArthur proposed exactly what he later executed—a lightning dash by American troops up to the Manchurian border, a pause on the border only long enough to symbolize victory, then a march home by Christmas.

In talking to Truman, MacArthur even used the words "home by Christmas." He admitted that the Chinese might be provoked into attack. But he predicted they would not cross the Yalu River in force and confidently added that, if they did, he could take care of them.

MacArthur also argued that the North Korean guerrillas would be destroyed by the severe Korean winter, and that the South Korean army would be strong enough to protect its homeland without a large U.N. army.

President Truman was hesitant. He questioned the necessity of marching all the way to the Chinese border, also the wisdom of pulling American troops out too quickly.

MacArthur replied that "occupants are failures," that the execution of war prisoners is "foolish," and it would be best to leave Korea in the hands of Koreans.

Although Truman remained hesitant, he never gave MacArthur direct orders not to march to the border. A stronger President, such as Franklin Roosevelt, probably would have argued MacArthur down. A stronger military adviser to the President might have done likewise. Time and again Churchill and Roosevelt, conferring with the generals, dominated military decisions in the last war. And although never published, it was astute Adm. Chester Nimitz, commander of the fleet in the Pacific, who managed to reverse MacArthur's plan to stage the first Philippine landing not at Mindanao—where the Japs were prepared — but in the Gulf of Leyte.

At Wake island, however, MacArthur was in the flush of victory following his Inchon landing—a landing which Gen. Omar Bradley did not think he could pull off. Therefore he was hard to argue down, and when the Wake island conference broke up the final decision was left to him. At no time, incidentallly, did MacArthur ever violate orders—partly because none were given him.

British Protest

The British, at about this time, registered several warnings against going close to the Manchurian border; while the French ambassador, Henri Bonnet, on direct instructions from his government, warned the State Department that U.N. troops were sure to get into trouble if they fanned out along 700 miles of the Chinese border.

However, the State Department, already harassed at being pro-Communist, made only indifferent attempts to hold back this daring military drive. Once it pulled General Bradley back from a hunting trip in Connecticut to have him urge MacArthur to issue a statement advising the Chinese that we would not bother their big dams and power plants on the Yalu river. But MacArthur cabled a blunt: "Do not concur."

On another occasion, the State Department tried to work out a British plan whereby we would halt U.N. troops about 40 miles from the Chinese border. Again, however, no direct orders were given to MacArthur on this—only suggestions.

Meanwhile the State Department, nervous as a cat, kept the wires hot to Prime Minister Nehru in India, and through him to his ambassador in Peiping, trying to placate the Chinese Communists and keep Mao's army out of Korea. Though it wasn't published at the time, Mao Tse-tung was blunt and categoric in warning that he would intervene if U.N. troops crossed the 38th Parallel.

Despite this, U.N. troops began their race toward the Manchurian border.

(Ed. Note—Another column diagnosing our Korean defeat will follow shortly).

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Jan. 17 — Arthur Bliss Lane, our ambassador to Poland who quit the diplomatic service to write a book called "I Saw Poland Betrayed," is now devoting himself to an expose of the Katyn massacre of Polish officers by the Soviet Union which was discovered in 1943. He is one of the organizers of a society called the American Committee for the Investigation of the Katyn Massacre.

Mr. Lane has prepared a statement which begins: "One of the least publicized actions during the last war, yet one which has had the most far-reaching consequences, was the murder of over 4,000 Polish officers in the forest of Katyn, near Smolensk, in the Soviet Union. The crime was so horrible that many persons hesitate to retell it. Yet the barbarity of the murder, which was discovered in April, 1943, when the Nazis were in occupation of Smolensk, in Russia, 15 miles west of the Katyn forest, was shown by the condition of the bodies. They had been found with their hands tied behind their backs. All the men had been shot in an identical manner, a bullet in the back of their necks."

No trace ever was found of about 11,000 other Polish officers in Russian hands. None of these were prisoners of war, for Poland was not at war with Russia. The Russians captured them and they vanished.

Mr. Lane points out that the American soldiers who were murdered by the Soviet North Korean army after they had been captured in the early days of the Korean "police action" were killed in the same way.

Mr. Lane also recalls that the American Office of War Information "adhered to the thesis that this crime (the slaughter of the 4,000 found in the mass graves at Katyn) had been committed by the Nazis.

"The British and American governments," the statement says, "were strangely silent, being allied to the U.S.S.R. at that time."

For reasons why the American people were put in doubt one must rely also on reports from Russia by American journalists. Accordingly, one refers to page 133 of "The Curtain Rises," by Quentin Reynolds, now a pundit of the radio and television and occasionally presented as a reputable, truthful and reliable authority on events of the Second World War in the "commentaries" which accompany "documentary" films.

Mr. Reynolds begins his discussion of the massacre by harking back to a broadcast of Dr. Goebbels, the German propaganda minister, in April, 1943. Goebbels charged that the bodies of 10,000 Polish officers, missing since the Russian occupation of eastern Poland in 1939, had now been found near Smolensk. Reynolds offers no suggestion that he made any serious professional effort to ascertain the facts, but he does say that "we," wherein he apparently presumes to speak for all the Americans in Moscow, were shocked to learn that the Polish government-in-exile in London had walked into the trap set by Goebbels made "us" wonder whether this horrible flippancy was appropriate to this ghastly occasion. And, he observed "whether the atrocity story were true," the Poles had been very undiplomatic in their conduct. This, it seems, was an occasion for protocol and serene manners, adorned, perhaps, by a typical series of orgies of the kind at which many American officers and civilian fools got beastly drunk and disgraced themselves.

Mr. Reynolds remarked by way of criticism of the horrified reaction of the Polish government-in-exile that their diplomacy was "as subtle as the path of a Mark VI tank through a flower garden." He got a handout from the Soviet Foreign Office announcing the suspension of diplomatic relations with the Polish government. He reports that a group of other foreign journalists called on the Polish ambassador, who put stress on the courtesy shown him by the Soviet government, and said he did not believe the Goebbels version. He then relates that the Soviet censors would not permit their dispatches to clear because Russia and Poland were now estranged. Reynolds observes that the Russians denied themselves the benefit of these doubts because they are bad propagandists. His final opinion of it was, however, that "the whole conflict boils down to power politics."

The American committee for the investigation of the Katyn massacre applied to the treasury for "exemption for federal income tax purposes." This was denied on the ground that while proof of the facts of this massacre "might be of historical significance," nevertheless, the project was not "educational."

Mr. Lane in reply suggested that this ruling might be "influenced by our government's recent appeasement of the Soviet Union."

Mr. Reynolds has revealed that he held an official government position while he was acting as a correspondent. His propaganda doubtless was influential in the formation of public opinion regarding Soviet Russia's position in several situations.

Mr. Lane told the treasury that "the American people, of which some 6,000,000 are of Polish descent, are entitled to know the facts."

Face Deportation

Singapore (AP)—More than 100,000 Chinese in Thailand, taken there by the Japanese, are facing deportation Aw Boon Haw, Singapore millionaire-philanthropist and owner of the Star chain of newspapers, said after returning from Bangkok. Aw met leading Thai officials with other Chinese leaders and pleaded for extension of time so that ways and means could be found to make deportation unnecessary. He persuaded the Thailand government that all the 100,000 Chinese were law-abiding and not interested in politics.

Wounded Marine Is To Attend Ball at Elks Club Saturday

When the fifth annual ball of Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, is held Saturday night in the Elks Club on Fair street, some of Uncle Sam's leathernecks now in service will be present in uniform, and, in fact some of them and their parents are helping to promote the social event.

One will be a veteran of the Korean war, from New Paltz, and the other a Kingston boy, who has asked for a leave to attend the event. Commandant Albert J. Melville has expressed pleasure over the fact that both will be present.

Was at Changin

Marine Private First Class Richard A. Caron, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Caron of New Paltz, is the Korean veteran to grace the social event with his presence. He was wounded in both legs while with a volunteer advance unit leading marines and infantry out of the Changin reservoir trap.

The Kingston youth who is getting a leave from duties to attend the ball is Stephen Cramer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Cramer of 194 East Chester street, who has been in service more than a year. Although he won't be home until time for the event, his parents are helping sell tickets for it to swell the fund for helping wounded marines at St. Albans Hospital. More than 400 veterans of the Korean war are hospitalized there at present.

Helped in Past

This is not the first year that the Ulster Detachment has endeavored to raise money for the hospital. Its files contain letters of thanks for substantial sums sent to the recreation fund in the past.

Harry (Mickey) McSpirit, a member of Kingston Lodge, 550, B.P.O. Elks, is handling tickets at the club to help the marines, and Mrs. McSpirit is also assisting.

Frank Cronk reports that returns on tickets indicate a large attendance for the ball, which is being supported by many residents of Kingston and surrounding area.

One of the features as far as the detachment goes will be presentation by Commander Albert J. Melville of past commandant buttons to the five ex-marines who served as head of the Ulster county organization since it was reactivated after World War 2. They are John Ray Mayone, Harold E. Macholdt, Frank Cronk, James E. Cave and Eugene Barkow.

Other members of the detachment serving on the ball committee are Wendell Scherer, Robert S. Badian, Albert J. Rose, G. Albert Nussbaum, Thomas J. Finnerty, John Lang, Joseph Naccarato, Sheldon F. O'Rourke, Paul Bonesteel, Edward J. Esposito.

On an honorary committee are James G. Connelly, exalted ruler of the Elks, Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly, Bob Browning and Dick McCarthy, local newscaster, and Samuel Doyle, president of the Ulster County Building Trades Council.

Meeting Tonight

Final reports on final preparations for the ball will be discussed at a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the Veterans of Foreign Wars home on Delaware avenue. All members of Ulster Detachment are urged to attend.

Will Show Magic at Marine Ball

One of the five acts on the program at the fifth annual ball of Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, Saturday night at the Elks' Club will feature Don and Thelma Greenwood in "Artistry in Deception." They have been starred in some of the country's leading night clubs. Ulster Detachment hopes to raise a sizeable sum to help the recreation fund at St. Albans Hospital where wounded marines are convalescing.

Water Office Open

The office of the Kingston Water Department, city hall, will remain open to 12 o'clock noon on Saturday, Jan. 20, for all consumers who want to pay their water rents. This is the last opportunity to pay without the 10 per cent penalty.

Wounded Marine Is To Attend Ball at Elks Club Saturday

When the fifth annual ball of Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, is held Saturday night in the Elks Club on Fair street, some of Uncle Sam's leathernecks now in service will be present in uniform, and, in fact some of them and their parents are helping to promote the social event.

One will be a veteran of the Korean war, from New Paltz, and the other a Kingston boy, who has asked for a leave to attend the event. Commandant Albert J. Melville has expressed pleasure over the fact that both will be present.

Was at Changin

Marine Private First Class Richard A. Caron, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Caron of New Paltz, is the Korean veteran to grace the social event with his presence. He was wounded in both legs while with a volunteer advance unit leading marines and infantry out of the Changin reservoir trap.

The Kingston youth who is getting a leave from duties to attend the ball is Stephen Cramer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Cramer of 194 East Chester street, who has been in service more than a year. Although he won't be home until time for the event, his parents are helping sell tickets for it to swell the fund for helping wounded marines at St. Albans Hospital. More than 400 veterans of the Korean war are hospitalized there at present.

Helped in Past

This is not the first year that the Ulster Detachment has endeavored to raise money for the hospital. Its files contain letters of thanks for substantial sums sent to the recreation fund in the past.

Harry (Mickey) McSpirit, a member of Kingston Lodge, 550, B.P.O. Elks, is handling tickets at the club to help the marines, and Mrs. McSpirit is also assisting.

Frank Cronk reports that returns on tickets indicate a large attendance for the ball, which is being supported by many residents of Kingston and surrounding area.

One of the features as far as the detachment goes will be presentation by Commander Albert J. Melville of past commandant buttons to the five ex-marines who served as head of the Ulster county organization since it was reactivated after World War 2. They are John Ray Mayone, Harold E. Macholdt, Frank Cronk, James E. Cave and Eugene Barkow.

Other members of the detachment serving on the ball committee are Wendell Scherer, Robert S. Badian, Albert J. Rose, G. Albert Nussbaum, Thomas J. Finnerty, John Lang, Joseph Naccarato, Sheldon F. O'Rourke, Paul Bonesteel, Edward J. Esposito.

On an honorary committee are James G. Connelly, exalted ruler of the Elks, Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly, Bob Browning and Dick McCarthy, local newscaster, and Samuel Doyle, president of the Ulster County Building Trades Council.

Meeting Tonight

Final reports on final preparations for the ball will be discussed at a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the Veterans of Foreign Wars home on Delaware avenue. All members of Ulster Detachment are urged to attend.

Will Show Magic at Marine Ball

One of the five acts on the program at the fifth annual ball of Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, Saturday night at the Elks' Club will feature Don and Thelma Greenwood in "Artistry in Deception." They have been starred in some of the country's leading night clubs. Ulster Detachment hopes to raise a sizeable sum to help the recreation fund at St. Albans Hospital where wounded marines are convalescing.

Water Office Open

The office of the Kingston Water Department, city hall, will remain open to 12 o'clock noon on Saturday, Jan. 20, for all consumers who want to pay their water rents. This is the last opportunity to pay without the 10 per cent penalty.

Dog Club Speakers

The Dog Lover's Club, under the direction of Leo Doheny, was recently honored by the appearance of two distinguished speakers. On December 15, Dr. James Crandall addressed the club on the "Health and Care of the Dog" while on January 12, Arnold Schmidt, owner of Chapel Hill Kennels, demonstrated obedience training using one of his German shepherds.

In his speech, Dr. Crandall was concise and descriptive and told of various dog diseases along with their preventative and curative medicines. After giving a brief description and history of the breeds of dogs, he mentioned the things and qualities to look for when selecting and buying a puppy and the care and feeding which the dog needs.

There was an open forum at the close of the talk with students asking various questions concerning the dogs which Dr. Crandall has agreed to come and talk again at a future meeting.

Schmidt, with the aid of his brilliant German shepherds, demonstrated different ways of dog training. The meeting was devoted almost entirely to asking questions. Schmidt offered the use of his kennel grounds for a dog show this spring. He has also agreed to donate one of the prizes and is willing to be one of the judges.

See Ski Pictures

Enthusiasts of skis and skiing were fascinated by John Jay and his movie, "Skis Against Time," shown in the K.H.S. auditorium last week. The movie featured shots of the men's and women's downhill and slalom races at Aspen, Colo., last winter. The second part showed an 18 mile run for pleasure in Switzerland and a trip Jay took to Squaw Valley, Calif.

After showing expert skiers and skilled feats of daring, the scene was switched to some Bear Mountain "snow bunnies." Throughout the film, Jay described the events, humorously remarking on many.

Belleayre Mountain Ski resort has offered the K.H.S. Ski Club an opportunity for skiing and ski lessons at Belleayre every Friday. The club went on the first of these trips last Friday when members were excused from classes early. The skiers were divided into different groups of eight or nine, ranging in skiing experience and ability. During their first lesson they were taught chiefly how to christie and were given some other pointers on downhill control.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Stock prices receded slowly today in the first losing session in eight straight trading days.

Losses for a large assortment of leading stocks ran from a few cents to more than $1.50 a share. The vigorous demand that had kept the market at a succession of 20-year highs over the past few weeks subsided to a whisper.

Lower prices were paid for Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, J. I. Case, Boeing Airplane, Schenley, Zenith Radio, Phelps Dodge, Allied Chemical, duPont, Santa Fe, New York Central, Standard Oil (N.J.) and Studebaker.

Among the few with an appreciable following were Homestake Mining, Union Carbide, American Can, Seaboard Air Line and Gulf Oil.

Prices on the curb exchange were mixed and leaning to the downside. Trimmed were Air Associates, Barium Steel, Basic Refractories, Cities Service, Creole Petroleum, Kirby Petroleum, Louisiana Land, New Jersey Zinc, St. Lawrence Corp. and Technicolor.

Railroad bonds moved narrowly in quiet dealings. Some long-term U. S. Treasury bonds gained ground in a slow over-the-counter market.

Dog Club Speakers

The Dog Lover's Club, under the direction of Leo Doheny, was recently honored by the appearance of two distinguished speakers. On December 15, Dr. James Crandall addressed the club on the "Health and Care of the Dog" while on January 12, Arnold Schmidt, owner of Chapel Hill Kennels, demonstrated obedience training using one of his German shepherds.

In his speech, Dr. Crandall was concise and descriptive and told of various dog diseases along with their preventative and curative medicines. After giving a brief description and history of the breeds of dogs, he mentioned the things and qualities to look for when selecting and buying a puppy and the care and feeding which the dog needs.

There was an open forum at the close of the talk with students asking various questions concerning the dogs which Dr. Crandall has agreed to come and talk again at a future meeting.

Schmidt, with the aid of his brilliant German shepherds, demonstrated different ways of dog training. The meeting was devoted almost entirely to asking questions. Schmidt offered the use of his kennel grounds for a dog show this spring. He has also agreed to donate one of the prizes and is willing to be one of the judges.

See Ski Pictures

Enthusiasts of skis and skiing were fascinated by John Jay and his movie, "Skis Against Time," shown in the K.H.S. auditorium last week. The movie featured shots of the men's and women's downhill and slalom races at Aspen, Colo., last winter. The second part showed an 18 mile run for pleasure in Switzerland and a trip Jay took to Squaw Valley, Calif.

After showing expert skiers and skilled feats of daring, the scene was switched to some Bear Mountain "snow bunnies." Throughout the film, Jay described the events, humorously remarking on many.

Belleayre Mountain Ski resort has offered the K.H.S. Ski Club an opportunity for skiing and ski lessons at Belleayre every Friday. The club went on the first of these trips last Friday when members were excused from classes early. The skiers were divided into different groups of eight or nine, ranging in skiing experience and ability. During their first lesson they were taught chiefly how to christie and were given some other pointers on downhill control.

It will also show in what subjects the student is average, above average, or below average.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Stock prices receded slowly today in the first losing session in eight straight trading days.

Losses for a large assortment of leading stocks ran from a few cents to more than $1.50 a share. The vigorous demand that had kept the market at a succession of 20-year highs over the past few weeks subsided to a whisper.

Lower prices were paid for Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, J. I. Case, Boeing Airplane, Schenley, Zenith Radio, Phelps Dodge, Allied Chemical, duPont, Santa Fe, New York Central, Standard Oil (N.J.) and Studebaker.

Among the few with an appreciable following were Homestake Mining, Union Carbide, American Can, Seaboard Air Line and Gulf Oil.

Prices on the curb exchange were mixed and leaning to the downside. Trimmed were Air Associates, Barium Steel, Basic Refractories, Cities Service, Creole Petroleum, Kirby Petroleum, Louisiana Land, New Jersey Zinc, St. Lawrence Corp. and Technicolor.

Railroad bonds moved narrowly in quiet dealings. Some long-term U. S. Treasury bonds gained ground in a slow over-the-counter market.

Ex-Convict Arrested In $26,000 Theft

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—A 24-year-old Brooklyn ex-convict was arrested last night after being identified by Actress Magda Gabor as one of two men who robbed her of $26,000 in gems and furs.

Of the two bandits who forced their way into her upper East Side apartment, Saturday, Miss Gabor said, one was cross-eyed.

She identified a Rogue's Gallery picture of Salvatore Gervase as the "cross-eyed" man.

Gervase, police said, gives the impression of being cross-eyed because of the conformation of his eyes and eyebrows.

Detectives seized Gervase in Coney Island last night, and booked him on a charge of robbery after Miss Gabor identified him at a police station. She said Gervase ransacked the apartment while the other man—still at large—held a gun on her.

The loot included a $10,000 diamond ring, other gems valued at $6,000, a $6,000 mink and a $4,000 mink cape.

Miss Gabor, who has performed on radio, is the enstranged wife of Attorney Sidney Warren. She currently is in the jewelry business with her mother, Julie.

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

Because of stumbling, stalling, and politic-ing—on the part of the Administration — the public is months ahead of Washington in its thinking.

People are ready for war preparations and want "to get at the business."

Looking back, if Washington—most particularly Mr. Harry S. Truman—had paid any attention to the counsel of wise and prudent men (and numerous columnists like the Ruminator) last June and July when the Korean war got underway we would be well on our way today in war production—and would have inflation under control also.

But, oh no, it would not be politically popular to face up to responsibilities. Mr. Truman was thinking of November and not of your pocketbook and mine, or of the possibility that he and his United Nations' friends might be guessing wrong on Korea.

So, now we see confusion and frustration rampant in Washington.

However, being contrary-minded the Ruminator thinks the confusion is so intense at the moment, that it will soon lead to some clarity.

There is this much to be said for the floundering and mistakes: It has brought about a nation-wide, intense concern about American foreign policy.

When the President's budget message, and following detailed accounts, are digested and debated, there is no doubt that the American people will know what they are in for. But, here again I'll wager that they will not be as shocked at the stupendous costs as Washington has feared. We can "take it" when we have to.

Because of the time wasted on inflation we now are witnessing the public once again rushing to buy goods. The idea has finally sunk into everyone's mind that prices will continue to advance and that goods will become short.

Yet, with our vastly expanded productive resources — far above what they were in 1940-1941—it is doubtful that any of us will actually suffer from a shortage of essentials. We may have to accept substitutes for some of the things we want—plastic gadgets instead of aluminum, as an example—but the Ruminator will guess that you will be able to get along very comfortably in the next year or two.

In consequence, the present newly inspired rush to buy goods will exhaust the immediate fear of inflation and people later will subside again in their reckless buying urges.

This same fear of inflation is sending stocks and commodities up. But here also we need to recall the old maxim that "there ain't no such thing as a one-way street."

When hectic buying ebbs you know what happens: Prices turn and go the other way. One cannot "time" these reversals in trends, because public psychology cannot be measured as to "time," but past experience reveals that prices do not go only one way anymore than a street does. (You may route traffic oneway for a while, but the street runs both ways).

The credit restrictions imposed by the Federal Reserve Board—and further controls that seem evident—will have their effect in time. That is to say, that in the past when credit has been curtailed, prices before long have felt the effect of credit restrictions and have turned down. If the "money supply" is held in check (as it appears it will be) and if credit is deflated, I think you will see both stock prices and commodity futures turning down.

Of course, another important influence upon prices generally will be the final tax decision. The President, as you know from the budget message, wants very much heavier taxes in order to "pay as we go." How far Congress will go in enacting a really stiff tax bill is uncertain. It would seem that a sales tax is so "unpopular" politically that it is rather doubtful it will be seriously considered. A sales tax has the feature of reducing buying as well as raising funds, so it is to be hoped it will be studied carefully, but this writer fears that the gentlemen in the Congress will lack the courage to face the issue.

Maybe we should write to our Congressmen oftener. From reports, the mail sent to Senators and Representatives lately has been far heavier than usual. This is good. Let us add to this "public opinion" by writing our Congressmen this week. Let us tell them just how we feel on foreign policy and on inflation. It might do some good.

Tallamy, state superintendent of public works, four bids were received. As soon as contract papers have been processed by the department, it is expected that a contract will be awarded to the low bidder. The work, requested by the State University of New York, should be completed by the end of March, 1951.

The business meeting was in charge of Mrs. John W. Tysse, president. Mrs. Cronk, treasurer, gave the yearly report. There is a balance on hand of $58.67. Sixteen members were present. Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Charles Jenkins, Mrs. Cronk and Mrs. Edmonds will make clam chowder to be sold at the next meeting which will be an all-day sewing meeting at the home of Mrs. Gerow Schoonmaker Thursday, Feb. 8. This will be a pot luck lunch.

Report Is Made On Strikes in State

Strikes in New York state cost labor and management one man-day out of 600 in 1950, Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi reported today.

This comparese to one out of every 400 man-days in 1949 and is a post-war low.

Although there was 65 per cent idleness because of industrial disputes in the second half of the year than in the first half, the year ended on a peaceful note with only one out of every 3,000 available man-days lost in December, the lowest December figure on record. In the course of the year a total of 187,672 were idle because of industrial controversies.

The increased cost of living made wages more prominent an issue than usual in the second half of the year. In 1950, taken as a whole, strikes were shorter than in previous post-war years, although they lengthened in the last six months.

The result was that although the number of disputes in the state was larger by only 35 in the second half of the year and the number of workers involved only 2,600 greater, the number of man-days lost in the last six months was 1,286,000 as against 783,000 in the first half-year.

There were four strikes in the state in 1950 each of which accounted for more than 100,000 man-days of idleness, or together for nearly 25 per cent of the total.

The post-war high for man-days lost was set in 1946 when 449,942 workers were idle a total of 9,348,000 man-days or one per cent of the available working time, that is one out of each 100 available working hours.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

In the book, "My Mother's Girlhood" by Sarah A. Van Deusen Merritt, of Kingston, N. Y., (printed in 1904) given me by Mrs. Rhinehart is an interesting description of the first trips of the Clermont as described by Cato, their servant. "As the steamboat 'Clermont' was to leave New York for Albany that month, —October, 1807, father said that he and I would go to New York by stage-coach and return from there to Albany on the 'Clermont.' I think father was particularly desirous of returning home that way because at the time it was the only steamboat in operation on the globe. A few months previous the 'Clermont' had made her first trip from New York to Albany, a trip which proved that steam navigation had been accomplished notwithstanding a prediction from all classes that a boat could not be propelled by steam. Fulton was the first one to realize successfully the utility of steam navigation."

"When Cato was informed of the plan of our returning home he was well-nigh frantic, and he said, as near as I can recollect: Marster Clark, don't you go to New York and git on that newfangled craf'. I 'plore! The steam will blow you and Miss Nancy high up in the tip-top sky. You know we all seen that thing when it first come to Albany, and we didn't like the looks of it—'ticularly Miss Nancy didn't. You 'member how the black smoke and red fire was all comin' out of the roof of it. And, 'sides, it did make a dreadful puffin' noise. But—but Marster Clark, if you are 'termined to go back home that way, please don't take Miss Nancy with you. She can ride the pony and I will walk for me.' Finally when poor Cato fell on his knees, and wringing his hands Nancy became alarmed too. If the steamboat should explode she trembling said. That awful monster will cert'ly splode groaned Cato. That settled it, they came back by stage coach. Cato rode alongside on the pony with an air of one who had come off victorious in a very important matter. On one occasion he reined by beside the stage-coach saying: Marster Clark, this is cert'ly the wise way for us to travel. We'll let the foolish ones travel with that new fangled stam craf."

Later on Nancy tells of sitting up with an ill relative through a crisis. "At the time, fresh air was not admitted into a fever patient's room. The air within the room was kept at a high temperature, the patient usually swathed in flannel, and only warm drinks allowed. The patient begged, Nancy, please get me some snow outside of the window, for I feel as if I am burning up. Nancy raised the window a few inches and gathered a small handful of snow for her. "Nancy, this is delicious! So cooling to my parched and burning throat!"

"Through the night, Nancy repeated this procedure, although fearful of doing wrong, until the patient fell into a long deep sleep which worried her still more. But the doctor said, the patient had passed the crisis successfully and further stated: Hereafter, I shall adopt the method you unconsciously used of having fresh air admitted into the room and cooling drinks administered."

The book further reads like a modern movie. As there was no longer need of the doctor coming to the house, he kept coming to play chess with Nancy and on Dec. 26th, 1808 Nancy and Dr. Jacob Lansing Van Deusen were married. And they lived to celebrate their golden anniversary. (The author's name is Sarah A. Van Deusen Merritt, of Kingston, one of their fourteen children. So no doubt many Kingstonians are related to Nancy and Dr. Van Deusen).

Most taxicabs average more than 35,000 miles a year.

Report Is Made On Strikes in State

Strikes in New York state cost labor and management one man-day out of 600 in 1950, Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi reported today.

This comparese to one out of every 400 man-days in 1949 and is a post-war low.

Although there was 65 per cent idleness because of industrial disputes in the second half of the year than in the first half, the year ended on a peaceful note with only one out of every 3,000 available man-days lost in December, the lowest December figure on record. In the course of the year a total of 187,672 were idle because of industrial controversies.

There were four strikes in the state in 1950 each of which accounted for more than 100,000 man-days of idleness, or together for nearly 25 per cent of the total.

The post-war high for man-days lost was set in 1946 when 449,942 workers were idle a total of 9,348,000 man-days or one per cent of the available working time, that is one out of each 100 available working hours.

Bills in Legislature

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 18 (AP)—A Democratic legislator proposed today that all voters be required to register personally—either on an annual or permanent basis.

Under present state law, voters living in communities of less than 5,000 population are not required to register in person. Those living in larger communities must register personally each year.

Senator Samuel L. Greenberg of Brooklyn introduced the proposed constitutional amendment to require personal registration. The Legislature would determine whether the registration was to be made annually or on a permanent basis.

Is Not Substitute

Greenberg emphasized that his proposal was not a substitute for permanent personal registration, already proposed in other bills.

"I am wholeheartedly in favor of permanent personal registration," Greenberg said. He added that his proposal was a step in the same direction, since it would require personal registration and permit that it be either annual or permanent.

Greenberg said an analysis of the 1950 election figures showed that in seven counties with non-personal registration only 62 per cent of the registered voters balloted for governor. In New York city, he said, where personal registration is required, 96 per cent of those registered voted for governor.

The Legislature also received a proposal for compulsory automobile insurance.

Democratic Assemblyman Francis X. McGowan proposed that New Yorkers be required to have liability insurance or prove financial responsibility before they could obtain automobile licenses.

State law now requires motorists to prove financial responsibility only after they have had an accident involving personal injury or property damage in excess of $50.

Bill Is Introduced

Assemblyman Samuel Roman, Manhattan Republican, introduced a bill to license psychologists.

Other bills would:

Create a temporary 15-member commission to investigate the use of narcotic drugs and appropriate $50,000 for the probe.

Prohibit employment of women in hotels and restaurants between 10 p. m. and 6 a. m., with the exception of hat check, cigarette and flower girls, attendants, chamber maids and charwomen.

Continue until July 1, 1952, permission for public welfare officials to assign persons receiving home relief to work projects.

Require drivers of school buses to turn on warning lights at least 100 feet before stopping to pick up or discharge passengers.

Require all prospective jurors to sign and file written oaths of allegiance to the state and federal constitutions.

The measure was sponsored by Senator Frank D. O'Connor of Elmhurst and Assemblyman Alexander Del Giorno of Astoria, both Democrats. They said it was aimed at Communists.

They proposed that, in addition to the oath, each venireman would be required to list all organizations in which he was an active or inactive member and which had been declared subversive by the U. S. attorney general.

Temporary Unit Urged

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 18 (AP)—A Manhattan Democrat urged the Legislature today to create a temporary state commission to make a "complete study of the teaching methods of the city of New York." Senator Harold I. Panken said the purpose of the bill was to examine "reasons why some children entering high school have not learned 'reading, writing and arithmetic.'" He proposed that the commission also look into questions of automatic promotions for teachers; facilities for teaching; school supplies; overcrowded classes, and seek to determine a "fair and living" wage for teachers.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Jan. 17—Leonard F. Ruckert of Flushing spent the week-end at his place in the village center.

Andrew Holm came up from New York Friday to visit his summer home on the Acorn Hill road near Olive Bridge.

Mrs. Edward Morris of Kingston has donated a piano for the use of the Shady School. The gift was made possible through the efforts of Mrs. Martin Gulnac of Shokan.

Birthdays falling on Tuesday, Jan. 16, include those of Mrs. George Giles and Mrs. Otto Rast, near neighbors in the church hill neighborhood of Shokan. Mrs. Giles before marriage was Margaret Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Green of West Hurley. She has a daughter, Mrs. Philip Chopay, and a grandson, George Chopay, of Springfield, L. I. Mrs. Rast with her husband came here five years ago from New York. The couple own and occupy the former William C. Shultis place which they have improved in many ways.

Edwin Swenson, formerly of Locust Valley, L. I., left Shokan Tuesday for Chestertown in the Lake George country where he expects to remain for the next several months.

Thursday evening, Jan. 18, the Board of Education of the Onteora Central School District will meet for the purpose of adopting a plan of procedure based on the contractors bids for the new schoolhouse at Boiceville. The bids were scheduled to be opened Tuesday night at a public meeting in Parish Hall, Phoenicia. Bids on other school construction in this state have been running 20-23 per cent above the estimates.

Officials and other members of the three units of the Ashokan Methodist Church plan to attend the quarterly conference at the West Hurley Church on Thursday evening, Jan. 18.

Bills in Legislature

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 18 (AP)—A Democratic legislator proposed today that all voters be required to register personally—either on an annual or permanent basis.

Under present state law, voters living in communities of less than 5,000 population are not required to register in person. Those living in larger communities must register personally each year.

Senator Samuel L. Greenberg of Brooklyn introduced the proposed constitutional amendment to require personal registration. The Legislature would determine whether the registration was to be made annually or on a permanent basis.

Is Not Substitute

Greenberg emphasized that his proposal was not a substitute for permanent personal registration, already proposed in other bills.

"I am wholeheartedly in favor of permanent personal registration," Greenberg said. He added that his proposal was a step in the same direction, since it would require personal registration and permit that it be either annual or permanent.

Greenberg said an analysis of the 1950 election figures showed that in seven counties with non-personal registration only 62 per cent of the registered voters balloted for governor. In New York city, he said, where personal registration is required, 96 per cent of those registered voted for governor.

The Legislature also received a proposal for compulsory automobile insurance.

Democratic Assemblyman Francis X. McGowan proposed that New Yorkers be required to have liability insurance or prove financial responsibility before they could obtain automobile licenses.

State law now requires motorists to prove financial responsibility only after they have had an accident involving personal injury or property damage in excess of $50.

Bill Is Introduced

Assemblyman Samuel Roman, Manhattan Republican, introduced a bill to license psychologists.

Other bills would:

Create a temporary 15-member commission to investigate the use of narcotic drugs and appropriate $50,000 for the probe.

Prohibit employment of women in hotels and restaurants between 10 p. m. and 6 a. m., with the exception of hat check, cigarette and flower girls, attendants, chamber maids and charwomen.

Continue until July 1, 1952, permission for public welfare officials to assign persons receiving home relief to work projects.

Require drivers of school buses to turn on warning lights at least 100 feet before stopping to pick up or discharge passengers.

Require all prospective jurors to sign and file written oaths of allegiance to the state and federal constitutions.

The measure was sponsored by Senator Frank D. O'Connor of Elmhurst and Assemblyman Alexander Del Giorno of Astoria, both Democrats. They said it was aimed at Communists.

They proposed that, in addition to the oath, each venireman would be required to list all organizations in which he was an active or inactive member and which had been declared subversive by the U. S. attorney general.

Worry of FALSE TEETH Slipping or Irritating?

Temporary Unit Urged

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 18 (AP)—A Manhattan Democrat urged the Legislature today to create a temporary state commission to make a "complete study of the teaching methods of the city of New York." Senator Harold I. Panken said the purpose of the bill was to examine "reasons why some children entering high school have not learned 'reading, writing and arithmetic.'" He proposed that the commission also look into questions of automatic promotions for teachers; facilities for teaching; school supplies; overcrowded classes, and seek to determine a "fair and living" wage for teachers.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Jan. 17—Leonard F. Ruckert of Flushing spent the week-end at his place in the village center.

Andrew Holm came up from New York Friday to visit his summer home on the Acorn Hill road near Olive Bridge.

Mrs. Edward Morris of Kingston has donated a piano for the use of the Shady School. The gift was made possible through the efforts of Mrs. Martin Gulnac of Shokan.

Birthdays falling on Tuesday, Jan. 16, include those of Mrs. George Giles and Mrs. Otto Rast, near neighbors in the church hill neighborhood of Shokan. Mrs. Giles before marriage was Margaret Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Green of West Hurley. She has a daughter, Mrs. Philip Chopay, and a grandson, George Chopay, of Springfield, L. I. Mrs. Rast with her husband came here five years ago from New York. The couple own and occupy the former William C. Shultis place which they have improved in many ways.

Edwin Swenson, formerly of Locust Valley, L. I., left Shokan Tuesday for Chestertown in the Lake George country where he expects to remain for the next several months.

Thursday evening, Jan. 18, the Board of Education of the Onteora Central School District will meet for the purpose of adopting a plan of procedure based on the contractors bids for the new schoolhouse at Boiceville. The bids were scheduled to be opened Tuesday night at a public meeting in Parish Hall, Phoenicia. Bids on other school construction in this state have been running 20-23 per cent above the estimates.

Officials and other members of the three units of the Ashokan Methodist Church plan to attend the quarterly conference at the West Hurley Church on Thursday evening, Jan. 18.

By answering two, tough questions, the young man, now a student at Harvard University, won $2,330.

Blossom Festival Abandoned for '51 By C. of C. Office

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce voted at its meeting Tuesday to discontinue as a project the Hudson Valley Apple Blossom Festival this year because of the war emergency.

During the session highlighted by the election of Lawrence J. MacAvery as president to succeed Robert E. Teetsel, it was the consensus of members that the festival might be resumed in 1952 as one of the features of the 300th anniversary celebration to commemorate the granting of a deed to Thomas Chambers, one of the first white settlers in this area.

The advisability was considered of erecting large signs at each side of the Broadway crossing elimination project, asking everyone, including visitors, to tolerate the inconvenience caused by the detour, for the permanent convenience and safety when the work has been completed. The matter was referred to the Traffic and Transportation Committee for study and recommendation.

The possibility of the Hudson River Dayline operating to Kingston was revived. A committee consisting of Raymond W. Garraghan, Maynard Mizel, George N. Shivery, I. Levan Merrihew and Lawrence Van Gonsic, was appointed to study the possibilities and report back at the next director's meeting.

Directors Pratt Boice and James P. Byrne spoke impressively about the progress made by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce during the administration of President Robert E. Teetsel and the board unanimously expressed it's appreciation for the service rendered by him to help make Kingston a still better place in which to live and earn a living.

In reporting for the Industrial Procurement Committee Kurdt said that more and more specific inquiries are being received and handled regarding industrial prospects, but that progress is being hindered by the fact that we have no available vacant industrial buildings and no good industrial sites of over five acres, with city water and sewage facilities." At present Kingston is being considered he said, by a large corporation, as the possible location for a new plant employing about 1,000 persons. They would like to purchase at least 20 acres of level land to which public water and sewerage service is available, on a main highway or street, to erect a factory building of 200,000 square feet. If anyone knows of such a site the Chamber of Commerce would appreciate getting the information promptly because a decision must be made within the next two weeks Kurdt stressed.

Treasurer Victor H. Roth reported a balance on hand of $3,267.14, sufficient to complete the budget year ending April 30, with a small balance.

Old Combs Wanted

Dover-Foxcroft, Me. (AP)—Mrs. Ida Shrang is combing the world for combs. Collecting combs is her hobby and she has set her goal at 1,000. But caring for a home and four children limits the amount of world-combing she can do personally. Her existing collection of 374 covers virtually every American period during the past 200 years and includes combs from England, Italy, France and China.

Blossom Festival Abandoned for '51 By C. of C. Office

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce voted at its meeting Tuesday to discontinue as a project the Hudson Valley Apple Blossom Festival this year because of the war emergency.

During the session highlighted by the election of Lawrence J. MacAvery as president to succeed Robert E. Teetsel, it was the consensus of members that the festival might be resumed in 1952 as one of the features of the 300th anniversary celebration to commemorate the granting of a deed to Thomas Chambers, one of the first white settlers in this area.

The advisability was considered of erecting large signs at each side of the Broadway crossing elimination project, asking everyone, including visitors, to tolerate the inconvenience caused by the detour, for the permanent convenience and safety when the work has been completed. The matter was referred to the Traffic and Transportation Committee for study and recommendation.

The possibility of the Hudson River Dayline operating to Kingston was revived. A committee consisting of Raymond W. Garraghan, Maynard Mizel, George N. Shivery, I. Levan Merrihew and Lawrence Van Gonsic, was appointed to study the possibilities and report back at the next director's meeting.

Directors Pratt Boice and James P. Byrne spoke impressively about the progress made by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce during the administration of President Robert E. Teetsel and the board unanimously expressed it's appreciation for the service rendered by him to help make Kingston a still better place in which to live and earn a living.

In reporting for the Industrial Procurement Committee Kurdt said that more and more specific inquiries are being received and handled regarding industrial prospects, but that progress is being hindered by the fact that we have no available vacant industrial buildings and no good industrial sites of over five acres, with city water and sewage facilities." At present Kingston is being considered he said, by a large corporation, as the possible location for a new plant employing about 1,000 persons. They would like to purchase at least 20 acres of level land to which public water and sewerage service is available, on a main highway or street, to erect a factory building of 200,000 square feet. If anyone knows of such a site the Chamber of Commerce would appreciate getting the information promptly because a decision must be made within the next two weeks Kurdt stressed.

Treasurer Victor H. Roth reported a balance on hand of $3,267.14, sufficient to complete the budget year ending April 30, with a small balance.

Old Combs Wanted

Dover-Foxcroft, Me. (AP)—Mrs. Ida Shrang is combing the world for combs. Collecting combs is her hobby and she has set her goal at 1,000. But caring for a home and four children limits the amount of world-combing she can do personally. Her existing collection of 374 covers virtually every American period during the past 200 years and includes combs from England, Italy, France and China.

The Good Earth

Khatmandu, Nepal (AP) — The people of this tiny kingdom value their land so highly that it is sold by the basket. The Khatmandu city market is possibly the only one in the world where baskets of earth form a staple commodity. Farmers buy them to spread on land from which they take from three to four crops annually.

Deep Water Jeep in Training Exercise

A Marine drives an amphibious jeep in Chesapeake Bay, off Little Creek, Va., during training exercises. According to the Navy, jeeps such as this will operate with only the driver's head above the surface. The curved tube attached to the windshield is the exhaust pipe. Straight tube is the air intake. Allies Anticipate

97 miles from the fire-blackened South Korean capital. Yongwol is 33 miles northeast of Chungju, road junction city held by the allies. Red deployments appear to be designed to cutoff Eighth Army forces strung out from western Korea toward the old Pusan frontier, on the southeastern tip of the peninsula.

Specifically, patrol activity reports indicate the Communist forces are stretched from a 90,000-man force south of Seoul to Suwon, 17 air miles south of Seoul, and then east through Ichon and down to Yongwol, a mining town.

Patrols Roam at Will

Several small skirmishes were reported on the ground.

Associated Press Correspondent Tom Stone on the central eastern front reported there had been no major contact with the enemy in that sector for 48 hours. He said there were several minor contacts Wednesday but none of any importance in that area.

On the far eastern front, guerrilla activity has been stepped up. Stone said a closer watch on refugees was ordered Thursday when a group of old men, women and children was found carrying arms through the American lines.

Lines Are Bombed

Far East air forces planes bombed the lines and ranged far behind the enemy front in quest of supplies to destroy and Red troops to kill.

The Fifth Air Force reported one Russian Yak-type lane was damaged in camouflaged revetments on the Pyongyang airfield, outside the North Korean capital.

One Russian Mig-15 type jet fighter streaked past raiding allied planes but fired no shots and disappeared in a matter of seconds.

Allied fighters and light bombers flew approximately 200 sorties up to early afternoon Thursday. During the morning they concentrated on the east coast and Seoul areas.

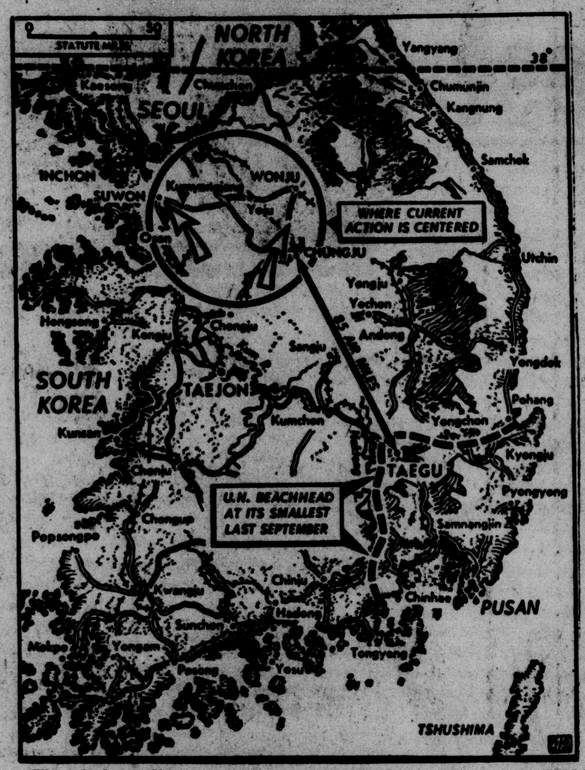
Seventeen B-29s dumped 128 tons of bombs on Sohung and Haeju, both north of the 38th Parallel, and on a bridge at Nanam.

Planes from the carrier Leyte pounded buildings supplies and troop forces massing near Yongwol.

Thursday's intense air activity followed up 750 sorties by Far East Air Force planes and 204 sorties by carrier-based navy and marine planes Wednesday.

Aerial observers reported signs of enemy intensions to accelerate its own air action. Some 600 Communist planes are believed to be available at nearby bases in Manchuria.

Where Allies Await New Red Drive



The circle outlines general area, comparable in size to the U.N.'s Pusan beachhead of last September, where the Allies are dug in at fresh positions, expecting a new Red offensive. Open arrows locate the sectors where strong U.N. patrols are stabbing at the Reds to keep them off balance and to take the element of surprise out of any planned offensive.

Resolution Is . . .

He indicated that Britain would follow the U. S. lead if Peiping turned down the offer.

Canada's External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson said in Ottawa yesterday that Peiping's new conditions were unacceptable. This may presage Canadian support for the U. S. move.

Just what effect the new diplomatic situation may have on the military picture in Korea was not clear. It appeared doubtful, however, that the U.N. would authorize bombing of Red Chinese arsenals and supply routes in Manchuria or any other direct military action against Chinese territory.

Ladies Take Notice

Monterey Park, Calif. (AP)—After a six-weeks trial this city has installed an unusual "easy parking" system. Under the plan two 20-foot parallel stalls are provided between each 11-foot 9-inch "no parking" zone. The smaller areas painted red, enable motorists to swing into a space without having to halt and back in, thus blocking the flow of traffic.

The Senate Small Business Committee hoped to get more details from Wilson today about the coming controls. This committee called Wilson and William H. Harrison, boss of the Defense Production Administration, to a public hearing.

In advance of the hearing, committee members commented on the Philadelphia speech.

Says Wilson Right

Senator Sparkman (D.-Ala.) said Wilson was right about the need for speed. Senator Saltonstall (R.-Mass.) commended Wilson. Senator Tobey (R.-N. H.) exclaimed: "100 per cent right." Senator O'Conor (D.-Md.) said: "Long overdue!"

As officials of the Economic Stabilization Agency (ESA) and other agencies explained it, the government's plan appeared to shape up about like this:

A general price price freeze is planned to slow down the rise in cost of living until detailed price ceilings can be worked out for all items.

Prices will be rolled back to some extent. Jan. 1 has been mentioned as a possible date.

Wages will be frozen temporarily or controlled under some formula yet to be announced.

In All Allowable Ways

Most farm prices cannot be legally frozen at present levels, but the order will affect food prices in every way allowable under the Defense Production Act. Rationing of goods at retail is not expected to come for a few months.

Mr. Truman laid down the manpower policy in a memo to heads of government departments and agencies. Although calling for only voluntary measures now, he said controls would be used "when and to the extent needed to assure successful execution of the mobilization program."

Mandatory controls would require new legislation. The President said they would include:

Ceilings on the number of workers a business firm could employ, controls over job shifting and hiring, and compulsory acceptance of women, handicapped workers and minority groups.

Mr. Truman laid down this basic aim of the manpower program: "Each individual will be expected to serve in the capacity in which he can contribute most to the total mobilization program."

In general, Mr. Truman said, the aim of the program will be to achieve the most effective balance between essential industry and the armed services, whose size he will fix on the basis of available total manpower.

arrest, Communist-led unions called for a general strike throughout Rome to protest the arrival of Eisenhower. But late last night orders were changed to a one-hour walkout of workers to attend a mass meeting and to hear Communist labor leader Giuseppe Di Vittorio. During this time street car and bus service was ordered halted. But the government warned it would deal hard with any attempt to stop transport or public services.

Eisenhower arrived from Lisbon last night. Following a half-hour conference today with President Luigi Einaudi, "Ike" was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by Pacciardi. Among those present were De Gasperi, Sforza, U.S. Ambassador James C. Dunn, and Gen. Efision Marras, Italian chief of staff.

Not Militaristic

After his meeting with the premier, De Gasperi said "the general is a very friendly person with whom it is easy to talk frankly."

"He does not give the impression of a militaristic general," De Gasperi said, "and it is easy to think of him first as a man, and as the head of a university—a humanist, a complete personality."

The premier said the talks were progressing favorably and all participants seemed satisfied with the exchange of ideas.

Would Bar Legislators

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 18 (AP)—Legislators would be forbidden to accept fees for presenting persons before any state agency, except the courts, under a bill introduced today. The measure was sponsored by Republican Senator Thomas C. Desmond of Newburgh. A Desmond aide said the senator thought "this session seems a particularly appropriate one" to introduce the bill, because of an investigation last summer into fees charged for such services by lawyer members of the Legislature.

Dawson Acquitted Of Assault Charge

Wilder Dawson, 44, of 47½ Van Buren street, was acquitted of a third degree assault charge following a city court trial before Judge Raymond J. Mino last night.

Dawson was arrested late in December on a warrant sworn out by George Fitzgerald, 96 Bruyn avenue, following a fight between the two at a downtown restaurant.

Fitzgerald charged that Dawson had a knife and that he suffered scratches on the left side of the chin and neck during the fight. Dawson testified that it was Fitzgerald who had the knife at the time. Testimony indicated that there had been previous ill feeling between the two.

Dawson's wife and another woman testified in his behalf and three witnesses appeared for Fitzgerald.

Attorney Sherwood Davis appeared for the defendant and Charles Saccoman for The People.

Allies Anticipate

97 miles from the fire-blackened South Korean capital. Yongwol is 33 miles northeast of Chungju, road junction city held by the allies. Red deployments appear to be designed to cutoff Eighth Army forces strung out from western Korea toward the old Pusan frontier, on the southeastern tip of the peninsula.

Specifically, patrol activity reports indicate the Communist forces are stretched from a 90,000-man force south of Seoul to Suwon, 17 air miles south of Seoul, and then east through Ichon and down to Yongwol, a mining town.

Patrols Roam at Will

Several small skirmishes were reported on the ground.

Associated Press Correspondent Tom Stone on the central eastern front reported there had been no major contact with the enemy in that sector for 48 hours. He said there were several minor contacts Wednesday but none of any importance in that area.

On the far eastern front, guerrilla activity has been stepped up. Stone said a closer watch on refugees was ordered Thursday when a group of old men, women and children was found carrying arms through the American lines.

Lines Are Bombed

Far East air forces planes bombed the lines and ranged far behind the enemy front in quest of supplies to destroy and Red troops to kill.

The Fifth Air Force reported one Russian Yak-type lane was damaged in camouflaged revetments on the Pyongyang airfield, outside the North Korean capital.

One Russian Mig-15 type jet fighter streaked past raiding allied planes but fired no shots and disappeared in a matter of seconds.

Allied fighters and light bombers flew approximately 200 sorties up to early afternoon Thursday. During the morning they concentrated on the east coast and Seoul areas.

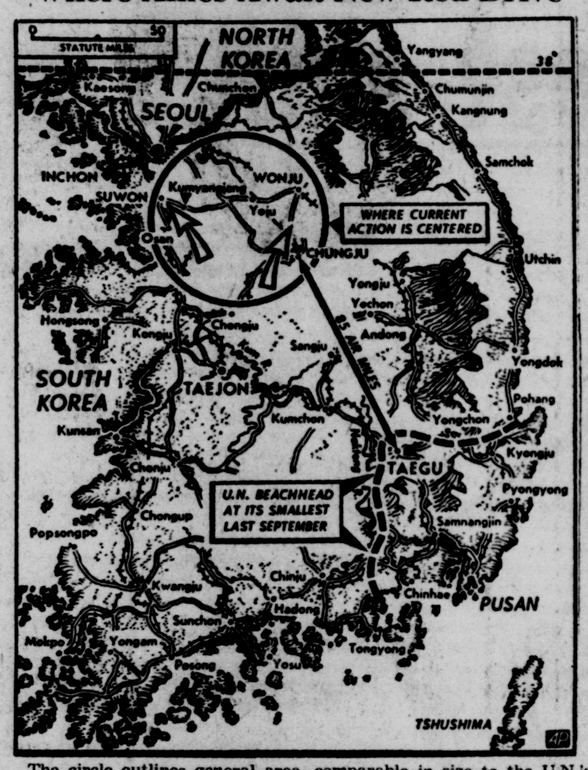
Seventeen B-29s dumped 128 tons of bombs on Sohung and Haeju, both north of the 38th Parallel, and on a bridge at Nanam.

Planes from the carrier Leyte pounded buildings supplies and troop forces massing near Yongwol.

Thursday's intense air activity followed up 750 sorties by Far East Air Force planes and 204 sorties by carrier-based navy and marine planes Wednesday.

Aerial observers reported signs of enemy intensions to accelerate its own air action. Some 600 Communist planes are believed to be available at nearby bases in Manchuria.

Where Allies Await New Red Drive



The circle outlines general area, comparable in size to the U.N.'s Pusan beachhead of last September, where the Allies are dug in at fresh positions, expecting a new Red offensive. Open arrows locate the sectors where strong U.N. patrols are stabbing at the Reds to keep them off balance and to take the element of surprise out of any planned offensive.

Best Guess . . .

must proceed with courage, speed and forthrightness to adopt the controls which will insure stability and fairness in our civilian economy."

The Senate Small Business Committee hoped to get more details from Wilson today about the coming controls. This committee called Wilson and William H. Harrison, boss of the Defense Production Administration, to a public hearing.

In advance of the hearing, committee members commented on the Philadelphia speech.

Says Wilson Right

Senator Sparkman (D.-Ala.) said Wilson was right about the need for speed. Senator Saltonstall (R.-Mass.) commended Wilson. Senator Tobey (R.-N. H.) exclaimed: "100 per cent right." Senator O'Conor (D.-Md.) said: "Long overdue!"

As officials of the Economic Stabilization Agency (ESA) and other agencies explained it, the government's plan appeared to shape up about like this:

A general price price freeze is planned to slow down the rise in cost of living until detailed price ceilings can be worked out for all items.

Prices will be rolled back to some extent. Jan. 1 has been mentioned as a possible date.

Wages will be frozen temporarily or controlled under some formula yet to be announced.

In All Allowable Ways

Most farm prices cannot be legally frozen at present levels, but the order will affect food prices in every way allowable under the Defense Production Act. Rationing of goods at retail is not expected to come for a few months.

Mr. Truman laid down the manpower policy in a memo to heads of government departments and agencies. Although calling for only voluntary measures now, he said controls would be used "when and to the extent needed to assure successful execution of the mobilization program."

Mandatory controls would require new legislation. The President said they would include:

Ceilings on the number of workers a business firm could employ, controls over job shifting and hiring, and compulsory acceptance of women, handicapped workers and minority groups.

Mr. Truman laid down this basic aim of the manpower program: "Each individual will be expected to serve in the capacity in which he can contribute most to the total mobilization program."

In general, Mr. Truman said, the aim of the program will be to achieve the most effective balance between essential industry and the armed services, whose size he will fix on the basis of available total manpower.

The premier said the talks were progressing favorably and all participants seemed satisfied with the exchange of ideas.

Would Bar Legislators

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 18 (AP)—Legislators would be forbidden to accept fees for presenting persons before any state agency, except the courts, under a bill introduced today. The measure was sponsored by Republican Senator Thomas C. Desmond of Newburgh. A Desmond aide said the senator thought "this session seems a particularly appropriate one" to introduce the bill, because of an investigation last summer into fees charged for such services by lawyer members of the Legislature.

Resolution Is . . .

He indicated that Britain would follow the U. S. lead if Peiping turned down the offer.

Canada's External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson said in Ottawa yesterday that Peiping's new conditions were unacceptable. This may presage Canadian support for the U. S. move.

Just what effect the new diplomatic situation may have on the military picture in Korea was not clear. It appeared doubtful, however, that the U.N. would authorize bombing of Red Chinese arsenals and supply routes in Manchuria or any other direct military action against Chinese territory.

Ladies Take Notice

Monterey Park, Calif. (AP)—After a six-weeks trial this city has installed an unusual "easy parking" system. Under the plan two 20-foot parallel stalls are provided between each 11-foot 9-inch "no parking" zone. The smaller areas painted red, enable motorists to swing into a space without having to halt and back in, thus blocking the flow of traffic.

Plan Evaporates

Baltimore, Jan. 18 (AP)—A young Yonkers, N. Y., couple who stole away from their homes with marriage in mind got as far as the Baltimore License Bureau yesterday, then the whole plan blew up. When 16-year-old Janet Irene Walter disappeared from home, her father had an inkling she might be eloping to Baltimore with fiance William Cummings, 22. He notified police here, describing the girl's red coat and beret. Patrolmen spotted the lovers as they entered the courthouse. Later, Robert Walker came to Baltimore to return his daughter and Cummings. He persuaded her to go back home and finish school. Cummings, a maintenance man in a taxicab garage, said he'll wait.

Strike Losses in Day

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 18 (AP)—Strikes in New York state last year cost labor and management one man-day out of every 600. A new postwar low. In 1949, the ratio was one man-day out of every 400. State Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi reported today that 187,672 persons were idled in 1950 because of industrial controversies. The number of man-days lost totaled 2,068,000.

Little Profit Seen In Fruit in 1951

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 18 (AP)—There won't be much profit in fruit growing this year, according to the director of the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva.

Speaking last night at the 96th annual convention of the New York State Horticultural Society, Arthur J. Heinicke forecast that prices would be higher, but profits lower.

Fruit crop prospects in the state, Heinicke said, indicated smaller yields of most fruits except peaches. In addition, he said, labor costs will be higher and insecticides and packing material will be more expensive.

Fellowships Awarded

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—The first national research fellowships for study of the causes of arthritis were awarded yesterday by the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation to seven physicians and scientists. The fellowships are worth $4,000 to $6,000. They are to be awarded each year or will be renewed as promising lines of investigation are opened up.

For a quickie soup add strained vegetables to a thin or medium cream sauce; season with butter, chopped parsley, chives or paprika.

Two Would Prevent Elections Simultaneously

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 18 (AP)—Two Manhattan Republicans aim to prevent any more elections of a New York city mayor and U. S. senator or governor at the same time.

Voters in New York city, a Democratic stronghold, ballotted for the three offices last Nov. 7.

A bill introduced in the Legislature yesterday would require that elections to fill a New York city mayoral vacancy be held in the next general election during an odd-numbered year, even though the vacancy occurred in an even-numbered year.

The measure was proposed by Senator MacNeil Mitchell and Assemblyman John R. Brook.

Agreement is Reached

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—An agreement has been reached giving 21,000 AFL building service workers a ten-cent hourly increase and other money benefits. Mediator Merlyn S. Pitzele, chairman of the State Mediation Board, said yesterday the agreement would insure "uninterrupted peace" between the union and the owners of 1,100 Manhattan commercial buildings for three years. The agreement is between Local 32-B of the Building Service Employes International Union, and the realty advisory board on labor relations, which represents owners of the 1,100 buildings. The 10-cent hourly increase will be applied to wages now ranging from $50 to $58.83 a week.

NEW FINANCE PLAN Available to Business Operators

Poughkeepsie, New York

Electric Products, Inc., 357 Mill Street, Poughkeepsie, New York has just announced a revised finance plan for restaurant and tavern owners planning conversion of existing premises to serve more people or for the conservation and dispensing of foods and beverages or modernizing and air-conditioning their properties.

This finance plan was devised to help such owners make needed replacements of obsolete equipment and to install such other equipment as will enable them to operate with a possible decreased working force, in the interests of a contemplated influx of defense workers in this area.

Mr. Edwin J. Stoll states that the terms extended include several plans, starting with a basic period of 24 months without the necessity of making a down payment. In special instances, it is stated that the repayment period will be extended to 36 months. There is also a plan by which repayments are made daily on the EPI Meter Plan, with payments made from profits derived through the cost-reducing use of more modern equipment, and other variations of these three repayment plans.

Mr. Stoll advises that this plan is limited to the purchase of imperative needs for refrigerated equipment required for the proper serving and conservation of foods and beverages and to make existing premises comfortable during the summer with a minimum use of critical materials.

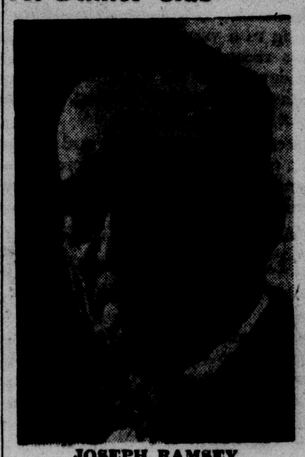
Wildlife Expert To Show Own Film At Dinner Club



JOSEPH RAMSEY

Joseph Ramsey, editor, herpetologist, lecturer, and wildlife photographer, will show his own film, "Land of the Trembling Earth," tonight at the Governor Clinton Hotel before members of the Kingston National Dinner Club. Ramsey, who obtained special permission and "generous cooperation" from the U. S. Department of the Interior to shoot the film, will show his audience the little known and seldom explored Okefenokee swamp which stretches from the headwaters of the Swanee river across Charlton county in Georgia's barren southern sector.

Scenes in the film have been said to "resemble things which might have been dreamed up by the late H. G. Wells in his wildest moments."

The film is said to depict "dramatic and exciting, as well as humorous events of animal-land. It clearly depicts the difference between films made by 'beauty lovers,' and those made by a nature lover." Typical of "Land of the Trembling Earth" are close-up shots of bears, otters, raccoons, American eagles, snowy egrets, large alligators, terrapins, lizards, and other deadly reptiles. As one spokesman stated, "Ramsey's audience listens and looks upon unbelievable beauty alongside the ugliness which follows a struggle for existence among the fauna of the earth."

TRIPLE CELEBRATION

The combining of three parties is the problm of this writer: "How can w combine our own silver weddig anniversary, our daughter's dout and a reception for my son wo is coming here on his wedding rip with his out-of-town bride? is the times all run together, it ould be most difficult to give three separate parties."

My suggestn is that you give the party fr your debutante daughter, sine that is the most important of he three occasions. At this partyyou yourself would wear a dress rimmed with silver and your son' bride could receive with the debtante and you, and you would tel everybody that it is a party for three occasions. If you are sending a notice to the society editor of the newspaper, you would include this information.

Young Girl's Visiting Cards

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter will have to order some visiting cards to be nclosed with her graduation announcements. Should these have Mss on them? I've noticed the gls have them both ways. Which i correct?

Answer: Mis is correct on a visiting card.

Daughte of Divorced

Dear Mrs. Pst: When a daughter of divorced parents is written up in the socia columns for such reasons as bein in a town play, or a musicale, or a new graduate, should mention of her father, who lives out of town, always be made? Usually it has been merely that she is the daughter of Mrs. (My Name) and we understand that her father and his family feel hurt.

Answer: I am sorry to say that this is one of te unhappy details following divore. These are occasions when th father's name could properly b used, such as the announcement f an engagement or a marriage, bt not an ordinary social occasion mless the party is given by his family instead of hers, in which case is name would be used.

Dots Add Dash In Silks For Spring

By GAILE DUGAS

NEA Staff Writer

New York — (NEA) — Silk, in many variations, will rustle enticingly through warm spring days. For silk, in prints, surrahs, taffetas and shantungs, is a big, happy revival in dresses.

The trumpet line leads dress silhouettes this spring. It's used in many variations on the one theme; center-front trumpet, one-side trumpet and back trumpet. But the tunic is important, too, and so are diagonal and oblique lines.

The costume, a dress with its own jacket or coat, is coming up in importance. Frequently, the tie-in comes through dress fabric which is matched to coat or jacket lining.

Eisenberg uses pure silk surrah in grey, speckled with tiny yellow dots, for a classic spring coat dress. The skirt flares gently; the bodice is tucked. A yellow kid belt encircles the waist. Pearl buttons are used for the front closing, from neck to hemline.

Silk surrah appears again in another dress from this same designer. This time, it's pink dotted in black. A straight wrap-around skirt has jet button closing and is topped by an overlap fitted bodice. The wing collar is notched and sleeves are smartly short. The dress is belted in black patent.

Says Defense Necessary

Tokyo, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Japanese people must rise to the defense of their own country, says former Prime Minister Hitoshi Ashida. Ashida is the leader of the People's Democratic Party, the country's second largest political party. In a speech at Osaka, he warned that Japan's coasts are threatened by Communist arms and added: "There isn't a case in history where a nation was completely defended by a foreign power. TRIPLE CELEBRATION

The combing of three parties is the problm of this writer: "How can w combine our own silver weddig anniversary, our daughter's dout and a reception for my son wo is coming here on his wedding rip with his out-of-town bride? is the times all run together, it ould be most difficult to give three separate parties."

My suggestn is that you give the party fr your debutante daughter, sine that is the most important of he three occasions. At this partyyou yourself would wear a dress rimmed with silver and your son' bride could receive with the debtante and you, and you would tel everybody that it is a party for three occasions. If you are sending a notice to the society editor of the newspaper, you would include this information.

Young Girls Visiting Cards

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter will have to order some visiting cards to be inclosed with her graduation announcements. Should these have Miss on them? I've noticed the girls have them both ways. Which i correct?

Answer: Mis is correct on a visiting card.

Daughte of Divorced

Dear Mrs. Pst: When a daughter of divorced parents is written up in the socia columns for such reasons as bein in a town play, or a musicale, or a new graduate, should mention of her father, who lives out of own, always be made? Usually t has been merely that she is the daughter of Mrs. (My Name) ad we understand that her father and his family feel hurt.

Answer: I an sorry to say that this is one of te unhappy details following divore. These are occasions when th father's name could properly b used, such as the announcement f an engagement or a marriage, bt not an ordinary social occasion nless the party is given by his fanily instead of hers, in which case is name would be used.

Let the People Decide

Saugerties, N. Y.
16 Partition St.

Editor, The Freeman

Trying to digest some bombastic statements and double talks, uttered recently by some of our duly elected leaders, I have come to a point of fear; fear for the safety of our country. What is it that creates in powerful men the desire to become dictators over the life and happiness of free born men and women and everything they hold dear? There is no ruler as yet in our beloved country. The only ruler is THE PEOPLE. The President has the power to make treaties with other nations—but only with the consent of the Senate. That is our country's law. This has not been done during the 12 year reign of Franklin D. Roosevelt, who has regimented us more and more and, finally sold our country down the river. While it took him 12 years to do so, Harry Truman accomplished in five years to go him double spades and better. He is now working hard on a formula to force upon the American people a diet of dry bread and red herring sauce in the years to come. And still, we are lucky. Should he die, resign or be impeached, we would have Barkley, should Barkley go, we would have Dean Acheson as President. GOD help us.

The President has stated many times that ours is the richest country in the world and, that our people are the best housed, best dressed, best fed people in the world. He must be thinking of himself, other elected officials and their appointed political hacks but surely not of the majority of the American people. In the name of Freedom, Justice, and our cherished American way of life we are treated at present with this kind of double talk. Truman: We need 140 billions of dollars to defend ourselves and the countries of our foreign friends. Everybody must pay until it hurts. We must have three and one-half million soldiers. We must feed our hungry allies. There will be no appeasement in Korea. Hoover: No American army should be sent to fight on foreign soil, we may send some help, if they prove that they are able and willing to fight for their own protection. Taft: We should at once pull out of Korea. The President has no right to send any American troops out of our country without the consent and approval of Congress. The same Taft: We need 140 billions or more.

Truman: I am the Commander-in-Chief and can send our troops anywhere without the approval of Congress.

Dewey: We should send 100 divisions to Europe and I shall have confiscatory power of anything in New York state during this emergency. (If Dewey had said that three months ago during the campaign, he would be practicing law today. He was my idol, but I am afraid that he has now issued his own political death warrant.)

Truman: Accepting a medal from the Woodrow Wilson Foundation for his timely and wise police-action in Korea, said: "The American people wholeheartedly agreed with my action."

Senator John J. Williams (R.-Del.): The President receives one hundred thousand dollars in salary each year and $50,000.00 tax exempt money, besides housing, etc., the vice president $10,000.00 tax free money. Senate and House members some time ago voted themselves $2,500.00 as a tax free expense account. If we must tax our people until it hurts, let us give up such tax free money or at least tax it heavily. (A rare, true representative of the people, indeed).

Another great American, our neighbor, Peter Brinkmann, writes home from Korea: "Dear Mom: Please send me some canned food; our ration is low and they don't know when we get more."

The order of the day in Washington seems to be: take, take, take, as far as our own people are concerned, but give, give, give, as far as it concerns our foreign neighbors."

Is anybody confused? The red herrings in Washington surely are, especially those who transformed themselves into red, white and blue flounders. The newspapers and radio commentators are confused and, so is every red blooded American. While Truman, Acheson and associates shake their fists at Communistic China and Russia, the United Nations pleads with China: "Please don't shoot any more, we'll take you on our bosom in the U.N. and let you veto all our actions. Russia is not confused. Malik grins and thinks: "Bleed yourself white, Uncle Sam, meanwhile I stay here and help you with my veto.

What a mess. What a terrible condition. America consults foreign nations through the U.N. in every step, but not the American people through their Congress.

Under these existing conditions our country really is in grave danger. If our leaders don't know how to get us out of the mess they got us into, let them go before the people as they do on election days. The American people are anxious to help them.

Let them restore the people's faith and confidence in America. Roll out the old reliable voting machines the country over. Let the people vote on these propositions:

1. Shall we pull out of Korea? Yes or No.
2. Shall we send any troops into foreign countries? Yes or No.
3. Shall we continue to support the United Nations, which has been very costly and absolutely useless? Yes or No.
4. Shall we tax our people in order to reduce them to a foreign standard of life and foreign nations to an American standard of life? Yes or No.
5. Shall our Congress or State Legislatures grant dictatorial powers to any man at any time? Yes or No.
6. Shall our people pay sufficient taxes to protect ourselves, our homes, our country, against any and all foreign aggressors? Yes or No.

If our leaders will then guide themselves by the mandate of the American people, all will be well. Hysteria and uneasiness will disappear. Our people will be happy again. If any person works in the interest of any foreign country against us, deport them to their original homeland; if born here, put them in cell for life. May GOD bless our land and protect us from Hiss'ses and their friends.

If you ask an expert for his favorite bridge hand, he won't come up with some weird, complicated squeeze nor with the time he held an eleven-card suit. The chances are that he'll glow at the memory of the time that some expert opponent made a good play which called for an even better play to offset it.

In today's hand Sam Stayman played the South cards. When the dummy came down, he expected no trouble. He was willing to lose two hearts and a trump. There was nothing to the hand, or so it seemed.

Then East, a villain by the name of Jacoby, complicated matters by winning the first trick with the king of hearts and returning the singleton jack of diamonds. Suddenly the picture had changed; for this defense threatened to defeat the contract.

If Stayman proceeded to lead trumps, as originally planned, I would take the ace of trumps and lead a low heart to West's jack. (I couldn't be sure West actually had the jack of hearts, but I would take that risk, as Stayman knew perfectly well.) Then West would lead a diamond, and I would ruff, thus setting the contract.

What could Stayman do about this? Sam thought about it for a moment and then came up with a neat answer. He won the diamond return with the king and crossed me up by not leading trumps. Instead he led the jack of clubs and then continued with two more top clubs.

Naturally, I ruffed the third high club, and Stayman carefully discarded his remaining small heart.

Sam hadn't given me anything except the heart trick that I could have taken for myself earlier in the play. What he had robbed me of was my way of reaching the West hand. For now declarer was ready to ruff a heart return, and I could never get my partner in to give me the vital diamond ruff.

As a matter of fact, even though I came out second best on this hand, it's one of my own favorites too.

Saugerties, N. Y.
16 Partition St.

Editor, The Freeman

Trying to digest some bombastic statements and double talks, uttered recently by some of our duly elected leaders, I have come to a point of fear; fear for the safety of our country. What is it that creates in powerful men the desire to become dictators over the life and happiness of free born men and women and everything they hold dear? There is no ruler as yet in our beloved country. The only ruler is THE PEOPLE. The President has the power to make treaties with other nations—but only with the consent of the Senate. That is our country's law. This has not been done during the 12 year reign of Franklin D. Roosevelt, who has regimented us more and more and, finally sold our country down the river. While it took him 12 years to do so, Harry Truman accomplished in five years to go him double spades and better. He is now working hard on a formula to force upon the American people a diet of dry bread and red herring sauce in the years to come. And still, we are lucky. Should he die, resign or be impeached, we would have Barkley, should Barkley go, we would have Dean Acheson as President. GOD help us.

The President has stated many times that ours is the richest country in the world and, that our people are the best housed, best dressed, best fed people in the world. He must be thinking of himself, other elected officials and their appointed political hacks but surely not of the majority of the American people. In the name of Freedom, Justice, and our cherished American way of life we are treated at present with this kind of double talk. Truman: We need 140 billions of dollars to defend ourselves and the countries of our foreign friends. Everybody must pay until it hurts. We must have three and one-half million soldiers. We must feed our hungry allies. There will be no appeasement in Korea. Hoover: No American army should be sent to fight on foreign soil, we may send some help, if they prove that they are able and willing to fight for their own protection. Taft: We should at once pull out of Korea. The President has no right to send any American troops out of our country without the consent and approval of Congress. The same Taft: We need 140 billions or more.

Truman: I am the Commander-in-Chief and can send our troops anywhere without the approval of Congress.

Dewey: We should send 100 divisions to Europe and I shall have confiscatory power of anything in New York state during this emergency. (If Dewey had said that three months ago during the campaign, he would be practicing law today. He was my idol, but I am afraid that he has now issued his own political death warrant.)

Truman: Accepting a medal from the Woodrow Wilson Foundation for his timely and wise police-action in Korea, said: "The American people wholeheartedly agreed with my action."

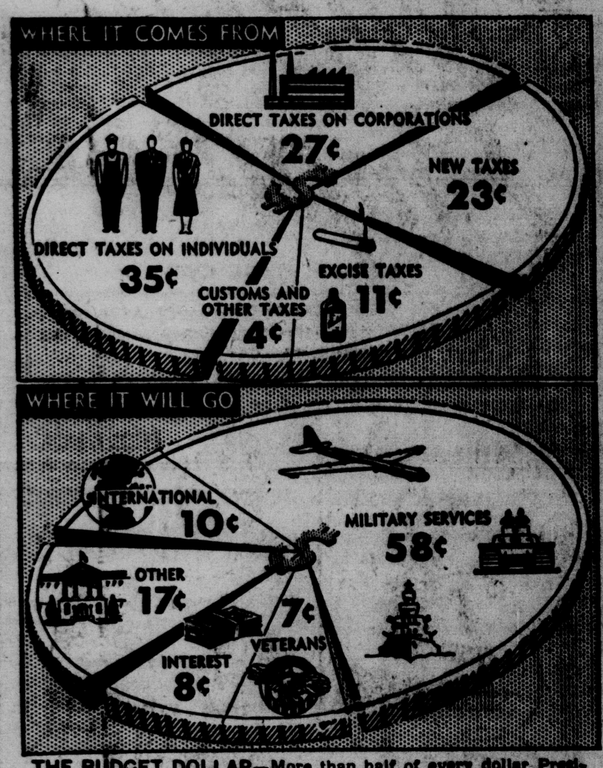
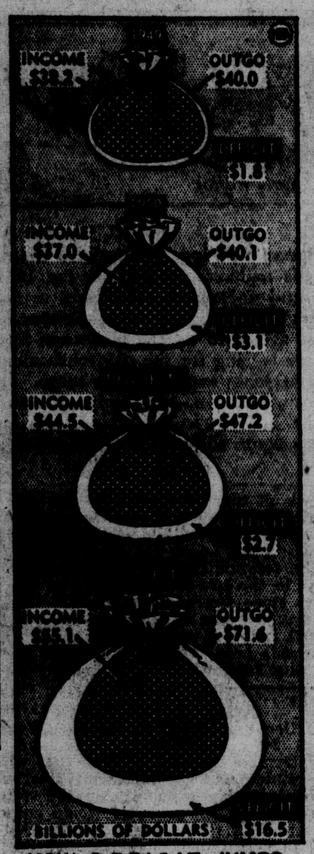
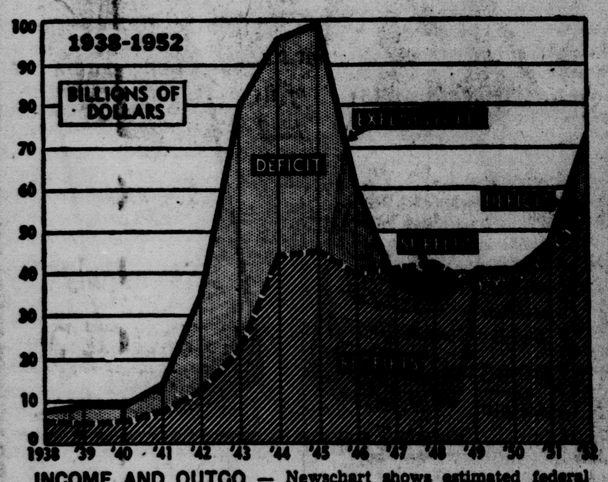
Highlights of President's Budget Message



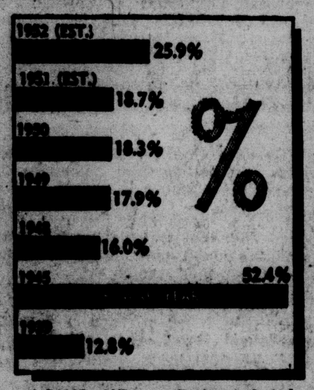
THE BUDGET DOLLAR—More than half of every dollar President Truman seeks for fiscal 1952 will go to the armed forces. Breakdown of federal income sources shows that greatest burden of providing the estimated $71.6 billions Uncle Sam will spend in fiscal 1952 will fall on the individual income taxpayer, with corporation taxes providing the second biggest slice.



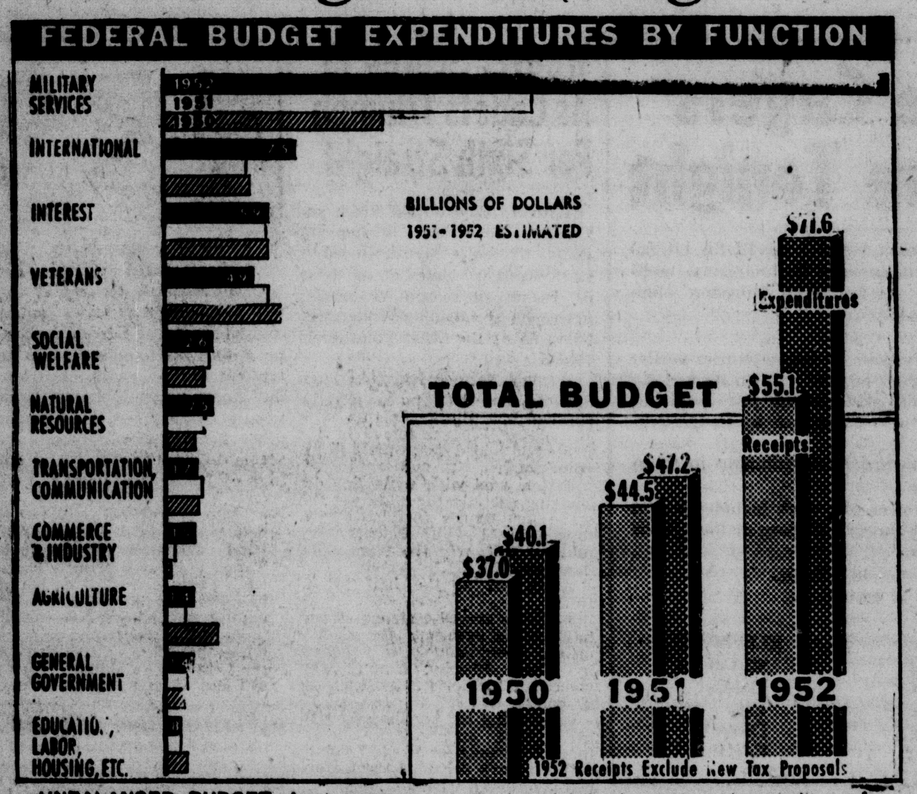
HOW DEFICIT JUMPS—Money-bag symbols show how deficit in the new budget for the 1952 fiscal year is more than twice the total of the three preceding fiscal years. To meet the new budget's $16.5 billion deficit, President Truman calls for the biggest tax increase in history.



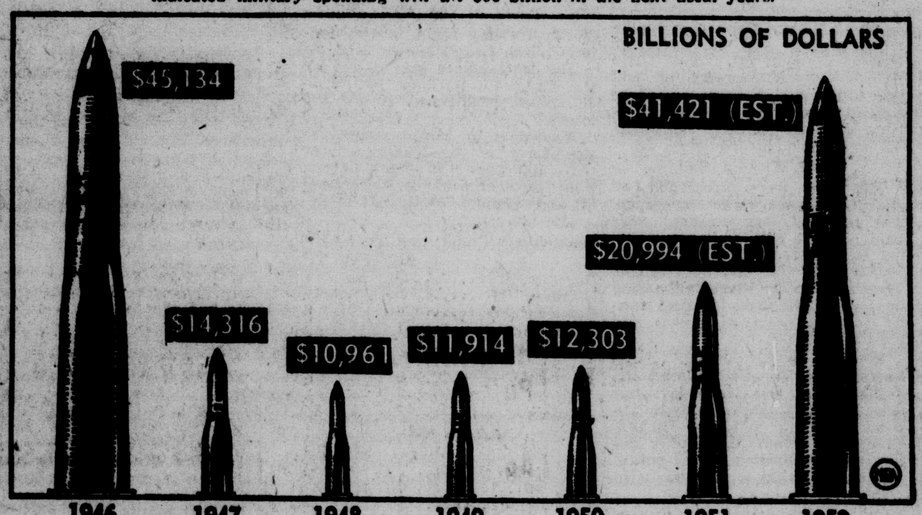
INCOME AND OUTGO — Newschart shows estimated federal receipts and expenditures for fiscal 1952, which begins July 1, in relation to Uncle Sam's financial ups and downs of the preceding 14 fiscal years. Note how diverging lines for fiscal 1951 and 1952 are beginning to parallel those of the war years leading to the peak deficit of 1945.



GOING UP! — Estimated federal expenditures for fiscal 1952 will eat up more than one-quarter of the national income. This "peacetime" bite is almost half that of fiscal 1945—the peak war year.



UNBALANCED BUDGET—Inset compares estimated total federal receipts and expenditures for the new fiscal 1952 budget with those for 1951 (est.) and 1950. Large chart, diagramming amounts allocated to principal budget items, shows the military services eating up $41.4 billions of the $71.6 billion budget total. To this $41 billion of direct military spending in fiscal 1952, add $11 billion for "national security." This includes $7.4 billion for foreign aid—largely to help arm our Allies—and $1.2 billion for speed-up on atomic weapons production. President Truman's budget message indicated military spending will hit $60 billion in the next fiscal years.



MILITARY COST NEARS WARTIME FIGURE—Estimated cost of the armed services in fiscal 1952 is compared above with past years, showing steady rise in military costs during "cold war" period. The Korean war and current peril of World War III boost 1952's estimate to nearly twice what will be spent this fiscal year, which ends June 30. The new military budget is within $4 billion of the 1946 expenditures, which covered the last part of World War II and the beginning of demobilization.

Revives Organ

Pasadena, Calif. (AP) — August Schroer liked to play his pipe organ for relaxation, but sometimes in the evening his feet hurt and he didn't like to be bothered pumping the bellows with the treadle. Why not hook up the vacuum cleaner to do his work for him, he thought. He tried it; the air went in but no music came out. He tried again, reversing the cleaner so the air was sucked out. The organ played beautifully.

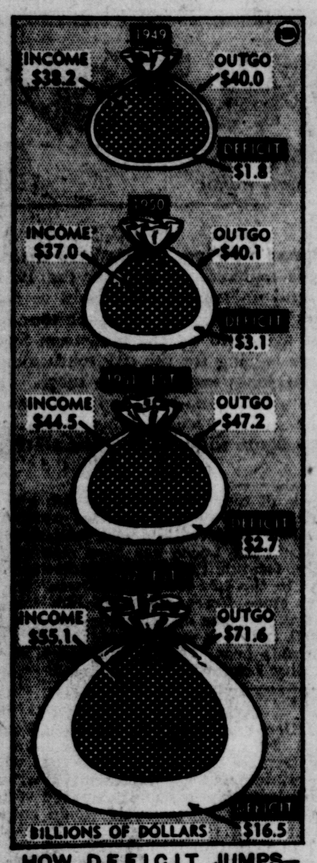
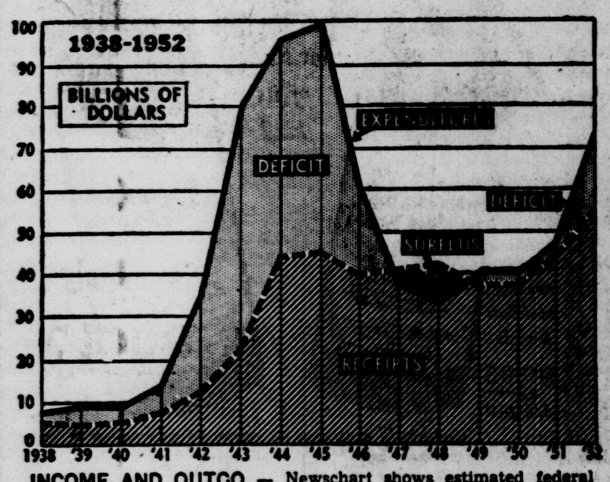
Highlights of President's Budget Message

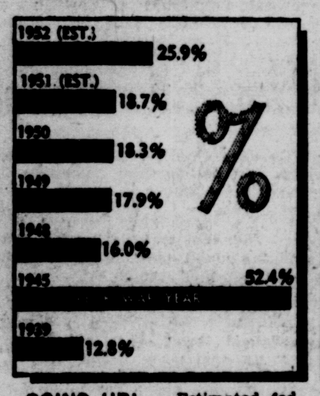
THE BUDGET DOLLAR—More than half of every dollar President Truman seeks for fiscal 1952 will go to the armed forces. Breakdown of federal income sources shows that greatest burden of providing the estimated $71.6 billions Uncle Sam will spend in fiscal 1952 will fall on the individual income taxpayer, with corporation taxes providing the second biggest slice.



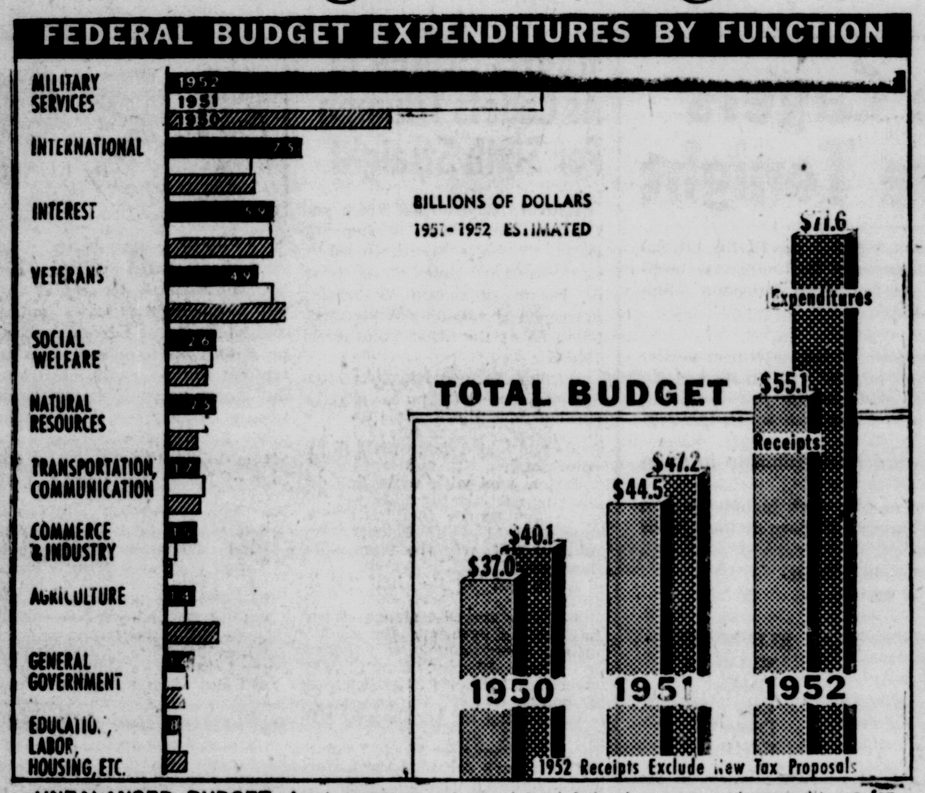
HOW DEFICIT JUMPS—Money-bag symbols show how deficit in the new budget for the 1952 fiscal year is more than twice the total of the three preceding fiscal years. To meet the new budget's $16.5 billion deficit, President Truman calls for the biggest tax increase in history.



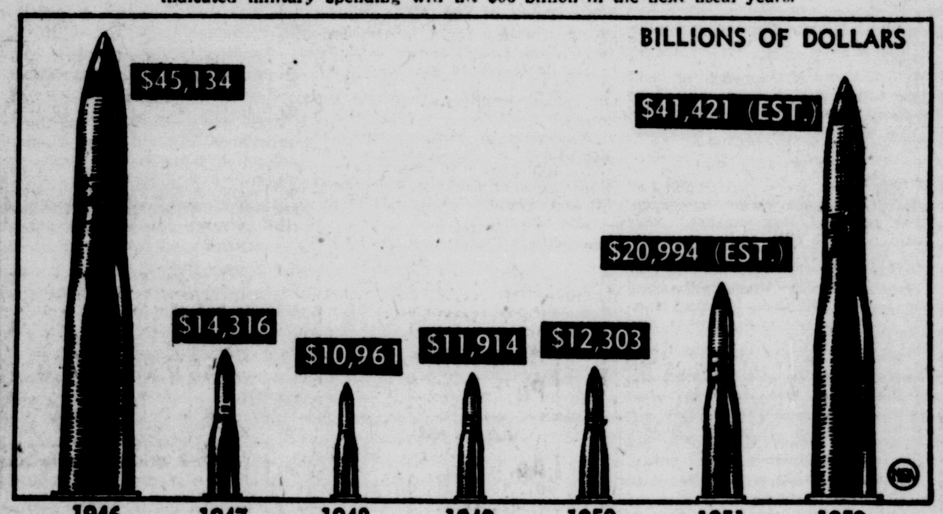
INCOME AND OUTGO — Newschart shows estimated federal receipts and expenditures for fiscal 1952, which begins July 1, in relation to Uncle Sam's financial ups and downs of the preceding 14 fiscal years. Note how diverging lines for fiscal 1951 and 1952 are beginning to parallel those of the war years leading to the peak deficit of 1945.



GOING UP! — Estimated federal expenditures for fiscal 1952 will eat up more than one-quarter of the national income. This "peacetime" bite is almost half that of fiscal 1945—the peak war year.



UNBALANCED BUDGET—Inset compares estimated total federal receipts and expenditures for the new fiscal 1952 budget with those for 1951 (est.) and 1950. Large chart, diagramming amounts allocated to principal budget items, shows the military services eating up $41.4 billions of the $71.6 billion budget total. To this $41 billion of direct military spending in fiscal 1952, add $11 billion for "national security." This includes $7.4 billion for foreign aid—largely to help arm our Allies—and $1.2 billion for speed-up on atomic weapons production. President Truman's budget message indicated military spending will hit $60 billion in the next fiscal years.



MILITARY COST NEARS WARTIME FIGURE—Estimated cost of the armed services in fiscal 1952 is compared above with past years, showing steady rise in military costs during "cold war" period. The Korean war and current peril of World War III boost 1952's estimate to nearly twice what will be spent this fiscal year, which ends June 30. The new military budget is within $4 billion of the 1946 expenditures, which covered the last part of World War II and the beginning of demobilization.

Lord Carlton, Tarzan Hewitt Booked for January 27 Wrestling Card

England Grappler Will Meet Becker In Feature Match

Professional wrestling returns to Kingston on Saturday, January 27, with two of the best known grapplers of the day—Lord Leslie Carlton and Tarzan Hewitt, appearing in the principal bouts, Promoter Bill Johnston of New York announced today.

Johnston said he planned another series of weekly or semi-monthly mat shows and had selected two of the biggest names in the industry for the kickoff card.

Carlton Meets Conquerer

The English nobleman, who is 28 years old, took to wrestling in his youth and has had over 1,000 bouts on five continents. He has been beaten only once, when he was upset by good-looking Bobby Becker, who comes to grips with him in the Jan. 27 feature.

Becker, who hails from Hollywood, is an oddity in wrestling, as he never attended college or played professional football or basketball. Now 26 years old, Becker is a big fellow weighing over 220 pounds. He has whipped some of the greatest figures in wrestling, notably Ed Don George, Baron Leone, the Zaharias brothers, Andre Drapp, Gorgeous George, Primo Carnera, Herbie Freeman and Gene Stanlee.

Fans are expected to come out in droves, especially women, to see Tarzan Hewitt, the Chicago Badman, who is probably the roughest and toughest character in the sport. Hewitt has been delighting TV audiences for the past couple of years, wrecking ringposts, stools and assaulting cops and fans.

The supporting card will be announced in the near future.

Tickets are now on sale at Trabasso's Tavern in Poughkeepsie and the Tommy Maines Sport Shop in Kingston.

New 'Fix' Scandal May Spread to Other Colleges After Arrest of Two Players

Manhattan Coach Says 'Big Guys' Not Caught

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—College basketball's latest scandal, involving Manhattan College, may spread to other colleges.

This was indicated today in the wake of yesterday's abrupt disclosure that a Manhattan player had been offered $1,000 to throw Tuesday night's game against DePaul in Madison Square Garden—a bribe attempt that failed and led to the arrest of two former Manhattan players for throwing games last year and three men described by police as "fixers."

Edward J. Breslin, assistant district attorney of the Bronx, said he had been told that other players in New York and other cities were "doing the same thing."

And Kenny Norton, Manhattan coach, asserted: "I feel that this is more than a local thing. . . . If these termites kept waving money in front of my boys' faces they must have been waving some in front of other boys' faces. I cannot conceive that Manhattan players are the only ones gotten to."

Then police reported that, with the undercover aid given by big Junius Kellogg, Manhattan sophomore player, they had arrested Henry Poppe, 24, and John Byrnes, 22, co-captains of last year's Manhattan team, and three alleged fixers, Irving Schwartzberg, 36; his brother, Benjamin, 35; and Cornelius Kelleher, 35.

Held Without Bail

The five were arraigned on charges of bribery and conspiracy. The Schwartzberg brothers were held without bail. Bail for Kelleher was set for $15,000, for Poppe $4,000 and for Byrnes $2,500. They are to be given a hearing on Jan. 24. If convicted they face up to five years in prison and fines of $10,000.

Kellogg, a 22-year-old from Portsmouth, Va., was offered the $1,000 bribe last Thursday, but delayed giving an immediate answer. He then contacted Norton, who with other Manhattan authorities, informed the police. Kellogg was told to pretend to go along with the deal.

Out of this came the arrests and the disclosure by Breslin that Poppe and Byrnes, Manhattan's highest scorers last season, had been involved in fixes last year against Siena, Bradley, Santa Clara, New York University and St. Francis of Brooklyn.

For their work in these games, Breslin said, Poppe and Byrnes each received $1,000 per game or a total of $5,000 plus a weekly retainer of $40.

Siena, a 14-point underdog, beat Manhattan 48-33 on Dec. 3, 1949. Santa Clara, a two-point underdog, won by 73-64 on Dec. 26, 1949 and Bradley, a seven-point favorite, won by 89-67 on Jan. 12, 1950.

In the NYU and St. Francis games, Breslin said, Poppe and Byrnes were instructed to play so the games would be worn by more than the point spread. Manhattan beat NYU, 80-55, and St. Francis, 71-57.

General criticism of the Kingston Bowling Association's executive committee with respect to the no-handicap rule for the 1951 city tournament is unwarranted and unjustified. Delegates to the annual Board of Directors meeting in April 1950 voted the tournament on a no-handicap basis and agreed to try the Hattstrom System for the all-events. Entries are lagging for the city tournament but Tournament Manager Addison Jones expects a late surge. In view of widespread dissatisfaction with the no-handicap clause and other general disturbances in the bowling leagues this season, it seems unlikely that the final entry figure will approach the all-time high of 108 set last year.

Johnny Ferraro sews the seeds of tough competition with his new fangled grips and the Adirondack Trailways reap the whirlwind. He fitted Pat Tarsio of Newburgh with a new ball and Tarsio responded with a big 700. Nick Leoce has been sizzling since Ferraro worked on his grip; Georgie Baird of Poughkeepsie has been pounding a 200 average in the Mid-Hudson and won the annual Bowlodrome sweepstakes since Ferraro showed him the facts of life concerning grips. Modified Fair Catch Back in Grid Rules

Galveston, Tex., Jan. 18 (AP)—The fair catch is back in football's rule book today in modified form, but there were few other major changes in the playing code.

There were some changes in the method of starting the clock; the penalty for an illegal shift was reduced and the rule concerning middle-linemen who move into the backfield was loosened.

There were a number of minor changes, principally to clarify rules, remove inequities or eliminate conflicts.

College coaches asked that the fair catch rule—abolished last year—be restored. It was, but revised to provide that a man may make a fair catch by holding one hand above his head and waving it from side to side. Once the signal is given, no player on the receiving team may run with the ball until it touches the ground or has been touched by an opponent, and no player on the kicking team may tackle or block a man who has completed a fair catch.

Hopes for Chance

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—William Peter Turnesa, who will lead Uncle Sam's Walker Cup forces against Britain's best golfers at Birkdale in May, hopes to be a playing captain. "If I'm hitting the ball well enough I'd naturally want to be on the team," the little par-wrecker from Elmsford, N. Y., said today. "But that's a decision for the U. S. Golf Association to make." The golf fathers meet Jan. 27 to pick the U. S. Walker Cup squad, which will defend the trophy May 11-12.

Lord Carlton, Tarzan Hewitt Booked for January 27 Wrestling Card

England Grappler Will Meet Becker In Feature Match

Professional wrestling returns to Kingston on Saturday, January 27, with two of the best known grapplers of the day—Lord Leslie Carlton and Tarzan Hewitt, appearing in the principal bouts, Promoter Bill Johnston of New York announced today.

Johnston said he planned another series of weekly or semi-monthly mat shows and had selected two of the biggest names in the industry for the kickoff card.

The list of possible Hewitt opponents includes Antonio Rocca, Chief War Eagle, Gene Stanlee, Lone Eagle, Chick Garibaldi, Abe Coleman, Sky Hi Lee and Big Sam, a 550-pound giant from Canada.

Carlton Meets Conquerer

Carlton, who enters the ring with his English valet and monocle, has wrestled main bouts in Madison Square Garden and in every big arena in the world.

The English nobleman, who is 28 years old, took to wrestling in his youth and has had over 1,000 bouts on five continents. He has been beaten only once, when he was upset by good-looking Bobby Becker, who comes to grips with him in the Jan. 27 feature.

Becker, who hails from Hollywood, is an oddity in wrestling, as he never attended college or played professional football or basketball. Now 26 years old, Becker is a big fellow weighing over 220 pounds. He has whipped some of the greatest figures in wrestling, notably Ed Don George, Baron Leone, the Zaharias brothers, Andre Drapp, Gorgeous George, Primo Carnera, Herbie Freeman and Gene Stanlee.

Fans are expected to come out in droves, especially women, to see Tarzan Hewitt, the Chicago Badman, who is probably the roughest and toughest character in the sport. Hewitt has been delighting TV audiences for the past couple of years, wrecking ringposts, stools and assaulting cops and fans.

The supporting card will be announced in the near future.

Tickets are now on sale at Trabasso's Tavern in Poughkeepsie and the Tommy Maines Sport Shop in Kingston.

Kingston, meanwhile, has turned in six triumphs in seven outings.

Modified Fair Catch Back in Grid Rules

Galveston, Tex., Jan. 18 (AP)—The fair catch is back in football's rule book today in modified form, but there were few other major changes in the playing code.

Members of the National Collegiate Football Rules Committee yesterday stuck to a resolve to make as few changes as possible.

There were some changes in the method of starting the clock; the penalty for an illegal shift was reduced and the rule concerning middle-linemen who move into the backfield was loosened.

There were a number of minor changes, principally to clarify rules, remove inequities or eliminate conflicts.

College coaches asked that the fair catch rule—abolished last year—be restored. It was, but revised to provide that a man may make a fair catch by holding one hand above his head and waving it from side to side. Once the signal is given, no player on the receiving team may run with the ball until it touches the ground or has been touched by an opponent, and no player on the kicking team may tackle or block a man who has completed a fair catch.

Hopes for Chance

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—William Peter Turnesa, who will lead Uncle Sam's Walker Cup forces against Britain's best golfers at Birkdale in May, hopes to be a playing captain. "If I'm hitting the ball well enough I'd naturally want to be on the team," the little par-wrecker from Elmsford, N. Y., said today. "But that's a decision for the U. S. Golf Association to make." The golf fathers meet Jan. 27 to pick the U. S. Walker Cup squad, which will defend the trophy May 11-12.

Three 'B' Quintets Finish in Tie For Y.M.C.A. Cage League Honors

Esopus, Schuler's Inn, Aces Win Final Tilts

A triple tie for final top honors in the "B" Division of the Y.M.C.A. Basketball League resulted this morning following Wednesday night's triple-header.

The three top clubs—Esopus Firemen, Schuler's Inn and the Newkirk Aces—all registered victories and wound up the regulation season with identical marks of 6-1.

According to Lou Schafer, drawings for the loop's play-offs will be made tonight at the "Y."

Top action of the night occurred in the Esopus-Robins clash with the Firemen pulling out a 39 to 36 squeaker over the Robins when Bruce Wilson and Mickey Kozlowski combined to pull the game out of the fire.

Hotaling Nets 28

Don Hotaling and McCardle were the two big guns for Schuler's Inn who knocked off the Yellow Jackets by 61 to 44.

Hotaling hit for 28 points while McCardle followed with 22. DeCicco of the Jackets netted 11.

Bowling

Those exponents of the usual high-scoring activities of the Wednesday night Central Rec Major League were at it again last night at "Red" Sangi's establishment on Railroad avenue with a half dozen 600 triples featuring the pin-busting.

In the driver's seat this week was Johnny Ferraro who turned in one of the night's three hat tricks with a 664 blast on 231-206-227. Lew Hymes followed in the No. 2 slot with 639 on sticks of 224-202-213.

Others in the 600 brigade were Harold Broskie 215-230-637; Frank "Boots" Leskie with 208-202-216 for 616; Cliff Quick 224-213-621; George Robinson 258-604.

Rose Schatzel flirted with the 600 department Wednesday night in the Colonial Women's League at the Bowlatorium after hitting 189 in her opening game and returning to establish a new high mark for the league with 232. But her third game dipped to 164 and the Queen wound up with an acceptable 585.

Holding down the No. 2 position was a newcomer, Helen Bordenstein, who fired 524. Evelyn Gross shot 518; Mary Bonacci 514; Phyl Gehringer 503; Reta Frederick 592; and Mary Francello 500.

Also of note were Chrissie Wilson with 491; Marie Kelekian 488; Ada Markle 486; Marguerite Logan 484.

Ann Maccaline, a 117 average kegierette, rolled the first 200 of her career to help grab top honors in the Silver Division of the league last night. Ann didn't waste any time by opening with 201 and then hit 196 and 139 for a neat 476 triple.

Three pins off the pace was Loretta Sismilich who fired 463. Angeline Brocco 455; Virginia Greco 432; Ann Mitchell 430.

The C.Y.O. secretary, in summing up activities of his loop's kegling Wednesday night at the Bowlodrome, noted "terrible" not going on to elaborate whether he referred to the scores or other factors.

M. Mottsey rolled 523; Jim Noble 529; J. Bruck 515; Joe Mahar 500.

Jack Bigler opened with a 213 came back with sticks of 161 and 168 to pace Y Federation American League Wednesday night with a 542 three-timer.

Also of note were Don Weeks with 532; H. Osmers 516; Garry Woodvine 515; Doug Kennedy 200-503; Burt Burr 211-503; B. Slover 500; and Ferd Short 500.

T. Hasbrouck topped the pinfall in the Pioneer Women's circuit at the Bowlodrome Wednesday night with her 467 series on scores of 131-175-161.

Rangers' Laprade Breaks Leg, Out for Six Weeks

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Edgar Laprade, star center of New York Rangers, broke a leg in last night's game with the Boston Bruins and probably will be out of action for at least six weeks.

The 31-year-old veteran of six National Hockey League campaigns with New York was injured near the end of the game when he was heavily checked by Boston Forward Milt Schmidt.

Betting Marks Jump

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Although rain washed out 15 and ½ days and nights of racing on harness racing's grand circuit in 1950, betting averages increased and attendance almost matched previous high seasons. During 20 weeks of major harness racing at 14 grand circuit tracks, 15 were spent at pari mutuel plants where 634,133 persons wagered $24,499,364. There were 25 grand circuit racing weeks and 20 with pari mutuel betting in 1949. The average weekly bet last season was $1,626,216, compared with $1,531,312 for 1949. Average attendance was 42,276 in 1950, and 44,356 the previous year.

'Y' Men Discuss Plans For Indoor Sports Bill

Plans for the organization and promotion of two indoor winter sports were made during a dinner meeting of the Y Business Men's Health and Recreation Club earlier this week.

Lou Schafer, physical director at the Y, spoke on arrangements now underway for forthcoming events in paddle ball and volleyball during the dinner which marked the first local special event in the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Y.M.C.A. in North America.

A committee of three including Dr. Murray Fletcher, Albert Townsend and John Rosebrook was named to make plans for the paddle ball elimination tournament and to discuss possible plans of volleyball competition with teams from Newburgh and Poughkeepsie.

The supper was in charge of Mrs. George DuBois who was assisted by Mrs. Burton S. Tandy and Mrs. Louis H. Schafer.

Three 'B' Quintets Finish in Tie For Y.M.C.A. Cage League Honors

Esopus, Schuler's Inn, Aces Win Final Tilts

A triple tie for final top honors in the "B" Division of the Y.M.C.A. Basketball League resulted this morning following Wednesday night's triple-header.

The three top clubs—Esopus Firemen, Schuler's Inn and the Newkirk Aces—all registered victories and wound up the regulation season with identical marks of 6-1.

According to Lou Schafer, drawings for the loop's play-offs will be made tonight at the "Y."

Top action of the night occurred in the Esopus-Robins clash with the Firemen pulling out a 39 to 36 squeaker over the Robins when Bruce Wilson and Mickey Kozlowski combined to pull the game out of the fire.

Hotaling Nets 28

Don Hotaling and McCardle were the two big guns for Schuler's Inn who knocked off the Yellow Jackets by 61 to 44.

Hotaling hit for 28 points while McCardle followed with 22. DeCicco of the Jackets netted 11.

The Newkirk Aces-Hurley clash resulted in a rout with the Aces piling up a 61 to 18 victory over the outclassed county cagers.

Bowling

Those exponents of the usual high-scoring activities of the Wednesday night Central Rec Major League were at it again last night at "Red" Sangi's establishment on Railroad avenue with a half dozen 600 triples featuring the pin-busting.

In the driver's seat this week was Johnny Ferraro who turned in one of the night's three hat tricks with a 664 blast on 231-206-227. Lew Hymes followed in the No. 2 slot with 639 on sticks of 224-202-213.

Others in the 600 brigade were Harold Broskie 215-230-637; Frank "Boots" Leskie with 208-202-216 for 616; Cliff Quick 224-213-621; George Robinson 258-604.

Rose Schatzel flirted with the 600 department Wednesday night in the Colonial Women's League at the Bowlatorium after hitting 189 in her opening game and returning to establish a new high mark for the league with 232. But her third game dipped to 164 and the Queen wound up with an acceptable 585.

Holding down the No. 2 position was a newcomer, Helen Bordenstein who fired 524. Evelyn Gross shot 518; Mary Bonacci 514; Phyl Gehringer 503; Reta Frederick 592; and Mary Francello 500.

Also of note were Chrissie Wilson with 491; Marie Kelekian 488; Ada Markle 486; Marguerite Logan 484.

Ann Maccaline, a 117 average keglerette, rolled the first 200 of her career to help grab top honors in the Silver Division of the league last night. Ann didn't waste any time by opening with 201 and then hit 136 and 139 for a neat 476 triple.

Three pins off the pace was Loretta Sismilich who fired 463. Angeline Brocco 455; Virginia Greco 432; Ann Mitchell 430.

The C.Y.O. secretary, in summing up activities of his loop's kegling Wednesday night at the Bowlodrome, noted "terrible" not going on to elaborate whether he referred to the scores or other factors.

M. Mottsey rolled 523; Jim Noble 529; J. Bruck 515; Joe Mahar 500.

Jack Bigler opened with a 213 came back with sticks of 161 and 168 to pace Y Federation American League Wednesday night with a 542 three-timer.

Also of note were Don Weeks with 532; H. Oamers 516; Garry Woodvine 515; Doug Kennedy 200-503; Burt Burr 211-503; B. Slover 500; and Ferd Short 500.

T. Hasbrouck topped the pinfall in the Pioneer Women's circuit at the Bowlodrome Wednesday night with her 467 series on scores of 131-175-161.

Other top efforts included D. LaRocca with 451; V. Janeczek 437; L. A. Cameron 433.

Rangers' Laprade Breaks Leg, Out for Six Weeks

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Edgar Laprade, star center of New York Rangers, broke a leg in last night's game with the Boston Bruins and probably will be out of action for at least six weeks.

The 31-year-old veteran of six National Hockey League campaigns with New York was injured near the end of the game when he was heavily checked by Boston Forward Milt Schmidt.

Betting Marks Jump

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Although rain washed out 15 and ½ days and nights of racing on harness racing's grand circuit in 1950, betting averages increased and attendance almost matched previous high seasons. During 20 weeks of major harness racing at 14 grand circuit tracks, 15 were spent at pari mutuel plants where 634,133 persons wagered $24,499,364. There were 25 grand circuit racing weeks and 20 with pari mutuel betting in 1949. The average weekly bet last season was $1,626,216, compared with $1,531,312 for 1949. Average attendance was 42,276 in 1950, and 44,356 the previous year.

Top Hialeah Opening

Miami, Fla., Jan. 18 (AP)—Hialeah race course, queen of Florida tracks and one of the finest in America, opened its 40-day meeting yesterday with a record crowd of 23,758 and a whopping $1,244,610 pari mutuel handle. The previous record opening day crowd was on Jan. 17, 1946, when 23,495 turned out. The handle was $1,249,864, only $5,254 more than yesterday's wagering. Hialeah's opening day crowd of 19,658 last year wagered $1,038,908, well below yesterday's attendance and handle.

'Y' Men Discuss Plans For Indoor Sports Bill

Plans for the organization and promotion of two indoor winter sports were made during a dinner meeting of the Y Business Men's Health and Recreation Club earlier this week.

Lou Schafer, physical director at the Y, spoke on arrangements now underway for forthcoming events in paddle ball and volleyball during the dinner which marked the first local special event in the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Y.M.C.A. in North America.

A committee of three including Dr. Murray Fletcher, Albert Townsend and John Rosebrook was named to make plans for the paddle ball elimination tournament and to discuss possible plans of volleyball competition with teams from Newburgh and Poughkeepsie.

The supper was in charge of Mrs. George DuBois who was assisted by Mrs. Burton S. Tandy and Mrs. Louis H. Schafer.

To Rename Section

Berlin, Jan. 18 (AP)—Berlin's famed old Lustgarten will be renamed "Marx-Engels Square" in honor of the German creators of communism, East Berlin authorities disclosed today. The Lustgarten is a small park and square at the foot of Unter Den Linden where the Hohenzollerns resided in a huge 17th century castle. The Communists have dynamited the castle and removed it entirely to make way for the new Moscow-type "Red Square."

Berlin, Jan. 18 (AP)—Berlin's famed old Lustgarten will be renamed "Marx-Engels Square" in honor of the German creators of communism, East Berlin authorities disclosed today. The Lustgarten is a small park and square at the foot of Unter Den Linden where the Hohenzollerns resided in a huge 17th century castle. The Communists have dynamited the castle and removed it entirely to make way for the new Moscow-type "Red Square."

Contract Action Announced Ended

The $62,000 contract action brought by James E. McGowan, Marlborough cold storage owner and apple dealer, against Cooperative Grange League Federation Exchange, Inc., was settled Wednesday afternoon after it had been partially tried.

McGowan brought an action in Supreme Court to recover damages which he claimed he suffered because the G.L.F. failed to deliver to him apples which he contracted for in 1948. McGowan alleged he contracted to take all of the apples delivered at the Macedon plant of the G.L.F., and entered into contracts with pie makers in New York to deliver pie apples from January 1949 to September 1, 1949. He contended he relied on getting pie varieties from the G.L. F. and when the expected amount was not forthcoming, he claimed he was compelled to go out in the market and buy at market prices apples to cover his New York contracts.

G.L.F. counterclaimed for damages for alleged failure of McGowan to take apples daily and claimed by reason of this the company plant was deprived of storage facilities for other commodities and was thereby damaged.

No amount was announced as to the settlement except a statement that plaintiff is to receive a "large amount."

Probation Officer Gives His Report

The amount of money collected through the Ulster county probation department for family support continues to increase and for the 12 month period from November 1, 1949, to October 31, 1950, there was collected through the probation office a total of $47,471.19, an increase for the 12 months of $9,747.82 over the previous 12 months period.

In submitting his annual report to the Board of Supervisors, Chief Probation Officer Edmund U. Burhans states that had not these monies been collected by the probation officer, a large percentage of this sum would have necessarily been disbursed by the County Welfare Department in the form of public assistance.

In submitting his annual report, Probation Officer Burhans presents a report for a 14-month period from November 1, 1949 to December 31, 1950, in order to bring his department up to the new fiscal year period. From now on the county year will be the calendar year.

In his report Burhans states that for the 14-month period there was collected $1,021.69 for restitution, $1,101.25 for physically handicapped children from parents and a total of $54,191.67 for family support from those on probation. This makes a total of $56,314.61 collected through the office during the 14-month period.

Appreciates Cooperation

Burhans acknowledges the cooperation he has heceived from the county judge, sheriff and his staff, city and state police, Department of Public Welfare, the clergy of all faiths, Catholic Charities, city and county school authorities and the State Department of Correction, Division of Probation.

The report shows the supervision case load in county court decreased from 8 to 2 cases and the probation case load decreased from 80 to 69 cases.

During the fourteen month period probation was revoked for three male adults; two were committed to the Ulster county jail, and one was committed to Clinton State Prison. One adult probationer died while still on probation.

There was continued from 1949 48 men and four women for misdemeanors and 27 men and one woman for felonies on the probation roll. There were received during 1950, 20 men and one woman for misdemeaners and 10 men and 2 women for felonies, making a total of 114. During the year 42 passed from probation and three cases were transferred to other courts, leaving 40 men and 1 woman for misdemeanors and 26 men and two women charged with felonies still on the probation rolls.

Burglary Leads List

Burglary and unlawful entry continues to lead the list of offenses in which probation results. During the year one male was placed on probation as a result of an assault, third degree, charge; petit larcency four; unlawful entry 5; violation of traffic or motor vehicle laws 1; youthful offender 3; all others 6. One female was placed on probation as a youthful offender. Burglary leads the felony list. There were five males and one female placed on probation as a result of this charge. Other charges were rape and assault 1; grand larceny, two males and one female; carrying weapons two males.

In Children's court the supervision case load decreased from 38 to 27 cases. The probation case load decreased from 72 to 56 cases. Probation was revoked in the cases of six boys; five were committed to an institution for delinquent children, and one was committed to another institution. One adult probationer, non-support, died.

Burglary and unlawful entry led the charges for which children were placed on probation. There were 11 boys placed on probation for this offense. Four boys were placed on probation for automobile stealing, four boys and one girl placed on probation for other stealing and one boy and one girl placed on probation for sex offenses. Six boys were placed on probation as a result of acts of carelessness and mischief.

Asks Private Office

Burhans again in his report calls attention of the Board of Supervisors to the lack of adequate office facilities where privacy during interviews with probationers may be had. In his report he states, "privacy during intake service and case work interviews is utterly impossible" and he asks for adequate office facilities for the probation department.

Sally, N.B.C. Named

Chicago, Jan. 18 (AP)—A Mobile, Ala., showman sued dancer Sally Rand and the National Broadcasting Company yesterday for $2,000,000 alleging Miss Rand damaged his reputation on a radio show. The showman is Al Wagner, head of the Cavalcade of Amusement, an outdoor show. He claimed in his U. S. District Court suit that Miss Rand, damaged him by a remark she made in a broadcast from the Chez Paree night club in Chicago Dec. 3. NBC was named a defendant because Wagner said the network's Chicago station WMAQ made no effort to cut the program off the air after the remark. Miss Rand was named in the suit by her married name, Mrs. Harry Finkelstein.

Banquet Enjoyed By Projectionists And Stage Hands

Approximately 100 men and women attended the 27th anniversary of Local 637, Motion Picture Machine Operators and Stage Hands Union, Tuesday, at Cyprus Inn, where James J. Brennan, fourth vice-president of the international organization was guest speaker.

He reminisced about the early days in show business and noted the advances in working conditions through favorable negotiations with management. He cited the good feeling between the union and theatre operators. Managers of movie houses in Kingston, Catskill and Hudson were presented with gifts by the organization.

Projectionists in the union had their lights fixed on a rippling American flag set up by the stage hands, which added a patriotic touch as the gathering sang the Star Spangled Banner.

Gifts of jewelry from Safford & Scudder were presented by Local 635 to various members. President Frank Hopper received an Elks ring with diamond setting, two charter members, Michael Ross of the stage hands and Kenneth Evory, projectionist, got gold watches; Elias Myers, treasurer and George P. Seymour were given signet rings.

As the guests entered the banquet hall, corsages were handed to the ladies and boutonnieres to the men.

Cooperage Firm Sells Some Stock

Henry Leeds, president and owner of the American Cooperage Co. Inc., which operates plants at 35 Bruyn avenue, this city, and at Milltown, N. J., today announced the sale of capital stock to a New York group.

The new owners will expand the output of the plants and will add the manufacture of whiskey barrels to its present line of wooden barrels which are made to contain liquids, Leeds said.

Both the local plant and that at Milltown, which is near New Brunswick, N. J., have from 40,000 to 50,000 square feet of floor space.

Leeds said in his New York office today that he was not prepared to release anything on future plans for the Kingston factory, but he expected that full information would be available within the next few days.

The new owners, he said, will work toward filling an increasing demand for barrels used for the aging of whiskey. Because of other interests, he said, he was not interested in considering this new line and made arrangements to transfer the business which will retain the same name.

Expects Flu in U. S.

St. Louis, Jan. 18 (AP)—The influenza now sweeping England will spread to the United States, the president-elect of the American Public Health Association predicted yesterday. Dr. Gaylord W. Anderson of Minneapolis, Minn., expressed hope in an interview that new methods of treating pneumonia will prove effective against influenza. The physician said there have been six or eight world-wide flu epidemics since the big one in 1918. The world is just about due for another one, he said.

Contract Action Announced Ended

The $62,000 contract action brought by James E. McGowan, Marlborough cold storage owner and apple dealer, against Cooperative Grange League Federation Exchange, Inc., was settled Wednesday afternoon after it had been partially tried.

McGowan brought an action in Supreme Court to recover damages which he claimed he suffered because the G.L.F. failed to deliver to him apples which he contracted for in 1948. McGowan alleged he contracted to take all of the apples delivered at the Macedon plant of the G.L.F., and entered into contracts with pie makers in New York to deliver pie apples from January 1949 to September 1, 1949. He contended he relied on getting pie varieties from the G.L. F. and when the expected amount was not forthcoming, he claimed he was compelled to go out in the market and buy at market prices apples to cover his New York contracts.

G.L.F. counterclaimed for damages for alleged failure of McGowan to take apples daily and claimed by reason of this the company plant was deprived of storage facilities for other commodities and was thereby damaged.

No amount was announced as to the settlement except a statement that plaintiff is to receive a "large amount."

Probation Officer Gives His Report

The amount of money collected through the Ulster county probation department for family support continues to increase and for the 12 month period from November 1, 1949, to October 31, 1950, there was collected through the probation office a total of $47,471.19, an increase for the 12 months of $9,747.82 over the previous 12 months period.

In submitting his annual report to the Board of Supervisors, Chief Probation Officer Edmund U. Burhans states that had not these monies been collected by the probation officer, a large percentage of this sum would have necessarily been disbursed by the County Welfare Department in the form of public assistance.

In submitting his annual report, Probation Officer Burhans presents a report for a 14-month period from November 1, 1949 to December 31, 1950, in order to bring his department up to the new fiscal year period. From now on the county year will be the calendar year.

In his report Burhans states that for the 14-month period there was collected $1,021.69 for restitution, $1,101.25 for physically handicapped children from parents and a total of $54,191.67 for family support from those on probation. This makes a total of $56,314.61 collected through the office during the 14-month period.

Appreciates Cooperation

Burhans acknowledges the cooperation he has heceived from the county judge, sheriff and his staff, city and state police, Department of Public Welfare, the clergy of all faiths, Catholic Charities, city and county school authorities and the State Department of Correction, Division of Probation.

The report shows the supervision case load in county court decreased from 8 to 2 cases and the probation case load decreased from 80 to 69 cases.

During the fourteen month period probation was revoked for three male adults; two were committed to the Ulster county jail, and one was committed to Clinton State Prison. One adult probationer died while still on probation.

There was continued from 1949 48 men and four women for misdemeanors and 27 men and one woman for felonies on the probation roll. There were received during 1950, 20 men and one woman for misdemeaners and 10 men and 2 women for felonies, making a total of 114. During the year 42 passed from probation and three cases were transferred to other courts, leaving 40 men and 1 woman for misdemeanors and 26 men and two women charged with felonies still on the probation rolls.

Burglary Leads List

Burglary and unlawful entry continues to lead the list of offenses in which probation results. During the year one male was placed on probation as a result of an assault, third degree, charge; petit larcency four; unlawful entry 5; violation of traffic or motor vehicle laws 1; youthful offender 3; all others 6. One female was placed on probation as a youthful offender. Burglary leads the felony list. There were five males and one female placed on probation as a result of this charge. Other charges were rape and assault 1; grand larceny, two males and one female; carrying weapons two males.

In Children's court the supervision case load decreased from 38 to 27 cases. The probation case load decreased from 72 to 56 cases. Probation was revoked in the cases of six boys; five were ccmmitted to an institution for delinquent children, and one was committed to another institution. One adult probationer, non-support, died.

Burglary and unlawful entry led the charges for which children were placed on probation. There were 11 boys placed on probation for this offense. Four boys were placed on probation for automobile stealing, four boys and one girl placed on probation for other stealing and one boy and one girl placed on probation for sex offenses. Six boys were placed on probation as a result of acts of carelessness and mischief.

Asks Private Office

Burhans again in his report calls attention of the Board of Supervisors to the lack of adequate office facilities where privacy during interviews with probationers may be had. In his report he states, "privacy during intake service and case work interviews is utterly impossible" and he asks for adequate office facilities for the probation department.

Sally, N.B.C. Named

Chicago, Jan. 18 (AP)—A Mobile, Ala., showman sued dancer Sally Rand and the National Broadcasting Company yesterday for $2,000,000 alleging Miss Rand damaged his reputation on a radio show. The showman is Al Wagner, head of the Cavalcade of Amusement, an outdoor show. He claimed in his U. S. District Court suit that Miss Rand, damaged him by a remark she made in a broadcast from the Chez Paree night club in Chicago Dec. 3. NBC was named a defendant because Wagner said the network's Chicago station WMAQ made no effort to cut the program off the air after the remark. Miss Rand was named in the suit by her married name, Mrs. Harry Finkelstein.

Banquet Enjoyed By Projectionists And Stage Hands

Approximately 100 men and women attended the 27th anniversary of Local 637, Motion Picture Machine Operators and Stage Hands Union, Tuesday, at Cyprus Inn, where James J. Brennan, fourth vice-president of the international organization was guest speaker.

He reminisced about the early days in show business and noted the advances in working conditions through favorable negotiations with management. He cited the good feeling between the union and theatre operators. Managers of movie houses in Kingston, Catskill and Hudson were presented with gifts by the organization.

Projectionists in the union had their lights fixed on a rippling American flag set up by the stage hands, which added a patriotic touch as the gathering sang the Star Spangled Banner.

Gifts of jewelry from Safford & Scudder were presented by Local 635 to various members. President Frank Hopper received an Elks ring with diamond setting, two charter members, Michael Ross of the stage hands and Kenneth Evory, projectionist, got gold watches; Elias Myers, treasurer and George P. Seymour were given signet rings.

As the guests entered the banquet hall, corsages were handed to the ladies and boutonnieres to the men.

Cooperage Firm Sells Some Stock

Henry Leeds, president and owner of the American Cooperage Co. Inc., which operates plants at 35 Bruyn avenue, this city, and at Milltown, N. J., today announced the sale of capital stock to a New York group.

The new owners will expand the output of the plants and will add the manufacture of whiskey barrels to its present line of wooden barrels which are made to contain liquids, Leeds said.

Both the local plant and that at Milltown, which is near New Brunswick, N. J., have from 40,000 to 50,000 square feet of floor space.

Leeds said in his New York office today that he was not prepared to release anything on future plans for the Kingston factory, but he expected that full information would be available within the next few days.

The new owners, he said, will work toward filling an increasing demand for barrels used for the aging of whiskey. Because of other interests, he said, he was not interested in considering this new line and made arrangements to transfer the business which will retain the same name.

Expects Flu in U. S.

St. Louis, Jan. 18 (AP)—The influenza now sweeping England will spread to the United States, the president-elect of the American Public Health Association predicted yesterday. Dr. Gaylord W. Anderson of Minneapolis, Minn., expressed hope in an interview that new methods of treating pneumonia will prove effective against influenza. The physician said there have been six or eight world-wide flu epidemics since the big one in 1918. The world is just about due for another one, he said.

Volunteers Adopt Resolution About 3-Mile Fire Limit

The Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association last night adopted a resolution favoring the three-mile limit from a firehouse for fire protection, at a meeting in Port Ewen. The insurance limit now is two miles.

The firemen were guests of the town of Esopus fire companies: Port Ewen, Esopus, Connelly, St. Remy and Rifton, and 200 attended the session.

George W. Gardner of Saugerties, first vice-president, was elected delegate to the Hudson Valley Firemen's Association convention at Rotterdam (near Schenectady) in June.

A collection totalling $29.35 for the "March of Dimes" campaign was taken by Fred Harder.

It was anounced that a full report will be given at the meeting Feb. 20 in the town of Ulster on the study of a fire patrol system for the association.

The meeting adjourned in respect to the late Charles G. A. Fischer, who had served as fire chief in Ellenville for 25 years.

The ODM chief said 5,000 local Chambers of Commerce and other groups are obtaining daily reports on military purchases and procurement plans, so that small concerns can solicit contracts and sub-contracts. Big companies, he said, are being encouraged to subcontract part of their major defense orders to smaller producers.

And he said Harrison is being instructed to see that the emergency agencies draft their curtailment orders in such a way that small businesses will not suffer unduly.

This action will result in uniform proceedure in each of the towns of the county.

Instead of the rolls being extended as they now are the work will be done by mechanical means in much less time and uniform bills will be sent out. The contract with I.B.M. followed an inspection of the plant on Tuesday when the proceedure was demonstrated to members of the board.

Assessment rolls and the amount of taxes to be collected will be supplied I.B.M. and by means of mechanical calculators, which one member described as working "faster than you can think," the rolls will be extended and bills made out. These bills fully prepared for mailing will be returned to Ulster county and mailed to each taxpayer.

First Year Cost $8,000

It was stated that the cost would be about $8,000 the first year because a master file must be prepared. This master file will cost 22 cents per parcel but will not be again prepared after the initial year. Changes of ownership will be noted on the master file after that at a cost of 6 cents per change. A charge of 12 cents per parcel to extend the roll will be made annually and the cost of paper for bills and other use will be borne by the county.

On the vote to award the contract for this tax work to I.B.M., Supervisor Gaffney said he believed it would be cheaper to rent the equipment and do the work here in the county, paying an operator for the work, and perhaps using the equipment for other work during the year. Supervisor Ralph Williams said he believed the machine could be used for other work during the year and perhaps it might be possible to get the city of Kingston to use the equipment for its tax bills and other work. Supervisor Gaffney expressed an opinion that action on the contract should be delayed until the next meeting so that further investigation could be made of the plan and it could be learned how much other departments could use the equipment. He said he understood the contract as presented called for an expenditure of 34 cents per parcel, a total cost of some $8,000, and it might be more economical to rent the machine and hire an operator and put the machine to other use during the year.

Says Method Cheaper

Supervisor Wilson said it appeared the method advocated in the contract, that of having I.B.M. do the work, was the cheaper way. He said it was not known how much other departments could use the equipment. The method advocated could be used the first year and further investigation could be made and if other departments could use the equipment, then perhaps after the first year the equipment could be rented by the county and the work done here.

Gaffney said he believed the investigation should be made now and action on the contract be tabled until the next meeting when additional facts would be available as to cost and use of the machine.

Resolution Offered

Supervisor Reginald Every of Shandaken offered a resolution designed to relieve the people in his town who have been cut off from the outside by reason of the destruction of the Herdman bridge during the recent floods. He said County Superintendent of Highways James F. Loughran and Deputy County Superintendent Roland Green had made a study and advocated abandonment of the bridge and construction of a new piece of highway from the Woodland Valley road to a point on the east of the Esopus creek near the Herdman bridge. This would take care of traffic adequately and would eliminate need for reconstruction of the Herdman bridge which has been damaged several times by flood waters. Supervisor Every said the new bridge would cost the county $100,000 while the new piece of road, for which easements have already been secured, would cost about $20,000.

The new road, about 1½ miles in length, he said should be built immediately since there were five families now cut off from the outside except for a foot bridge.

Every offered a resolution that the new road be constructed by the county, and that $20,000 be made available for the work.

Ralph Williams, minority leader, seconded the motion and said that he knew the situation, people were walking the rail tracks for two miles to get out.

The resolution appropriating $20,000 for the new road was unanimously approved. Every said later the location of the new road was over a flat plateau and gave the people of the cut off valley an ideal means of exit.

Thanks Expressed

A communication was received from employes of the county Highway Department thanking the board for a 10-cent-an hour increase in pay recently granted.

The Committee on Rights of Way reported it had spent a total of $10,494.97 in securing rights of ways during the past fourteen months.

A resolution was approved authorizing the county purchasing agent, rather than a committee from the board, to advertise for bids for erection of a balcony in the county clerk's office to accommodate files. Architect Betz has been requested to prepare plans and specifications for these much needed facilities.

The Ulster County Publicity Committee submitted its annual financial report. The committee spent $5,318.71.

A report of the county treasurer showed the balance on January first to be $429,811.42 in the county's funds.

The county auditor submitted his report. There was available the sum of $72,665.51 and there was spent in the fourteen months covered by the report $70,468.84, leaving a balance of $2,196.17.

The report of the Department of Civil Service was received and filed.

Children's Court Report

The report of the Children's Court work and Probation work in the county was received and filed and was a report from the county treasurer on the County Road Fund. Other reports were from the county clerk who reported he had taken in as fees for recording papers etc., the sum of $38,265.75; the Veterans Service Committee which showed there had been brought into the county a total of $226,293.84 through the Veterans Agency and the office had handled for veterans reinstatement and conversion of insurance in the amount of $3,241,000.

The county treasurer reported on dog license moneys taken in. The report showed $44,982.54 collected and there was distributed $25,183.90. Distributed to towns was $14,848.98 which represents 75 per cent of the surplus. The surrogate reported there had been taken in as fees at that office the sum of $1,506.75. The financial report of the Pistol Permit Bureau was received, showing an expenditure for salary during the fourteen months period of $700. Sheriff Smith reported he had handled $8,383 from fines and bail. The district attorney's office reported expenditures of $2,730.81 and that it had handled $100 in fines.

Other Reports

Other reports received and filed were from the Ulster County Health Department and the Ulster County Home Bureau.

The sum of $1,800 was transferred to the salary fund to pay the salary of three coroners for the year.

A resolution was offered and adopted authorizing a change in classification in the sheriff's office. The office of day jailer and identification officer was combined and the salary of the jailer was increased $500 to $3,840. Previously the two offices had commanded a salary of $2,840 each.

A resolution was approved increasing the salary of court officers at $5 per day and the chief court officer to $6 per day. This is an increase from $4.

York Is on Board

Henry York of Saugerties was named a member of the Board of Health for a six-year term to succeed Fabian L. Russell of Saugerties, who resigned at the conclusion of his present term. Russell had been a member of the board since it was first instituted. York is traffic manager at the Cantine Company in Saugerties and a village trustee.

The chairman of the board was authorized to appoint eight members of the board to the Legislative Committee. The board also authorized appointment of a grade crossing representative from the board, the allowances to be the same as for the members of the Rights of Way Committee. Supervisor Ralph Williams asked that the minority party be given representation. Chairman Denniston said he would give the request full consideration in naming his committees.

The board adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

Lewis, Soft Coal

Moses, chief negotiator for about one third of the industry—including the steel company mines, to learn whether Moses had obtained the approval of other top coal men of the north and midwest to the pay proposal.

The Southern Coal Producers Association assembled its 30-man executive board in special session to await a report from Association President Joseph E. Moody, who has been meeting privately with Lewis.

The southern group usually is the toughest for Lewis to bargain with. The southern operators insist they have special problems which must be considered.

An agreement made between Moses and Lewis could not be ignored by the southerners and the scattered mine owners of the midwest and far west who are not in Moses' bituminous coal operators association.

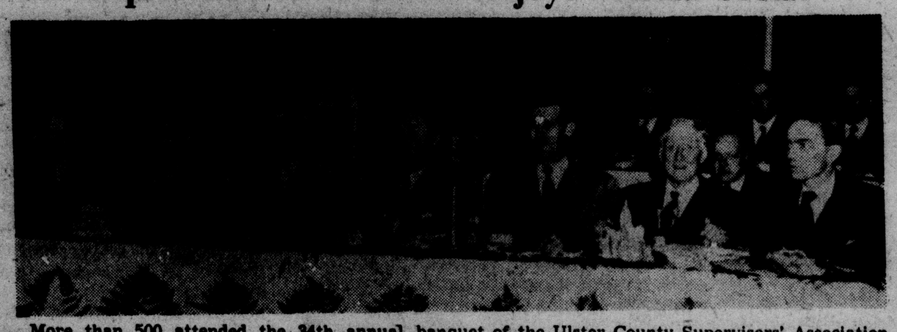
Lewis' miners have been talking about cutting the work day from eight hours to seven and one-half without loss of pay. The basic hourly rate now is about $1.85 and the daily rate $14.75. The proposed $1.60 hike would make that $15.35, and the hourly rate $2.05 or higher, if the hours were reduced.

Such an increase would add about 27 cents to the cost of a ton of coal.

Seaweed Diet Forecast

Singapore (AP)—Food chemist George Clemons told Singapore Rotarians that man's present day primitive feeding habits would horrify his children's children. He said food chemists had already succeeded in producing synthetic foods and that the sea, with its vast amount of seaweed, would provide the ingredients for man's future food.

Supervisors' Association Enjoys Annual Social



More than 500 attended the 34th annual banquet of the Ulster County Supervisors' Association, Wednesday at Williams Lake, which, as usual, was devoted to strictly social functions. Speeches were tabu. The men enjoyed a fine roast beef dinner and spent the hours following renewing acquaintances. At the head table were l. to r., Roy Denniston of Gardiner, new chairman of the board of supervisors; John T. Groves, Ulster county treasurer; Fred Stang, county attorney; County Judge John M. Cashin, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk of Kingston; Harry Hulsair, president of the Supervisors Association and Thomas J. Plunket, chairman of the Democratic party in Ulster county. (Freeman Photo)

American Diplomacy Is to Be Tested Again Within United Nations

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan 18—The power and influence of American diplomacy is to be tested again. It was thwarted a week ago when a majority of the members of the United Nations, under the leadership of Great Britain, India and other British Commonwealths as well as the Arab states, put through a proposal to negotiate with Red China on the basis of a "cease fire" agreement.

The United States had supported the move only because representatives of the other countries said it was a last chance and that, unless this was done, there could not be a majority vote later for the American resolution branding Red China as an aggressor.

The story of the way the American government's diplomats were frustrated in the capitals of the world and how our delegation at the U.N. was compelled in a hurry to make a decision to support the "cease fire" proposal is now academic except that it illustrates how the U. N. functions and how vital it is for the United States Government to plan its decisions in advance so as not to be caught again with disunity and dissension about a policy of such transcendent importance, when a decision has to be made quickly.

The report that Arab states and India will want to haggle further with Red China is another example of how certain countries, professing to be interested in peace, are really trifling with the U.N. machinery and with their alleged friendship for the United States.

Gradually India, which has many friends in the United States, is being revealed to the American people through Prime Minister Nehru as either afraid of communism to the point of being willing abjectly to surrender to it or as jockeying for some international advantage in Asia not yet apparent.

The attitude of the Arab states, as well as of India, has been treated thus far with the greatest delicacy here but the United States cannot very well pledge itself to assist India or any Arab states to resist aggression in the future unless those countries now honor their moral obligations to the other members of the U.N.

The basis of all international agreements is reciprocity. India, with hundreds of millions of population, not only has failed to help the U.N. in Korea but, through her representative in the U.N., has actually assisted Red China and maneuvered in much the same way as a satellite state which does the bidding of Moscow.

The United States has been through an enlightening experience in the last few months. It has found out which countries are its friends in fair weather or foul. It has found India, however, undependable and shifty.

The rejection by Red China of the "cease fire" proposal would naturally be expected to lead to the passage by the U.N. of a resolution condemning aggression by the Peiping government. But the Indian prime minister promptly says publicly that he wants to continue to put up new forms of "cease fire" negotiations to the Red Chinese, thus utterly ignoring the plight of the forces which have made sacrifices in Korea and the original resolution of the U.N. which sent them there.

The willingness of Prime Minister Nehru apparently to abandon the Korean population to massacre at the hands of the Red Chinese is an amazing example of indifference to humane obligations. To accept peace at any price is not the concept on which the U.N. was founded. Nor was it established to condone or reward aggression.

For the U.N. now to brand Red China as an aggressor isn't too important in itself. Everything depends on what comes afterward. Will the members of the U.N. undertake to pledge their man power and their resources to deal with the aggressor? To argue that their man power might be needed elsewhere is to some extent a rationalized excuse. If communism isn't resisted in Asia, the chances of defeating it anywhere else are diminished.

The American government, prodded by congressional sentiment, will move toward more positive steps now. Economic sanctions and a naval blockade are to be demanded to supplement the pressure being exerted by our military forces in Korea. Likewise, the U.N. will be urged to remove all restrictions on our air forces so that the doctrine of "hot pursuit," long recognized in international law, may be applied. To fight an enemy airplane but not to be able to pursue the plane to its base on the territory of Red China is to betray the Americans and their allies who are fighting in Korea.

It's a time for realism—and American diplomacy, which should reflect the public opinion of this country, is in duty bound to make such points clear to the governments whose ambassadors are about to be given instructions how to vote at the U.N. assembly.

Sees Chance for Allies

Tokyo, Jan. 18 (AP)—A top Chinese Nationalist military authority said today the allies can break the back of Chinese Red armies in Korea if they slug it out on a tight defense perimeter. Ho Ying-ching, chairman of Nationalist China's Strategic Advisory Board, said withdrawal of United Nations troops from the war-torn peninsula would be a shattering blow to U.N. and United States prestige throughout the Orient.

Negotiations Urged

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Saying that World War 3 is not inevitable, the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. yesterday urged negotiations without appeasement "with governments both in and out of the United Nations." The council includes 29 Protestant and eastern orthodox denominations with a total of 31,000,000 communicants.

Volunteers Adopt Resolution About 3-Mile Fire Limit

The Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association last night adopted a resolution favoring the three-mile limit from a firehouse for fire protection, at a meeting in Port Ewen. The insurance limit now is two miles.

The firemen were guests of the town of Esopus fire companies: Port Ewen, Esopus, Connelly, St. Remy and Rifton, and 200 attended the session.

It was anounced that a full report will be given at the meeting Feb. 20 in the town of Ulster on the study of a fire patrol system for the association.

The meeting adjourned in respect to the late Charles G. A. Fischer, who had served as fire chief in Ellenville for 25 years.

Wilson Pledges Aid

The ODM chief said 5,000 local Chambers of Commerce and other groups are obtaining daily reports on military purchases and procurement plans, so that small concerns can solicit contracts and sub-contracts. Big companies, he said, are being encouraged to subcontract part of their major defense orders to smaller producers.

And he said Harrison is being instructed to see that the emergency agencies draft their curtailment orders in such a way that small businesses will not suffer unduly.

This action will result in uniform proceedure in each of the towns of the county.

Instead of the rolls being extended as they now are the work will be done by mechanical means in much less time and uniform bills will be sent out. The contract with I.B.M. followed an inspection of the plant on Tuesday when the proceedure was demonstrated to members of the board.

Assessment rolls and the amount of taxes to be collected will be supplied I.B.M. and by means of mechanical calculators, which one member described as working "faster than you can think," the rolls will be extended and bills made out. These bills fully prepared for mailing will be returned to Ulster county and mailed to each taxpayer.

First Year Cost $8,000

It was stated that the cost would be about $8,000 the first year because a master file must be prepared. This master file will cost 22 cents per parcel but will not be again prepared after the initial year. Changes of ownership will be noted on the master file after that at a cost of 6 cents per change. A charge of 12 cents per parcel to extend the roll will be made annually and the cost of paper for bills and other use will be borne by the county.

On the vote to award the contract for this tax work to I.B.M., Supervisor Gaffney said he believed it would be cheaper to rent the equipment and do the work here in the county, paying an operator for the work, and perhaps using the equipment for other work during the year. Supervisor Ralph Williams said he believed the machine could be used for other work during the year and perhaps it might be possible to get the city of Kingston to use the equipment for its tax bills and other work. Supervisor Gaffney expressed an opinion that action on the contract should be delayed until the next meeting so that further investigation could be made of the plan and it could be learned how much other departments could use the equipment. He said he understood the contract as presented called for an expenditure of 34 cents per parcel, a total cost of some $8,000, and it might be more economical to rent the machine and hire an operator and put the machine to other use during the year.

Says Method Cheaper

Supervisor Wilson said it appeared the method advocated in the contract, that of having I.B.M. do the work, was the cheaper way. He said it was not known how much other departments could use the equipment. The method advocated could be used the first year and further investigation could be made and if other departments could use the equipment, then perhaps after the first year the equipment could be rented by the county and the work done here.

Gaffney said he believed the investigation should be made now and action on the contract be tabled until the next meeting when additional facts would be available as to cost and use of the machine.

Resolution Offered

Supervisor Reginald Every of Shandaken offered a resolution designed to relieve the people in his town who have been cut off from the outside by reason of the destruction of the Herdman bridge during the recent floods. He said County Superintendent of Highways James F. Loughran and Deputy County Superintendent Roland Green had made a study and advocated abandonment of the bridge and construction of a new piece of highway from the Woodland Valley road to a point on the east of the Esopus creek near the Herdman bridge. This would take care of traffic adequately and would eliminate need for reconstruction of the Herdman bridge which has been damaged several times by flood waters. Supervisor Every said the new bridge would cost the county $100,000 while the new piece of road, for which easements have already been secured, would cost about $20,000.

The new road, about 1½ miles in length, he said should be built immediately since there were five families now cut off from the outside except for a foot bridge.

Every offered a resolution that the new road be constructed by the county, and that $20,000 be made available for the work.

Ralph Williams, minority leader, seconded the motion and said that he knew the situation, people were walking the rail tracks for two miles to get out.

The resolution appropriating $20,000 for the new road was unanimously approved. Every said later the location of the new road was over a flat plateau and gave the people of the cut off valley an ideal means of exit.

Thanks Expressed

A communication was received from employes of the county Highway Department thanking the board for a 10-cent-an hour increase in pay recently granted.

The Committee on Rights of Way reported it had spent a total of $10,494.97 in securing rights of ways during the past fourteen months.

A resolution was approved authorizing the county purchasing agent, rather than a committee from the board, to advertise for bids for erection of a balcony in the county clerk's office to accommodate files. Architect Betz has been requested to prepare plans and specifications for these much needed facilities.

The Ulster County Publicity Committee submitted its annual financial report. The committee spent $5,318.71.

A report of the county treasurer showed the balance on January first to be $429,811.42 in the county's funds.

The county auditor submitted his report. There was available the sum of $72,665.51 and there was spent in the fourteen months covered by the report $70,468.84, leaving a balance of $2,196.17.

The report of the Department of Civil Service was received and filed.

Children's Court Report

The report of the Children's Court work and Probation work in the county was received and filed and was a report from the county treasurer on the County Road Fund. Other reports were from the county clerk who reported he had taken in as fees for recording papers etc., the sum of $38,265.75; the Veterans Service Committee which showed there had been brought into the county a total of $226,293.84 through the Veterans Agency and the office had handled for veterans reinstatement and conversion of insurance in the amount of $3,241,000.

The county treasurer reported on dog license moneys taken in. The report showed $44,982.54 collected and there was distributed $25,183.90. Distributed to towns was $14,848.98 which represents 75 per cent of the surplus. The surrogate reported there had been taken in as fees at that office the sum of $1,506.75. The financial report of the Pistol Permit Bureau was received, showing an expenditure for salary during the fourteen months period of $700. Sheriff Smith reported he had handled $6,383 from fines and bail. The district attorney's office reported expenditures of $2,730.81 and that it had handled $100 in fines.

Other Reports

Other reports received and filed were from the Ulster County Health Department and the Ulster County Home Bureau.

The sum of $1,800 was transferred to the salary fund to pay the salary of three coroners for the year.

A resolution was offered and adopted authorizing a change in classification in the sheriff's office. The office of day jailer and identification officer was combined and the salary of the jailer was increased $500 to $3,340. Previously the two offices had commanded a salary of $2,840 each.

A resolution was approved increasing the salary of court officers at $5 per day and the chief court officer to $6 per day. This is an increase from $4.

York Is on Board

Henry York of Saugerties was named a member of the Board of Health for a six-year term to succeed Fabian L. Russell of Saugerties, who resigned at the conclusion of his present term. Russell had been a member of the board since it was first instituted. York is traffic manager at the Cantine Company in Saugerties and a village trustee.

The chairman of the board was authorized to appoint eight members of the board to the Legislative Committee. The board also authorized appointment of a grade crossing representative from the board, the allowances to be the same as for the members of the Rights of Way Committee. Supervisor Ralph Williams asked that the minority party be given representation. Chairman Denniston said he would give the request full consideration in naming his committees.

The board adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

Lewis, Soft Coal

Moses, chief negotiator for about one third of the industry—including the steel company mines, to learn whether Moses had obtained the approval of other top coal men of the north and midwest to the pay proposal.

The Mine Workers' chief called his 200-man policy committee into session here to be ready to act on any contract developments.

The Southern Coal Producers Association assembled its 30-man executive board in special session to await a report from Association President Joseph E. Moody, who has been meeting privately with Lewis.

The southern group usually is the toughest for Lewis to bargain with. The southern operators insist they have special problems which must be considered.

An agreement made between Moses and Lewis could not be ignored by the southerners and the scattered mine owners of the midwest and far west who are not in Moses' bituminous coal operators association.

Lewis' miners have been talking about cutting the work day from eight hours to seven and one-half without loss of pay. The basic hourly rate now is about $1.85 and the daily rate $14.75. The proposed $1.60 hike would make that $15.35, and the hourly rate $2.05 or higher, if the hours were reduced.

Such an increase would add about 27 cents to the cost of a ton of coal.

Seaweed Diet Forecast

Singapore (AP)—Food chemist George Clemons told Singapore Rotarians that man's present day primitive feeding habits would horrify his children's children. He said food chemists had already succeeded in producing synthetic foods and that the sea, with its vast amount of seaweed, would provide the ingredients for man's future food.

Supervisors' Association Enjoys Annual Social

More than 500 attended the 34th annual banquet of the Ulster County Supervisors' Association, Wednesday at Williams Lake, which, as usual, was devoted to strictly social functions. Speeches were tabu. The men enjoyed a fine roast beef dinner and spent the hours following renewing acquaintances. At the head table were l. to r., Roy Denniston of Gardiner, new chairman of the board of supervisors; John T. Groves, Ulster county treasurer; Fred Stang, county attorney; County Judge John M. Cashin, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk of Kingston; Harry Hulsair, president of the Supervisors Association and Thomas J. Plunket, chairman of the Democratic party in Ulster county. (Freeman Photo)

American Diplomacy Is to Be Tested Again Within United Nations

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan 18—The power and influence of American diplomacy is to be tested again. It was thwarted a week ago when a majority of the members of the United Nations, under the leadership of Great Britain, India and other British Commonwealths as well as the Arab states, put through a proposal to negotiate with Red China on the basis of a "cease fire" agreement.

The United States had supported the move only because representatives of the other countries said it was a last chance and that unless this was done, there could not be a majority vote later for the American resolution branding Red China as an aggressor.

The story of the way the American government's diplomats were frustrated in the capitals of the world and how our delegation at the U.N. was compelled in a hurry to make a decision to support the "cease fire" proposal is now academic except that it illustrates how the U. N. functions and how vital it is for the United States Government to plan its decisions in advance so as not to be caught again with disunity and dissension about a policy of such transcendent importance, when a decision has to be made quickly.

The report that Arab states and India will want to haggle further with Red China is another example of how certain countries, professing to be interested in peace, are really trifling with the U.N. machinery and with their alleged friendship for the United States.

Gradually India, which has many friends in the United States, is being revealed to the American people through Prime Minister Nehru as either afraid of communism to the point of being willing abjectly to surrender to it or as jockeying for some international advantage in Asia not yet apparent.

The attitude of the Arab states, as well as of India, has been treated thus far with the greatest delicacy here but the United States cannot very well pledge itself to assist India or any Arab states to resist aggression in the future unless those countries now honor their moral obligations to the other members of the U.N.

The basis of all international agreements is reciprocity. India, with hundreds of millions of population, not only has failed to help the U.N. in Korea but, through her representative in the U.N., has actually assisted Red China and maneuvered in much the same way as a satellite state which does the bidding of Moscow.

The United States has been through an enlightening experience in the last few months. It has found out which countries are its friends in fair weather or foul. It has found India, however, undependable and shifty.

The rejection by Red China of the "cease fire" proposal would naturally be expected to lead to the passage by the U.N. of a resolution condemning aggression by the Peiping government. But the Indian prime minister promptly says publicly that he wants to continue to put up new forms of "cease fire" negotiations to the Red Chinese, thus utterly ignoring the plight of the forces which have made sacrifices in Korea and the original resolution of the U.N. which sent them there.

The willingness of Prime Minister Nehru apparently to abandon the Korean population to massacre at the hands of the Red Chinese is an amazing example of indifference to humane obligations. To accept peace at any price is not the concept on which the U.N. was founded. Nor was it established to condone or reward aggression.

For the U.N. now to brand Red China as an aggressor isn't too important in itself. Everything depends on what comes afterward. Will the members of the U.N. undertake to pledge their man power and their resources to deal with the aggressor? To argue that their man power might be needed elsewhere is to some extent a rationalized excuse. If communism isn't resisted in Asia, the chances of defeating it anywhere else are diminished.

The American government, prodded by congressional sentiment, will move toward more positive steps now. Economic sanctions and a naval blockade are to be demanded to supplement the pressure being exerted by our military forces in Korea. Likewise, the U.N. will be urged to remove all restrictions on our air forces so that the doctrine of "hot pursuit," long recognized in international law, may be applied. To fight an enemy airplane but not to be able to pursue the plane to its base on the territory of Red China is to betray the Americans and their allies who are fighting in Korea.

It's a time for realism—and American diplomacy, which should reflect the public opinion of this country, is in duty bound to make such points clear to the governments whose ambassadors are about to be given instructions how to vote at the U.N. assembly.

Sees Chance for Allies

Tokyo, Jan. 18 (AP)—A top Chinese Nationalist military authority said today the allies can break the back of Chinese Red armies in Korea if they slug it out on a tight defense perimeter. Ho Ying-ching, chairman of Nationalist China's Strategic Advisory Board, said withdrawal of United Nations troops from the war-torn peninsula would be a shattering blow to U.N. and United States prestige throughout the Orient.

Negotiations Urged

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Saying that World War 3 is not inevitable, the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. yesterday urged negotiations without appeasement "with governments both in and out of the United Nations." The council includes 29 Protestant and eastern orthodox denominations with a total of 31,000,000 communicants.
